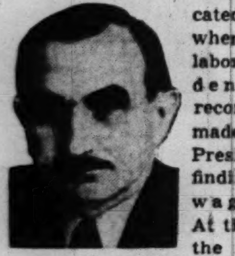
STUDY RAILWAY STRIKE CALL AT MEETING TODAY

Union Heads Assail Wage Findings.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.



Wayne L. Morse.

The possibility that a date will be set today for a strike of railroad workers was indicated last night when railroad labor executives denounced the recommendations made by the Presidential fact finding board for wage increases. At the same time the railroads announced they were disappointed with the board's findings.

Representatives of the various labor organizations party to the dispute, which involves about 1,200,000 workers, will meet in Chicago today to decide what action to take.

Submit Report to President.

The five man fact finding board, headed by Wayne L. Morse, early yesterday afternoon submitted to President Roosevelt in Washington its recommendations, reached after lengthy hearings in Chicago. The recommendations included:

1. Employés in the Big Five operating brotherhoods should get a wage increase of 7½ per cent.

2. Employés in the 14 nonoperating unions should get an increase of 9 cents an hour—equivalent to an average increase of 13½ per cent.

3. All wage increases should be effective as of Sept. 1, 1941, and they should be temporary. They should terminate Dec. 31, 1942, unless the parties extend the arrangement by agreement. The board further recommended that on or about Dec. 31, 1942, the railroad wage structure should be examined in light of conditions then prevailing.

Urge Week's Vacation.

4. Employés in the nonoperating unions should be granted a week's vacation with pay, starting in 1942. Vacations would apply to workers in the regular employ of the railroads in the year preceding the year in which a vacation is given.

5. Disputes between the railroads and their workers covering working conditions should be resubmitted for further consideration and determination under the procedure of the railway labor act.

6. Employés of the Railway Express Agency should receive a wage increase of 7½ cents an hour.

Basic Minimum Wage.

7. There should be a permanent basic minimum wage of 40 cents an hour for employés of the short lines [industrial, switching, interurban, and other short roads]. There also should be a basic minimum wage of 45 cents an hour for all other employés in the railroad industry, including increases for employés of the Railway Express Agency.

The board estimated that the cost to the railroads of the increases and the vacations would be $270,000,000 annually.

The operating unions had asked a 30 per cent wage increase. The 14 nonoperating unions sought an increase of 30 cents an hour, with a minimum of 70 cents an hour, and two weeks' vacations. The express employés wanted an increase of 30 cents an hour. The railroads estimate that the total annual cost of

ROOSEVELT AND SOVIET DICTATORSHIP

President Roosevelt in an address to the American Youth Congress in Washington on Feb. 10, 1940, said:

"The soviet union, as a matter of practical fact, known to you and known to all the world, is a dictatorship as absolute as any other dictatorship in the world. It has allied itself with another dictatorship and it has invaded a neighbor (Finland) so infinitesimally small that it could do no injury to the soviet union, and seeks only to live in peace as a democracy, and a liberal and forward looking democracy at that."

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

REPORT CITIZEN MAY PAY 2 YRS. LEVIES IN 1942

Increased Pay Roll Burden Is Seen.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau is pressing congressional leaders for early action on a big new tax bill, involving additional levies of between 4 and 6 billion dollars, it became known tonight.

The treasury proposal was presented by Morgenthau today to leaders of the house and senate tax committees for consideration, altho congress has expressed reluctance to consider any new taxes this year.

Many conflicting reports on provisions of the new treasury plan filtered thru Capitol hill, but the most reliable sources indicated that one proposal was that where income is in the form of wages or salaries the new plan would provide for deduction of income tax payments by employers in advance of payment of wages and salaries—i. e., employers would deduct the income taxes in instalments from pay checks just as the social security pay roll taxes are collected.

May Double Pay Roll Tax.

It also was reliably reported that the program would double the existing social security pay roll taxes, that is it would raise the contribution from 1 to 2 per cent from both employés and employers. This, it is estimated, would produce 900 million dollars additional revenue annually, to be used toward financing of a rearmament program of more than 60 billion dollars.

Capitol hill was shocked by the reported size of the new treasury demands and the fact that they were being pressed at this time. The ink has hardly dried on the latest revenue measure, effective Sept. 20, which boosted the tax burden of the American public by 3.5 billion dollars annually thru a dsastic upward revision of income tax rates and imposition of new or steeper nuisance taxes.

The treasury is apparently desperate for action in order to raise additional revenues. Last year's taxes totaled about 9.4 billion dollars. So with the recently approved 3.5 billions in new levies and the proposed program of between 4 and 6 billions —most sources say 4.8—the tax burden on Americans would be virtually doubled to a total of between 17 and 19 billion dollars a year.

Two Years in One.

In addition there were some reports that if the income tax at source method was adopted it would result in taxpayers having to pay the increased levies for two years in one. In other words while a taxpayer was paying his 1941 income in four instalments during 1942, he also would be paying his 1942 taxes as they were deducted each pay day from his wages.

Whether congress will consider the treasury request will be decided soon —perhaps tomorrow. After the chairmen of the congressional tax committees, Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.] and Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the house ways and means committee met with Morgenthau they called their committees into session. The house committee met late this afternoon with Assistant Secretary of the Treasury John L. Sullivan present.

A Forced Saving System.

Members of the ways and means committee said the new program was in the tentative stage and nothing was definite—congress must write its own tax legislation—but it was reported that deduction of income taxes from wages might be made to apply to all income from wages and salaries in the future, if the new law is enacted.

This would provide a forced savings system, on the English pattern, to curb spending and finance rearmament costs.

DRAFT CHANGES THREATENED BY MAN SHORTAGE

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 5 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of the draft, today said a shortage of man power may force the government either to lower the minimum draft age from 21 to 18 or end deferments to older men.

Hershey told Wharton school students at the University of Pennsylvania that he formerly opposed lowering the age minimum but was forced by circumstances to change his stand.

A Day's Record of the Raids on Loop Bookies

Yesterday was just one of those days on which the downtown race betting bookmakers could contemplate police activities and sum up by saying "Ho hum."

Here's what happened:

Capt. Martin McCormick, with his nine men designated as the gambling and morals division, went about as usual making raids [they do it every day]. They made six.

A 5th Floor Visit.

One of the places they visited was on the fifth floor at 27 South Wabash avenue. They entered at 2:30 p. m. They took two men into custody—William Gordon and Milton Graves—shooed away some patrons, closed the door, and went away. Gordon and Graves were charged with keeping a gambling house and were promptly released on bail furnished by professional bondsmen.

The other places visited by Capt. McCormick and his men were at 411 South Wabash avenue, 219 West Van Buren street, 108 North Dearborn street, 53 East Jackson boulevard, and 228 South Wells street. They bagged a total of eight keepers of gambling resorts.

Capt. Duffy's Expedition.

Later in the afternoon Capt. Thomas J. Duffy of the Central police district gathered a crew of three men. He also went a-raiding. At 732 South Wabash avenue, 632 South Wabash, and 63 West Randolph street he made arrests. At 32 North State street he and his men arrested seven keepers and confiscated $250 and some wall sheets.

Then he and his squad visited the fifth floor at 27 South Wabash avenue, raided two hours before by Capt. McCormick. There Capt. Duffy found 50 patrons and not two but six keepers, all behind the cages that had been supposedly closed up by the morals squad. Among the six were William Gordon and Milton Graves, who then slid thru the central station again on ways greased again by the professional bondsmen.

'No Phone;' It Rings.

In the resort Capt. Duffy asked for a telephone and was informed there was none. An obliging keeper said, "We work by radio." Hardly had a policeman been sent out to phone for a wagon when two phones in a side room began ringing. The captain went to one and notified the telephone company to discontinue service.

Capt. McCormick explained last night that he had only nine men and couldn't detail any of them to see that a raided place remained closed. Asked why his raid on the Wabash avenue address followed so closely on the heels of Capt. McCormick's, Capt. Duffy said he made that and the other raids because his "blood pressure had gone up" at the thought of gambling houses shutting and opening with the alacrity of a revolving door.

The grand jury will hear evidence today concerning the rule of the Guzik-Nitti syndicate of gangsters over gambling in the county areas. Six ledger sheets printed in THE TRIBUNE recently furnished the basis for the investigation, which is being pushed by State's Attorney Courtney and his first assistant, Wilbert F. Crowley.

COLONEL ISSUES BAN ON GOING TO CHURCHES OPPOSING WAR POLICY

Denver, Colo., Nov. 5 (AP).—Col. Early E. W. Duncan, Lowry Field commandant, asserted tonight that opposition to the nation's military policy, whether expressed by individuals, pastors or organizations, bordered on treason, and warned that he would prohibit soldiers under his command from attending churches where such opposition was preached.

Col. Duncan yesterday listed the Denver headquarters of the America First committee as out of bounds for air corps technical school soldiers based at Lowry Field and Fort Logan.

"If I am convinced that any pastor continues to preach against true Americanism by opposing the definite policy of the President, I will place his church out of bounds," Col. Duncan said.

HOPKINS RUSHED FROM TRAIN TO NAVY HOSPITAL

Washington, Nov. 5 [Special].—Harry L. Hopkins, President Roosevelt's confidant and constant companion, was taken to Naval hospital today from the President's special train and is there tonight.

On arrival of the train from Hyde Park, N. Y., this morning, a White House car was driven into the Union station and up to the President's private car. Hopkins, accompanied by one of the President's medical attendants, was taken immediately to the hospital.

Attendants answered with "no comment" all questions as to his condition. In circles close to the White House it was learned Hopkins felt ill when he boarded the Presidential special near Hyde Park last night. It was said, however, that his condition was not critical.

Footprint Near Dead Girl Clew to Rape-Slayer

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 5 [Special].—A man whose shoes will fit the specimen of footprints found by police was widely sought tonight as the rapist-slayer of a young Saginaw girl whose battered body was discovered in a "lovers' lane" woods near here this morning.

The victim was Miss Wandamay Wheatley, 20 years old, a retiring, small town girl who came here three weeks ago to work as a telegraph operator. She had been living alone in a rooming house since leaving her home at the nearby village of Hemlock.

Find Footprints Near Body.

Police made plaster casts of a man's footprints found near the body, which lay in a thicket five miles southeast of here, about three miles off the Dixie highway. Deep heelprints indicated, police theorized, that the slayer walked backwards dragging the girl into the woods about 190 feet away from a country road.

Belief that the slayer might have been a masher who was rebuffed by Wandamay was expressed by police when they learned that on several occasions recently a man had tried to pick her up in his car as she left work at 11 p. m., the last time on Sunday night, the night before she disappeared.

Investigation of the slaying disclosed a virtual wave of attempted similar pickups of other Saginaw girls recently which police said would bring a campaign against local "flirts."

Autopsy Shows Skull Fracture.

Disclosure that Wandamay had been raped and her skull fractured was made late today thru an autopsy. A bloodstained birch club 18 inches long and an inch and a half in diameter, was found near the body. Her clothes were in disarray when a pheasant hunter came upon the body. Part of her garter lay in the road.

Marks and bloodstains on the road, police said, indicated the girl had struggled against her assailant before being carried or dragged to where her body lay. They said the position of her body, lying naturally rather than crumpled, and marks on a nearby birch tree as tho she had slid down beside it, indicated she was alive when she was dragged into the woods after the attack.

342 Rescued as Mine Sinks Japanese Ship

TOKIO, Nov. 6 [Thursday] (AP).—A floating mine sank the Japanese steamer Kidi Maru last night off the Corean coast, but rescue ships which speeded to the scene saved all 342 passengers who were aboard, Domei said today. Some members of the crew of 65 still were missing, Domei said this afternoon.

The 4,522 ton vessel sank within 30 minutes after striking the mine.

The ship was bound eastward across the Sea of Japan from Seishin, Corea, to Tsuruga, on the west coast of the main Japanese island, the announcement said.

[The Japanese have charged that Russian floating mines near Vladivostok, in the Sea of Japan north of the area where the Kibi Maru was reported struck, have endangered Japanese shipping.]

17 Americans, Britain Bound, on Sunken Ship

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—Seventeen American civilians from all sections of the country, along with two Canadians, were listed tonight as the latest casualties in the war on the Atlantic.

The men had enlisted in the British civilian technical corps for various kinds of noncombatant service in England. The ship taking them to the other side "is presumed to have been sunk," the British announced here, "and there is no knowledge yet of any survivors."

Then, as the navy department did in disclosing the loss of 11 men aboard the torpedoed destroyer Kearny and 97 from the sunken destroyer Reuben James, the British added that "telegrams have been sent to the next of kin."

Ship's Name Withheld.

The announcement, issued by the British press service on behalf of the royal air force delegation in Washington, did not identify the ship or the port from which she sailed or give any further details.

The missing civilians were presumably skilled radio and automobile mechanics, electrical wiremen, instrument repairers, metal workers, and other members of technical trades whom the British have been recruiting in this country.

The civilian technical corps has been seeking several thousand men between the ages of 18 and 50 for employment in England.

The British Announcement.

The text of the British announcement on the casualties was as follows:

"The British press service has been requested by the RAF delegation in Washington to announce the following members of the civilian technical corps are missing from a ship in which they were taking passage to the United Kingdom. The ship is presumed to have been sunk but the date is uncertain and there is no knowledge yet of any survivors. Telegrams have been sent to the next of kin, expressing the deep sympathy of the British air council."

3 CHICAGOLAND MEN LOST.

Three Chicagoland men presumed to have been lost at sea in the sinking of a British ship en route to England were contract technicians employed by the RAF. Last letters received by their families indicate they still were in Montreal, Canada, four weeks ago.

Robert E. Folk, 22 years old, whose mother, Mrs. M. Lazarus, lives in Polo, Ogle county, Illinois, attended Illinois Wesleyan university and became a radio technician thru study in a Chicago electrical school. He had signed a three year contract with the RAF. Folk's brother, Richard, lives in Yorkville, Ill., and another brother, Theodore, is an enlisted man in the United States army air corps at Mitchell field, N. Y.

Andros E. Templeton, also 22, was a son of J. C. Templeton, who lives near Beecher City, in Effingham county. He, too, was a radio technician. Templeton's last letter to his father was mailed in Montreal Sept. 16. Two weeks later the father was notified his son would be stationed in Bournemouth, England.

James F. Countryman, 36, a former Elkhart, Ind., garage manager, left for Montreal Sept. 12 after qualifying as a mechanical technician with the RAF. His parents are dead. From 1930 to 1936 Countryman was a dispatcher for the New York Central railroad in Englewood.

[A list of 14 others missing is on page 6.]

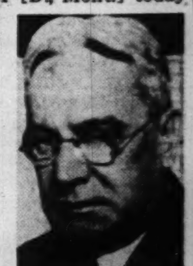
Charges War Moves Unconstitutional.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Sen. Hiram Johnson.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] today charged that the Roosevelt administration has begun planning an expeditionary force of 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 men to be sent to fight in the European war by 1943.

"It is no secret that planning has begun for an AEF," the noninterventionist leader told the senate in his first major speech against the pending bill to emasculate the neutrality act and authorize an undeclared air and naval war against Germany and Italy.

The Roosevelt administration has "Tammanyized and terrorized" the country until the people are afraid to speak out against war, Wheeler said. He compared the "reign of terror" with conditions he found on visits to Italy in 1923, when Mussolini had just come into power; to Russia in 1923 and 1930, under the communist dictatorship, and to Germany in 1933, the first year of the Hitler despotism.

Hiram Johnson Speaks Up.

Earlier, the two senators from California, Hiram Johnson, Republican, and Sheridan Downey, a "ham and eggs" Democrat, provided a dramatic interlude concerning the war sentiment in their state. Downey remarked briefly that he had made a personal survey of opinion in California and found overwhelming support in all groups, including farmers and laboring men, for the pending repeal legislation. His finding was corroborated, he said, by the Gallup poll.

Sen. Johnson, who is 75 years old, had not intended to speak on the bill because of his age and impaired strength. But the implication that the people of his state favor war was too much for the redoubtable veteran who helped defeat Woodrow Wilson's league of nations scheme in 1919 and who was reëlected without major party opposition on an anti-war platform only a year ago.

Tells of Letters Opposing War.

Shaking a reproving fist in Downey's direction, Sen. Johnson said he did not care what the Gallup poll or any other poll might show respecting the wishes of his constituents.

"Take it from me, Mr. President, I am in touch with the state of California," he exclaimed. "I receive 300 or more letters daily upon this subject. The great majority of mothers and fathers who write me pray that I will do what little I can to prevent this country going to war. I will not therefore sit quietly by and listen to the statement that these polls represent the certain sentiment of the state of California. They do not represent it at all.

"Poll the people of the state of California—poll all of them; poll them fairly in a manner that you can depend upon, as to whether they want to be taken into this war—and you will find that the state of California is almost unanimous against war.

Warns of Casualty Lists.

"Take your people into war if you wish; but remember, when the casualty lists come rolling into this country, when we have the lists of those whose legs have been blown off and whose bodies are impaired by war—remember that California, no less than any other state in the Union, does not wish war at this time."

Sen. Wheeler, speaking extemporaneously before beginning his prepared address, said the administration had corrupted labor leaders, farm organizations, and business men.

"They have Tammanyized the whole of the United States by favors out of the federal treasury," he said. "People come to me, veterans come to me, saying, 'I am opposed to this thing, but I do not dare to speak up.' Business men from one end of the country to the other come to me and say, 'I am opposed to this thing, but I do not dare to stand up and speak against it. I have a contract from the government of the United States,' or, 'I expect to get a contract from the United States government.' People on WPA sneak around and come to me and say, 'Senator, I am with you, but I do not dare to do anything; I am on WPA.'"

Recalling similar statements made to him by people in Germany, Italy, and Russia, Wheeler continued:

"Never would I have believed that the American people, here in the United States, would be afraid to stand up for fear of their government, for fear of a Gestapo, for fear they would lose contracts or their jobs. I say to members of this senate, what are we coming to if American citizens are afraid to speak up? Where is our constitutional government? Where is our independence?"

Sen. Wheeler replied to jeers of the war makers about the noninterventionists having been wrong and President Roosevelt having been right in all their prophecies in the realm of foreign affairs. He did this by quoting the amazingly prophetic words of the late Sen. William E. Borah of Idaho, whom President Roosevelt and his followers are wont to malign as a false prophet because he predicted in the summer of 1939 that there would be no war in Europe if the United States would let Europe alone.

Quotes Borah Prophecies.

Referring to Sen. Borah's speech in 1939 against the so-called "cash and carry" neutrality bill, which repealed the arms embargo, Sen. Wheeler said:

"Did Sen. Borah foresee the lease-lend bill? Listen to what the senator said over two years ago:

"'If it is intended in good faith to furnish arms, munitions, and implements of war to these belligerents in order that democracy may survive, we shall have to furnish these arms, munitions, and implements of war on credit, and finally we shall have to give them to the belligerents. The government of the United States will have to take care of these bills, and the taxpayers, as in the World war, ultimately will pay for these arms. We cannot stand up before the world and say, "We will help to save democracy, we will help to save civilization," and in the next breath say, "We will do so only provided you pay cash."'

Foreshadowed Churchill's Plea.

"Certainly Sen. Borah clairvoyantly heard Churchill's 'Give us the tools,' and its next version, 'Put the tools within our reach and we will finish the job,' but did he likewise hear the statements which came from Generals Wavell and Auchinleck—to the effect that Britain would need American troops to win their war? Again let me read from Sen. Borah's speech against the arms embargo repeal:

"'Hearing and heeding the Macedonian cry for arms, will we, if a more critical hour should occur, turn a deaf ear to the Macedonian cry for armies? When the belligerents tell us that these democracies, this civilization, which we furnish arms to help preserve, are now on the verge of destruction, that arms and munitions are not sufficient to save the situation, will we deny them the use of man power? Having acknowledged and declared the basis of the war, what will "cash and carry" amount to? When we are told, as we already have been told by military men of distinction, that munitions will not do the job, that they must have men, what will we say?'"

Ships in Zones Mean War.

"Most senators frankly admit that American ships in war zones with British convoys, or carrying contraband to belligerents, take us dangerously close if not into actual war," Senator Wheeler continued. "And war is something we all dread. I always have believed and I repeatedly have said that any nation dependent upon another nation for its defense is not truly an independent nation.

"I consistently have opposed the administration's foreign policy upon the ground that it was taking us closer and closer to war. Today we stand at the brink of it. I opposed the lease-lend bill, but today it is the law of the land. It is our national policy. I believe—to be consistent with the policy of the lease-lend bill—that it still could be possible to avoid actual warfare by transferring to Great Britain as many American ships as she needs or wants.

Violation of Constitution.

"The declaration of war is an exclusive power of congress. For the President of the United States to take this nation into a shooting war without a congressional declaration violates both the letter and spirit of the constitution.

"If the President is determined to lead the war makers, if the President is resolved to take the American people into a foreign war—if the President insists upon writing the epitaph of American democracy by plunging this nation into a disastrous war, in the aftermath of which a native American fascism will certainly arise—then, I say—let it be done in the honest way—let it be done in the constitutional way—let the people of the United States, thru their duly elected representatives in congress, declare war. Let us march to battle in the American and democratic way—and not in the manner of the Hitlers, the Mussolinis, and the Stalins."

Debt to Boys, Says Caraway.

Senator Hattie Caraway [D., Ark.] urged repeal of the neutrality act as being in the "best interests" of American youth, including her "two sons wearing the uniform of their country."

"When the neutrality act was passed a proud nation abjectly surrendered its rights to the freedom of the seas," she said. "It was in defense of this right that we entered the first World war. For that right, American boys gave their lives. We were not true to their memory when we gave up that right for which they fought."

KNOX IN CHARGE, BUT MORGENTHAU CAN KEEP PLANE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 [Special].—There is an unwritten agreement, it appears, among Roosevelt cabinet members to respect each other's special privileges of office.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, for example, indicated today that he wouldn't think of taking away from Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau the $85,000 coast guard plane placed at his disposal for personal and official use—being used frequently for week-ending to his New York estate.

Knox took over the coast guard the other day under Presidential order and said today he would allow Morgenthau to retain the plane.

After all, it was recalled, the navy has turned over the former Presidential yacht Sequoia to Knox for his personal use, and there's always the chance that another Presidential order will give the navy to Morgenthau.

JURY REFUSES TO HELP ICKES GET HIS $2 BACK

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—A grand jury has refused to indict two brothers who, Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes complained, sold him a phony coat of arms.

Ickes said he received a postcard offering to send him information on his family tree for $2, and that he sent the money. He said he was surprised to receive a coat of arms, because diligent research by his relatives had failed to reveal that the Ickes family was entitled to one.

The postoffice department accused Benjamin and Samuel Adelman, operators of the American Research bureau and the National Research society, Washington, D. C., with using the mails to defraud but the grand jury declined to act.

Ex-Gov. Burnett Maybank Takes Seat in U. S. Senate

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—Burnett R. Maybank, 42 year old Charleston cotton merchant and former governor of South Carolina, was sworn in today as a senator from his state. Maybank, who resigned yesterday as governor, was elected last September to complete the unexpired term of James F. Byrnes, who quit the senate to become an associate justice of the Supreme court. The term will expire in 1943.

MRS. ROOSEVELT RUNS HER OCD STRICTLY C. O. D.

Everybody to Go All-Out —at Own Expense.

[For a second time The Tribune has sent a reporter to Washington to view the scene thru midwestern eyes. This is the fifth in a series of articles by Mr. Morgenstern.]

BY GEORGE MORGENSTERN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—"One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, redlight! Here I come, ready or not."

This, according to Washington wits, is the rallying cry with which Mayor Fiorello La Guardia and Mrs. Anna Eleanor Roosevelt will lead the Office of Civilian Defense into battle against Hitler.

Everybody is to go all-out, the Washingtonians say, as soon as La Guardia and Mrs. Roosevelt fill out the necessary OCD forms—a task which may hold up hostilities quite some time.

The mayor of New York is director of the OCD and Mrs. Roosevelt his assistant. In taking the post, she became the first wife of a President ever to hold a government job.

It's C. O. D. with the OCD.

The OCD has worked out a program which suggests Robert Louis Stevenson's cheery observation that "The world is so full of a number of things, I am sure we should all be as happy as kings." The thought, of course, will be tempered by all those bombs which the leaders of the OCD see raining down on the defenseless burocrats of Washington.

By fragmentary count, there are no less than 240 different things that those who join up with the OCD can do. Arm bands and emblems [of which there are 16 so far for the various categories of volunteers] will be furnished free by the OCD, but all volunteers who are financially able are expected to buy their own uniforms. C.O.D. is the OCD principle.

Among the many things which an OCD volunteer may do are conduct essay contests, list restaurants, and lodgings with prices, assist with mothers' clubs, teach cooking to the families of hospital patients, stimulate interest in and help organize community gardens and canning projects, assist in preparation and service of school lunch, help to plan menus in terms of supplies available [which is interpreted as only good sense], give book talks, tell stories, arrange birthday and Christmas parties, give legal advice ["lawyers only qualify," the OCD manual says reasonably], arrange trips to museums, and assist probation officers and act as "big brother" to parolees.

Or They Can Watch Fires.

Persons of grimmer bent may be air wardens, fire watchers, members of rescue, decontamination, and demolition squads, auxiliary police or firemen, or members of bomb crews.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who already is a wife and mother, a lecturer in wide demand, the author of a daily newspaper column, the source of a weekly radio broadcast, and a member of other committees too numerous to mention, recently exclaimed that "October is already so filled with obligations and December is filling up so rapidly" that it was vexatious trying to find a spare page in her date book.

Mrs. Roosevelt, however, recently found time to make the constructive suggestion that "if more people grow and can for their own use the foods we need at home, then these same foods which are grown commercially, and which have a high nutritive value, can be shipped to those countries which cannot produce or buy them."

Several of Washington's numerous women columnists immediately began asking themselves out loud if this meant that Mrs. R. intended to spade up the White House lawn and turn it to corn. So far there has been no answer.

Meanwhile, many curious manifestations of preparedness or a reasonable facsimile thereof have sprouted in Washington and contiguous territory.

The OCD, for instance, has called for a nation-wide force of half a million Paul Reveres to spot enemy planes, if any, and to pacify persons who might get worried if they did materialize. The District of Columbia has patriotically responded with a call for several hundred volunteers as its part in the program, but calls them V-men instead of Paul Reveres.

Siren Is Kept Silent.

La Guardia has asked the house military affairs committee to buy 50 million gas masks and is already planning to spend $26,548,000 on initial "educational" orders for 5 million masks. Other contemplated OCD expenditures for auxiliary fire fighting equipment, medical supplies, gas proof clothing, suits for fire fighters, and arm belts and helmets for air raid wardens amount to almost 70 million dollars. The arm belts and helmets tote up to the respectable figure of $1,090,000.

To point up the emergency, Washington has just been thru an imaginary air raid, in which Bessie, the only siren in the city, was not sounded, the theory being that a sudden blast would unduly alarm Washington's already fidgety motorists and cause more widespread catastrophe than a real air raid.

In some quarters the OCD has managed to make a sale on its war fever. Maryland had issued a call for 15,000 pints of blood for use in "civilian defense disasters." The Washington school system has adopted a new salute to the flag, the old one being considered too much like the Nazi salute. Committees are springing up right and left.

One of the most curious of these is the Washington Committee for American Irish Defense. Its releases are issued on green stationery bearing a shamrock crest. A statement issued by this group calls for a modified Union Now between the United States and Ireland so that they may defend one another. The officers are Rossa F. Downing, chairman, a relative of the famous Irish irredentist, O'Donovan Rossa, and Henry Grattan Doyle, dean of George Washington university, vice chairman. Twenty years ago Downing was agitating around Capitol Hill for Irish independence.

Preachers Taking Up War.

Even the preachers are taking war as a text and announcing such topics for sermons as "Armageddon: The Final War that Will Bring the End of Time. Who Will Win?" Another pulpit text is "Four Mysterious Horses Riding Thru the World."

In other quarters, however, the activities of Mrs. Roosevelt and the mayor of New York are viewed with sourness, if not suspicion. So ubiquitous have they become that an organization dedicated to counter-defense against civilian defense has sprung up across the river in Fairfax county, Virginia. This is known as the Order of the White Wands, and its leader, Alexander Galt Jr., a retired major who spent 19½ years in the marines, states that he has 200 followers—"all of good character, no drunks or communists."

The symbol and armament of the White Wands is a pickax handle. All members are equipped with these "wands" and their assignment is to direct traffic and use the wands persuasively to "steer" the crowds along when the "hundred thousand refugees" Maj. Galt expects to pour out of Washington in the event either of German bombings or race riots approach Fairfax. The major has no intention of encouraging the crowd to clutter up his native county in chivalrous old Virginia.

Communists a Worry, Too.

"We want none of these people stopping here, stealing and panhandling," he states. "We just want 'em to keep moving, that's all."

Another thing on the major's mind is communists. There are 300 of them, he says, in Fairfax county.

"Communists," he asserts, "talk fast and know all the answers. But one thing they can't answer is a hard stick—swung quickly."

Breaches of White Wand discipline are punishable by dismissal, and Maj. Galt states: "It will be unpleasant to be known as a man kicked out of this outfit, and it will be more unpleasant a year from now."

La Guardia and Mrs. Roosevelt have yet to commend the purposes of the White Wands. In fact, the Virginia Defense council is investigating on the theory that the major's private army is a quasi-Ku Klux outfit.

BABY FATALLY HURT WHEN LEFT ALONE WITH SMALL SISTER

Angeline Stallas, 7 months old, died last night of injuries received when she and a sister, Eugenie, 18 months old, were left alone for a short time in the rear seat of their father's automobile. An inquest will be conducted today to determine the cause of death.

Gust Stallas and his wife, Viola, 5436 Berteau avenue, drove to their fruit store at 5558 Diversey avenue shortly before 10 o'clock on an errand. Both parents went into the store for a few minutes. When they returned to the automobile they found the younger child unconscious.

Starting for a hospital, they saw a light in a fire station at 4911 Belmont avenue and stopped there for aid. An inhalator squad was called and worked over the child 45 minutes before a physician could be found. He pronounced the child dead.

2 YEAR OLD SURVIVES NIGHT IN WOODS, BUT THE SHERIFF CAN'T!

Harrison, Ark., Nov. 5 (AP).—Two year old Susan Kay Colpin spent last night alone in a dense woodland near here, but apparently suffered less injury than the husky sheriff who led the hunt for her.

The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Montie Colpin, living in the hill country, wandered away yesterday afternoon. By dusk 150 persons were hunting her and continued thru a night of dropping temperatures and steady rain.

Susan Kay was found about 9 a. m., less than a mile from home. She was suffering from exposure. Sheriff J. R. Richardson was brought to the same hospital. He had stepped into a hole and broken his leg.

MRS. ROOSEVELT HINTS 'CONSUMER PLEDGE' IS ON WAY

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt aroused conjecture in a Town Hall audience today when she said that "many of you soon will be asked to sign a consumer pledge."

She did not elaborate on her statement other than to say that the nation's housewives should learn to buy thriftily and cut down on waste. Her theme was "The America We Want."

LIQUOR COLLECTOR ROBBED.

When Michael J. McArdle, 6351 South California avenue, a collector for a wholesale liquor firm, walked out of a tavern at 5958 Wentworth avenue last night, two men forced him into their car and drove to 94th and La Salle streets, where they took $450 of his employer's cash and a $20 check and put McArdle out of the car.

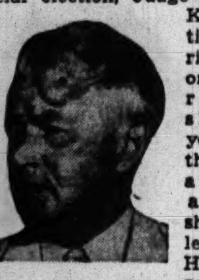
SUPERIOR COURT CHIEF QUITS THE BAR ASSOCIATION

M. L. McKinley Objects to Election Report.

As an aftermath to Tuesday's judicial election, Judge Michael L. McKinley, chief justice of the Superior court and one of the victorious coalition slate, resigned yesterday from the Chicago Bar association. He addressed a sharply worded letter to Lloyd D. Heth, association president, charging that 17 members of the bar association sought to "foreclose the judgment of 4,100 lawyers" in their recommendation on the fitness of judicial candidates.



Judge M. L. McKinley.

Judge McKinley cited, as an example of his objection to bar association activity, the case of an attorney who appeared in court unprepared. Twice during the hearing, the judge said, the attorney excused his lack of preparation on the ground that he was on the bar association committee on candidates and had been busy studying the fitness of judicial aspirants.

Tells the Judge Twice.

"After he made the excuse a second time," said Judge McKinley, "I asked the opposing attorney, 'Did you hear that?' He said, 'Yes, he has told you twice that he is selecting candidates for the judgeship.'"

Heth said last night that he was shocked and disappointed to receive the letter of resignation. He added that he did not understand the resignation and refused comment until he had talked with Judge McKinley.

It was disclosed yesterday that judges of the Superior and Circuit courts are to meet at 3 p. m. tomorrow to consider a proposal from Heth that he be allowed to address them on relations of the bench and bar association. Judge McKinley and Judge John Prystalski, chief justice of the Circuit court, called the meeting.

Recalls Mass Withdrawal.

The resignation of Judge McKinley recalled that in 1936 41 of 47 judges of the Circuit and Superior courts quit the bar association. The action was taken after four judges had been ordered to appear before the bar association board of managers to answer charges of judicial misconduct because of political activity in a primary campaign. All, however, were reinstated before the next election.

In his letter of resignation Judge McKinley pointed out that only one-third of the county's attorneys are association members.

"Recommendations prepared by the [association] committee on the qualification of candidates for the judiciary or judges seeking reëlection are approved, amended, or rejected by the board of managers of the bar association before release to the public," the judge wrote.

Calls Charges "Silly."

Charles M. Thomson, chairman of the bar association committee on candidates, dismissed the charges in Judge McKinley's resignation as "silly." He said that no one on the committee or board of managers gave the slightest thought to whether candidates were Republicans or Democrats.

"I think that if a member of the bench wanted to do the utmost to harm himself he would give the appearance of trying to cultivate the board of managers or the committee members," said Thomson. "That would be the surest sign that he was not what he should be—it's just silly.

"Also, that's poppycock about a 'tendency toward political objectives'—just the essence of nonsense. A judge who is the kind of judge he should be, should be the first to realize it."

Judge McKinley was one of the sitting judges approved by the bar association. Six others, all winners, were opposed in the lawyers' report.

Collapses on Set

CAROLE LANDIS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 5 [Special].—While engaged in making scenes with Cesar Romero for a motion picture, Carole Landis, film actress, collapsed on a set at the 20th Century-Fox studio today and was removed to her home suffering from influenza. A studio physician was summoned when Miss Landis slumped in Romero's arms as they were working together and it was found that she had a temperature of 102. Miss Landis probably will be unable to work for another week.

BONDS DEFEATED, SAN FRANCISCO IN POWER DILEMMA

Way to Dispose of Plant Output Is Sought.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 5 (AP).—Having declined for the eighth time to put itself in the retail power business, San Francisco today began looking for some method by which it might sell the output of the Hetch Hetchy municipal power plant to a private utility.

By United States Supreme court interpretation, the Raker act, under which the city operates the Hetch Hetchy plant on government property in Yosemite National park, specifically forbids this practice.

Two Methods Studied.

First attention, therefore, was turned to the possibility of amending the Raker act. As an alternative or interim measure, officials considered obtaining a further postponement of the effective date, now set for next June 30, of the court mandate prohibiting sale of Hetch Hetchy power to the Pacific Gas and Electric company, which owns the city's power distribution system.

Rep. Thomas Rolph [R., Cal.] instituted action in congress to achieve both objectives.

Defeat for Ickes.

Voted down, 112,857 to 66,120, in yesterday's general municipal election was a charter amendment which would have authorized issuance of $66,500,000 in revenue bonds for purchase by the city of the power company's distribution lines. The vote went counter to the wishes of Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, who spent the week preceding election day in the San Francisco area lending his support to the revenue bond proposal.

San Francisco has been selling Hetch Hetchy power to the utility company under an "agency contract" for 17 years. The Supreme court ruled last April 22 that the Raker act permitted such sale only to municipalities or public irrigation districts.

Cincinnati Defeats Purchase.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 5 (AP).—Cincinnati voters prefer by a 3 to 1 margin to remain customers of the Cincinnati Gas and Electric company instead of putting their city in the utility business at a cost of $100,000,000.

Tabulation of yesterday's vote in all but six of the city's 526 precincts showed 34,310 favoring the municipal ownership proposal of Councilman Herbert S. Bigelow and 103,203 against it.

The proposed amendment called for a $100,000,000 bond issue to purchase electric properties of the Cincinnati Gas and Electric company, or—if purchase was impossible—to construct a municipal plant.

In 1933 a similar proposal was defeated, 2 to 1.

Blind Man Elected

George J. Harter listens as wife reads telegrams of congratulations on his election as mayor of Akron.

Akron, O., Nov. 5 [Special].—George J. Harter, 58 years old, a state legislator who entered politics after becoming blind 10 years ago, is to be Akron's next mayor. Harter, a Democrat, defeated Lee D. Schroy, three term Republican, upsetting most experts' predictions. Electors gave Harter 34,185 votes to Schroy's 28,702 in Tuesday's election. The mayor elect is a former newspaper man.

MILK FIGURES: PRODUCTION UP, DRINKING DOWN

Since the retail price of milk was raised 1½ cents in September, consumption of milk in Chicago has decreased altho milk production in the Chicago area has increased, Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], chairman of a special price committee, told the city council yesterday.

Lindell said consumption in Chicago in September was 64,687,912 pounds, compared to 66,525,516 in August and 66,272,416 in September last year. He said during the last 12 months milk production here has increased at the rate of 15,000,000 pounds a month.

The council deferred action on a request by Lindell that his committee be authorized to determine directly, or with the coöperation of the department of agriculture, a foundation for the computing of farm costs of milk production.

London Daily Honors U. S. Tars Lost on Reuben James

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6 [Thursday].—The Daily Express this morning gives greater prominence to the Reuben James casualty list than to that of British sailors killed in ship sinkings. With a black bordered double column display extending almost half way down the center of page 3, the Express "honors" the victims of the Reuben James and "their brothers of the United States merchant fleets who share with our men the perils of the Atlantic."

COALITION BENCH TICKET WINS BY MARGIN OF 225,000

The sitting judges' ticket, running as Democrats, won the victory in Tuesday's election by a margin in excess of 225,000.

Unofficial figures for all Chicago precincts were completed yesterday. Only 16 of the 765 precincts in the suburbs were missing. At that point the average vote of the Superior court nominees under the Democratic label—14 Democrats and 7 Republicns—was 513,234. The average of the 14 candidates on the Republican ticket was 284,230. The difference between the two was 229,004.

In the 1939 election of 20 Circuit court judges, in which there was a similar situation, the nominees on the Democratic ticket averaged 500,025 votes. The Republican nominees averaged 228,110. Thus the margin of victory was 271,915. This shows there was an increase for each party this year, with the Republican increase the larger.

Final county figures on the total vote were not ready but in Chicago the number of voters who went to the polls was 759,036 or 46.33 per cent of the registration. In 1939 the total was 694,835 or 42.12 per cent. The heavy voting on Tuesday was in the west side Democratic wards, eight of them casting more than 70 per cent of their registration.

Also Assert Nazis Retreat in Donetz Basin.

MOSCOW, Nov. 5 (AP).—The German drive on Moscow has been stopped dead everywhere and in at least one area of the Donetz basin the Nazis are in retreat, "leaving behind them heaps of dead and many guns," the Russians announced tonight in a broadcast.

The Germans are burying their huge tanks for use as pillboxes against a big Red counterdrive. Trenches also are being dug for Nazi infantrymen.

This development followed a big two day Russian land and air attack which it was said destroyed 176 Nazi tanks, 25 field guns, a long supply convoy of 350 ammunition and infantry trucks, and 30 tank trucks.

"Not Fighting with Same Ardor."

At Tula, 100 miles south of Moscow, the Russians said the fighting was continuing, too—"but the invader is not fighting with the same ardor as when he began the offensive."

The official radio announcement summed up the military situation thus:

Three days ago a big Red counteroffensive began on the right flank, presumably in the Kalinin area 95 miles northwest of Moscow, after stopping a German drive which left hundreds of Nazi dead on the field.

The Red tank forces then destroyed 15 Nazi tanks and cut thru the German ranks to mow down 300 more Nazis in one engagement and 600 in another.

In the Maloyaroslavets sector, 65 miles southwest of Moscow where the German drive has been halted for a month, the Russians claimed to have "severely mauled" a number of German divisions.

Nazis Go On Defensive.

Sixty-seven German tanks were smashed in the Mozhaisk area, 57 miles west of Moscow, during last night's operations. The Nazis there were said to have gone on the defensive and the Russians recaptured a village where heaps of Germans lay in the streets.

The 68th and 69th German regiments were declared to have suffered severely in the nearby Volokolamsk area.

German losses in the Donetz basin fighting in southern Russia during the first two days of November totaled 260 German trucks, 14 tanks, 16 field guns, 10 anti-tank guns, and two tank trucks.

The Russians were silent about the Crimea fighting, but said German attempts to completely encircle Leningrad in the northwest had failed and that Red troops were counterattacking on all approaches to the city.

CLOTHING STORE OWNER ROBBED.

Two men who kept their hands in their pockets, as tho they carried guns, robbed Samuel Spitzer, 28 years old, 4000 Washington boulevard, a clothing store owner, of $475 in jewelry and $80 in cash yesterday.

FLEE MURMANSK, RED GOVERNMENT ORDERS CIVILIANS

Ships Face Danger of Frozen White Sea.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 5.—Murmansk, Russia's ice free port on the Arctic ocean, is being evacuated. Acting under urgent orders from Moscow, the civilian population is being removed by steamer to Archangel and by train to Vologda. The haste with which the evacuation is being carried out is near to panic.

Ships moving from Murmansk to Archangel must move thru the Arctic and then the White Sea. Floating ice in the White sea is making navigation difficult and the continuing cold spell threatens to freeze the White sea a month earlier than usual.

Those going by train travel over the Murmansk railroad to Soroka and then eastward over the recently constructed line running to the railroad connecting Archangel with Vologda.

Planes Bomb Railroad.

Finnish planes continue to bomb the Murmansk railroad and the Finnish armies which have been slowly fighting their way eastward against much larger soviet forces are threatening the Murmansk railroad at several points. [Twenty-four words censored.]

[A Finnish broadcast heard in New York on Tuesday said Finnish forces were starting a direct assault upon Murmansk and "the Arctic port will be taken by storm within a few days should the Russian garrison refuse to surrender." Previous Stockholm dispatches had placed German and Finnish forces about 1¼ miles from Murmansk. Russian dispatches, however, declared the Germans and Finns had been unable to advance on Murmansk since July 3.]

Column Reaches Black Sea.

BERLIN, Nov. 5 (AP).—A German spearhead driving southward thru the Yaila mountains was reported tonight to have reached the Black sea to split the Russian defenders of Crimea into three segments.

In its attempt to convert the islandlike peninsula into a base for attack on the Caucasus to the east another German unit was pounding beyond the burned out city of Feodosiya [Theodosia], only 55 miles west of Kerch.

In southwestern Crimea, a third German army apparently was fighting beyond Simferopol in the drive on Sevastopol, big soviet naval base 40 miles away.

Regarding the Moscow front, the high command and press were silent except to tell of German air attacks on the soviet capital, and on the industrial city of Gorki on the Volga river, 250 miles to the east.

At Leningrad a Russian attempt to cross the Neva river southeast of that besieged city was repulsed with heavy soviet losses, the high command said.

JAPAN RUSHING SPECIAL ENVOY TO EASE U. S. CRISIS

TOKIO, Nov. 5 (AP).—Saburo Kurusu, the dapper diplomat who signed the axis alliance for Japan, is flying to the United States in a new hurry up effort to ease the admittedly "very serious situation" in the Pacific, it was announced today.

Saburo Kurusu.

The urgency of his mission was betokened by the fact that the China Clipper was being held two days at Hongkong to make connections with Kurusu's plane.

Kurusu's visit to Washington is expected to bring the protracted Japanese-American conversations to a climactic stage. The diplomat has served as consul in Chicago.

Carries "Final Stand."

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 5 (AP).—Informed Japanese said today that Saburo Kurusu's flight to Washington represents Japan's last effort to preserve peace in the Pacific.

He is acting as the personal envoy of both Premier General Tojo and Foreign Minister Togo and is carrying "important instructions" which probably contain the final Japanese stand, these sources said.

EGGS OR NO EGGS, RECALL HALIFAX, PAPER DEMANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6 [Thursday]—The Labor organ Daily Herald this morning declares that regardless of disavowals of Detroit women and of Mayor Edward J. Jeffries of the egg throwing incident while Ambassador Lord Halifax was in Detroit Tuesday this should not be allowed to obscure the issue which is disturbing many British people, namely, Halifax's fitness for office.

Neither Halifax's record nor his disposition fill the bill, the Herald complains.

"He lacks the common touch," the newspaper adds. "He is not typical of the British people. Halifax should be replaced in Washington by a man more closely attuned to the temperament of the common people."

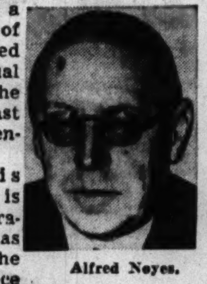
ALL THE WORLD IS WACKY, SAYS ALFRED NOYES

British Poet Here; Avers Literature Is Dead.

BY MARCIA WINN.



Alfred Noyes.

Alfred Noyes, noted British poet, looked sadly last night at the catastrophe of Europe and found it a manifestation of what he termed the intellectual collapse of the world in the last quarter of a century.

Poetry is warped and art is dying and literature long has been dead, the poet who once sang of the glories of peace and the golden days of the Elizabethans said mournfully. From his vista of 61 years he looked about him and backward, sighed and said, "Somehow we've all gone wacky and crazy with killing each other and destroying everything that made the world worth living in."

Now on Lecture Tour.

Mr. Noyes was in Chicago only in transit. With his wife and three children he left his home on the Isle of Wight when it became a restricted area in July, 1940, and came to Canada. He now is on a brief lecture tour in America, and he is depressed about that, too. He finds that if he reads the jottings of a mental deficient to a poetry society, his audience cannot distinguish between the jottings and real poetry.

"And once there was a time—say, when Burns was writing," he said softly, "when there would have been no wonder. It has been the same with all the poets of the last 2,000 years, and somehow now . . . now we're all crazy. Is it lunacy or is it poetry?' I ask them, and no one knows.

"The only men who are doing anything today," he said firmly, sitting alertly upright in the lobby of the Bismarck hotel, "are those with religion. Two of the very few men in America—or anywhere—today who are capable of connected thought about the whole state of affairs are right here at the University of Chicago. You know, Adler—?" questioningly.

"Mortimer Adler," he was told.

"Yes," firmly. "Mortimer Adler and the president, Robert Hutchins. That's because they have a sense of the past and origins and roots. They have what I would call a background of Christendom, the perennial philosophy that comes right down from Plato to the present day.

"Everything today is so wrong, so warped," he added in quick explanation. "Only the people who have a religion seem to have retained the power to think rationally. They put first things first. With all others a cloud of hydrogen comes first.

"For 25 years people have undermined all the things that hitherto have helped us to make real distinction between right and wrong. They've done it in literature, in fiction, in art.

"We can't do that without having it eventually expressed in acts. That is exactly what has happened in Europe. Religion is gone. Ordinary human decencies are gone.

And They're Proud of It.

"They take pride in it—the writers, every one. An advertisement of a book will say, "The sordid brutality of this book is beyond praise. Published for $15 and selling for $1. Banned from all the libraries and selling like wild fire.'"

Here the aging poet, a tremendous man whose blonde hair still is without a trace of gray, took off his bifocal spectacles and rubbed his eyes.

"It is true," he continued lightly, "of a great deal of contemporary art and poetry that when they are not really crazy, they seem to take a great deal of delight in pretending to be crazy.

"Here," and he began to recite from a poem by that arch-modern, Dylan Thomas:

"Atlas eater with the jaw for news Bit out the mandrake with tomorrow's scream."

"A great controversy arose out of that. One school made the objection that it scanned—and modern verse shouldn't, it seems. Another said it couldn't be poetry because it doesn't mean anything. Another school said that proves it is poetry.

It Must Be Great.

"Then some genius at crossword puzzles said, 'Yes, it does mean something. It means a newspaper.' Then every one collapsed and said, 'Yes, it must be great poetry.'"

Here the poet and his audience relaxed in bemused amusement.

"There's been a tremendous collapse in the arts and literature in the last 25 years," he continued suddenly. "I think it's really connected with the events in Europe. You can't have that kind of attack against all the first principles of civilization and have art and literature.

"The first principles of Christendom have carried on in the literature of the world for more than 2,000 years. The great literature has been ethical. For the last 25 years it has been anti-ethical.

"That is a broad statement, but pick up any novel today. It is cynical, shallow, and mistakes brutality for strength. When you get people doing that in the world of thought, sooner or later it gets translated into action."

No Creative Work Being Done.

Mr. Noyes believes no creative work is being done anywhere in Europe today. He says England has produced no great or even good war poetry; possibly, he says, creative work may begin with reconstruction, but he thinks the springs need water at the roots.

Once, in 1913, in a volume of poems called "The Wine Press," he predicted world wars. "And I remember," he said quietly, "how crazy people said I was. The idea was ridiculed as an utter impossibility."

In his new volume, "Shadows on the Dawn," just off the press, he makes no predictions at all. As early as 1910, in "The Dawn of Peace," he wrote:

"The hour of peace is come! The nations
From east to west have heard a cry,
Thru all earth's blood-red generations
By hate and slaughter climbed thus high. . . ."

This time he ignores both peace and war.

FINNS DEFY U. S. ON SURRENDER OF KARELIA TO REDS

Press Blames England for Demands of Hull.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 5.—The Finnish press expressed amazement and indignant defiance today that the Roosevelt administration of the United States should attempt to intimidate Finland into surrendering the Karelian soviet republic recently declared annexed to Finland by Field Marshal Karl Mannerheim.

The Karelian republic conceivably would come under Secretary of State Hull's demand that Finland call off the current war with the Reds, withdraw its troops from "Russian soil," and make peace or run the risk of forfeiting the friendship of the United States.

Fear Even Greater Demands.

"If we should consent to such demands," said an editorial in the Helsingin Sanomat, "what would prevent England and the United States from demanding that Finland should afford the soviet government bases on our territory for operations against Germany? The soviet forces are still occupying Finnish territory, and they have powerful tank and infantry units at Hango; they still occupy four Finnish islands in the Gulf of Finland off Borgo, and they have not yet been ousted from the Fishermen's peninsula, which controls the mouth of the Petsamo fjord, our only ocean harbor. [Petsamo is the Finnish port on the Arctic ocean.]

"The clear line between the democratic states and dictatorial governments ceased to exist when Finland was forced into war for the second time by bolshevik Russia after England had publicly declared her alliance with the communists against Germany. Finland is not allied with Germany in her war against the west, but she is the comrade in arms of Germany in her war against the east.

Rap British "Undermining."

"England has been trying to undermine the sympathy the United States has for Finland. London now admits that her threat of war unless Finland makes peace with bolshevism was the result of Moscow's demand that England declare war against Finland, Hungary, and Rumania.

"Now America threatens us, because Finnish troops have occupied part of the Murmansk railroad. England and America wish to prevent Finland from reaching the shores of the White sea, from where we would threaten sea communications with the harbor of Archangel.

"The Finns regret that the administration in Washington should show such great concern about the shipment of munitions to Russia while a few months ago when the war in the east began, ships en route to Finland carrying vitally important supplies of food and clothing were recalled to American ports. The American government never uttered a word of protest when Finland was blockaded by England, and we are a democratic country fighting for its life."

Refuse to Make Sacrifice.

The newspaper Ilta-Sanomat writes: "If the Finnish troops prevent American and British help from reaching Russia, thus making bolshevism's fight for survival against Germany more difficult and making it more easy for Germany to conquer Russia and then turn her forces against England, this does not draw the war nearer to America, but it does draw America nearer to the war.

"No, we cannot make such a noble sacrifice, such as Hull demands. Our instinct of self preservation is too strong, and our right to defend ourselves cannot be denied."

A spokesman denied reports of demonstrations in Helsingfors.

[The British Broadcasting company said 21 persons were arrested in Helsingfors as a result of strong anti-German demonstrations yesterday, and another BBC report said that Vaino Tanner, Socialist minister of trade, was asked at a meeting of his party to withdraw his support from the coalition Finnish government because of a continuance of the war on Germany's side.]

ENGLAND WEIGHS DRAFTING OF ALL MEN AND WOMEN

Report Plan to Put Them in Forces or Industry.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A new conscription plan to include women and even men over 40 years of age is being considered by the cabinet, it was reported today. So far conscription applies only to men between 18 and 40 and, altho Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin can direct men over 40 and women of all ages to work of national importance, he cannot order them into the fighting services.

The new scheme is designed, it was stated, to allow the government to place any man or woman, regardless of age, wherever it deems that they are needed in the war effort, whether in the fighting forces or in industry.

Despite complaints that the government is failing to adequately utilize the man and woman power at its disposal, some blame for this is attributed to the competition for skilled labor between the armed forces and industry.

Charge Production Hampered.

Employers, labor leaders, and farmers have charged that vital industrial and agricultural production has been adversely affected by what they call the unscientific manner in which skilled workers are conscripted into the services.

Nevertheless, the armed forces, it is reported, will acquire additional numbers of men and women within six months.

The recruitment of women to the auxiliary services is dependent upon special campaigns, but it is felt that a reorganization of the man and woman power act is necessary.

Many Women Join "Guard."

The Evening Star vigorously supports the proposed "all-out conscription." It expresses the hope that the government will use the proposed powers to put "an end to the shilly-shallying which has brought the whole position into confusion."

Since Mrs. Edith Randall recently announced that she is forming a woman's "home guard," applications have come in from all parts of the country. No woman under 40 will be allowed to join if she is engaged in war work.

NAZI U-BOATS OFF NEWFOUNDLAND, CANADA REVEALS

Clashes Bared 400 Miles from U. S. Base.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 5 (AP).—German submarines are operating within sight of the Newfoundland coast, Navy Minister Angus MacDonald declared today, two having been attacked and one possibly sunk last month by a Canadian corvette and a coastal command plane in the Belle Isle channel.

Angus MacDonald.

This channel, at the mouth of the strait between Newfoundland and Labrador opposite the northern tip of Newfoundland, is about 400 miles by air north of the American defense base on Newfoundland.

"There are many submarines now between Belle Isle and Iceland and there are others along the southern convoy route," said MacDonald at the dedication of a new corvette, the Oakville.

Rear Adm. Percy Nelles, chief of Canada's naval staff, predicted the U-boats will be operating close to Nova Scotia within a short time.

[The western coast of Nova Scotia is about 50 miles from the easternmost point of the United States. Cape Sable, southern tip of Nova Scotia, is about 250 miles east of Portland, Me.]

COUNCIL SEEKS TO HALT EVICTION OF 180 FAMILIES

The city council housing committee was directed by the council yesterday to take steps to halt the eviction from Trumbull Park housing project of 180 families who have been told to move.

The action was taken when Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] told the council the families have been served eviction notices because their incomes are higher due to increased arms employment.

"These people are now making a little more money than they did when they entered the project. However, they are not making so much more that they can find satisfactory quarters outside," Ald. Rowan said.

Chicago Woman's Club Under $11,308 Tax Lien

Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, filed a tax lien for $11,308 yesterday against the Chicago Woman's club, 72 East 11th street. The taxes alleged to be due are for social security and unemployment insurance since 1938.

Mrs. Burnett D. Warner, past president, who was named in the lien, said the taxes had not been paid because the executive board had been advised that the club was exempt.

BRITISH BOMBINGS HEAVIEST YET; AVERAGE 10 A DAY

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—British bombers dropped heavier loads of explosives on Germany and occupied territories in the last three months than in their heavy summer raids and averaged 10 attacks a day during October on shipping off the European coast, an informed source said today. Bomber command planes alone dropped 10,000 tons of explosives.

Attacks on the Ruhr and Rhineland were resumed last night after a lull caused by bad weather. Docks at Dunkirk and Ostend were hit and a large merchant ship damaged in coastal raids.

One fighter plane was lost today in attacks on German positions in northern France. The admiralty reported three more axis supply ships sunk by submarines in the central Mediterranean.

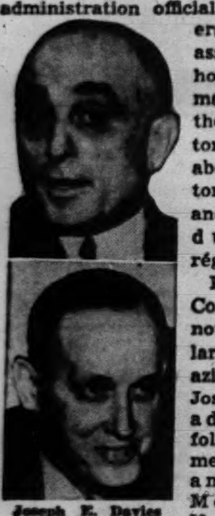
PRAISE OF STALIN PURGES BY NEW DEALERS FLAILED

Congressmen Hit Davies, Hopkins, Wallace.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—High administration officials and supporters were severely assailed in the house today for making sympathetic and laudatory comments about Red Dictator Josef Stalin and blood purges during his régime.



Joseph E. Davies [top] and Harry L. Hopkins.

Rep. Eugene Cox [D., Ga.] denounced particularly recent magazine articles by Joseph E. Davies, administration follower and former United States ambassador to Moscow, and Harry L. Hopkins, the President's supervisor of aid to other countries.

Cox said Davies' article in a monthly magazine, in which he discussed the "farsightedness" of Russia in eliminating possible fifth columnists in the soviet purges during the years preceding the current Russo-Nazi war, was "ill advised, utterly fallacious, wholly untrue, and a despicable piece of propaganda." Hopkins' article in the same magazine called Stalin a "straight talking, smiling man."

"Blood on Stalin's Hands."

"No amount of printers' ink can ever conceal the blood on Josef Stalin's hands," declared Cox. "There is not a shred, not a vestige of mercy or character in this bloody handed Moloch," he continued. "He has built a monstrous, monumental mass of atheism, immorality, and brutality in Russia."

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.], who followed Cox, charged the New Deal is also purging its opponents "by persecution and a denial of the liberty to which we have been accustomed."

Hoffman recalled vice president Henry A. Wallace once wrote that America must be made over, and quoted Wallace as saying, "we hope such action can be taken as bloodlessly as the constitution was enacted."

Recalls Tugwell Prediction.

The congressman said Rexford Guy Tugwell, the early New Deal braintruster, who is now governor of Puerto Rico, has written in his "Industrial Discipline" that "business will logically be required to disappear." Hoffman also recalled that Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau on last Sept. 26 remarked "business as usual should be out the window but it isn't out yet."

"Joe eliminated his political opponents," said Hoffman. "The administration seeks to do the same thing and characterizes as unpatriotic all those who disagree with its purpose or its method."

ENGINEER COURSE FOR NEGROES SET UP IN KENTUCKY

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 5 (AP).—The recent demand of a young Negro for admission to the University of Kentucky civil engineering school resulted today in a decision to establish such a course at Kentucky State College for Negroes, located here.

The state board of education executive committee adopted a resolution authorizing a two year course to be given at the local institution effective immediately.

Charles Eubanks of Louisville has a suit pending in federal court demanding admission to the university engineering course. It was based on the United States Supreme court's ruling in a Missouri case that states must provide equal educational opportunities for whites and Negroes.

Kentucky's 1904 act prohibiting joint education of the races was upheld by the United States Supreme court and forced Berea college at Berea, Ky., to cease admitting Negro students.

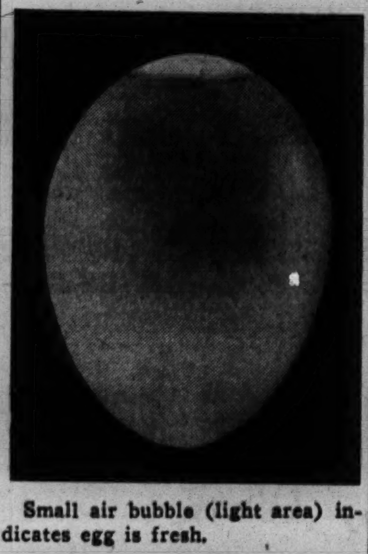
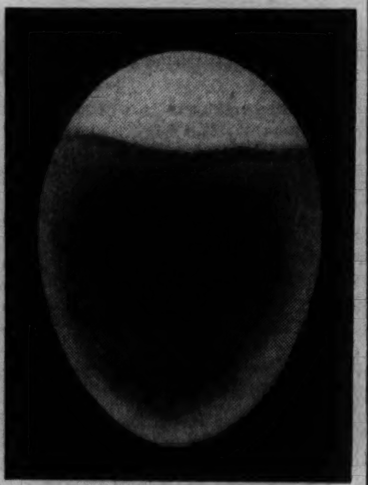
Test for Eggs



Small air bubble (light area) indicates egg is fresh.



Large air bubble (light area) indicates egg is out of cold storage.

Wholesalers and retailers who sell cold storage eggs as "fresh" eggs are liable to fines not exceeding $100 for the first offense and $500 for the second, Zean Gassmann, superintendent of the state division of foods and dairies, warned yesterday.

Thirty-seven inspectors, 12 of them in Chicago, are making the rounds of groceries thruout the state and seizing suspected eggs for laboratory examination, Gassmann said. When violations are found and the responsibility fixed, complaints will be turned over to authorities for prosecution.

"Every year about this time, when fresh eggs become scarce, unorthodox dealers begin marketing eggs they stored last spring, labeling them as fresh eggs," Gassmann asserted. "We look for more trouble than ever this year because of rising food prices. That gives the dealer more incentive to cheat."

Eggs brought to the division's laboratories on the 9th floor at 228 South Wabash avenue are candled in a darkened room to determine the egg's freshness. Candling consists of holding the egg before a small hole thru which a light is directed, enabling the worker to determine the condition of its contents.

Most cold storage eggs can be spotted, Gassmann said, by an irregular telltale air pocket at the top of the large end of the egg. The air pocket is formed by evaporation of moisture in the egg white during storage.

BARBECUE OWNER SLAIN.

James Thigpen, 33 years old, colored, owner of a barbecue restaurant at 5317 Indiana avenue, was shot to death yesterday in a fight with Delmar Anderson, 21, also colored, who was arrested by police.

OLD PROPAGANDA STORY REPEATED, EXPERT CHARGES

British Using Tried Plan, He Declares.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Britain is using an old propaganda trick in getting American sympathy for its cause and gradually working the United States into the war, according to the observations of a noted propaganda expert here today.

This student of propaganda technique, who preferred to remain anonymous, said in an interview that it is the same formula employed in the first World war of arousing sympathy in the neutral United States on behalf of the foes of the axis powers.

In 1914, he recalled, sympathy was stirred in Americans for the allies after the ruthless German invasion of Belgium. Americans were requested to adopt Belgian children—"war orphans." From that point on it was merely a matter of getting increased support thru the constant appeals of foreign relief agencies.

Plead for Sacrifices.

Today the same course is being followed, it was pointed out. Americans for some time now have been providing homes for British children. Many relief agencies are at work, aided by the administration and with the active blessing of British diplomatic officials in this country, asking Americans to sacrifice on behalf of the war smitten British.

The object of this strategy, according to the expert, is to appeal to humanitarian feelings and arouse a sense of duty to come to the aid of the side beckoning for support. When a person contributes something to the "cause" he follows thru with more active interest, according to this theory.

This program has been carried thru by the British despite many striking inconsistencies and fallacies. For example, people in the United States have been requested to furnish clothing to the British, while simultaneously the British manufacturers and exporters are flooding the American markets with similar merchandise—in fact, taking over American customers of American companies because the rearmament program—including lend-lease—interferes with their normal market activities.

It is reported that the English are exporting sweaters and other knitted woolen goods, while American women are asked to knit such articles for bundles for Britain, with some of these American contributions piling up in warehouses.

Points to Technique.

The propaganda expert said further that the bundles for Britain technique is to select society leaders in various communities to lead the drive, making a bundle for Britain the fashionable thing to do.

A steady procession of British nobility—ladies, duchesses—and former M. P.'s visit these relief stations to lend the proper English atmosphere for propaganda purposes, these visits being highly publicized. There is a strong unofficial connection between "bundles" and the British embassy and consular offices, the expert said.

Harold L. Ickes' ill-fated "oil shortage" could be considered another example of the aid to Britain propaganda, it was stated. Supposedly because oil tankers were transferred to British uses, Americans were requested to save gasoline and sacrifice in their normal travel habits. Later it was proved that there was no shortage and the British didn't even need the tankers. Ickes then had to backwater.

BRITAIN BUYS ICELAND CATCH TO PUT AN END TO FISH PROFITEERING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George, parliamentary secretary for the food ministry, today said the government had eliminated profiteering from the fish trade by purchasing the whole Icelandic catch and controling prices. He said fish from Iceland had offered "the worst case of profiteering that has occurred since the war started."

A charge that "the ghouls of finance and masters of monopoly are doing their utmost to abolish individual trade" was made by A. B. Salmon today after he was reëlected chairman of the Liverpool Fruiterers' association, largest body of fruit dealers in the country.

Salmon said individual traders would have to get the support of parliament to prevent them from being swept away by the "superburocracy."

ILLINOIS TROOPS RECEIVE 10,000 GARAND RIFLES

They Will Carry Them in Parades Tuesday.

BY JACK THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Nov. 5.—When the 33d division comes home to parade down Michigan avenue, Chicago, on Armistice day every rifleman for the first time will carry a new Garand semi-automatic rifle.

Altho Illinois' National Guard troops are short on other armament, both officers and men are pleased that the long awaited supply of Garands finally has appeared. There are approximately 10,000 Garands in the division, enough for each of the four infantry regiments to have its allotted 2,099 rifles.

The appearance of the Garands, however, has not meant oblivion for the old 1903 Springfields. Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, division commanding officer said today these have been turned over to the field artillery.

Await New Carbines.

Cannoneers, under the army table of allowances, eventually will be equipped with a new army carbine. Until the carbines are in production, Gen. Lawton said, the army plans to train artillery men with the Springfield. This training period for Camp Forrest gunners will begin on Nov. 17, after the division returns from Illinois.

Gen. Lawton described his troops, which have been in training since March, as "liberally" supplied with .30 calibre machine guns and 60 and 81 mm. mortars. But there the pleasant side of the equipment picture ends.

There are no .50 calibre machine guns. There are no 37 mm. anti-tank guns; instead the anti-tank battalion uses four modernized 75 mm. guns, the American version of the old World war French 75. Nor have the field artillery regiments their 105 mm. howitzers which are to replace the old 75s.

New Trucks Cut Shortage.

The division, once sorely handicapped by lack of adequate transport, particularly just before the fall maneuvers, is now in good shape, according to Lieut. Col. Carl J. Meacham, assistant chief of staff in charge of transport. He said the arrival yesterday of 54 new 2½ ton trucks gives the division about 85 per cent of the motor vehicles it should have under the old basic table allowance.

Lack of transport, however, will not be a problem in the Chicago convoy, because only part of the 33d is returning home. The divisional strength of 18,000 officers and men is down to 16,800, some 1,200 conscripts having been discharged because they are over 28 years old or because of the problem of dependents to support. By Christmas 3,000 will have been sent home for these reasons.

5,400 for Chicago Parade.

Nearly 50 per cent of the division is on furlough or about to go on leave. The result is that the Armistice day paraders will number 5,400 in Chicago, 3,315 in Springfield, and 850 in Memphis, Tenn. In addition, Gen. Lawton expects between 1,100 and 1,200 men on furlough in Chicago next Tuesday to join their units for the parade.

Infantrymen will be taken to Illinois in the trucks of the field artillery regiments. Those bound for Chicago will travel in two convoys, each taking three days and arriving Monday. The Springfield contingent will make it in two days.

$4,300 DRESS SHOP BURGLARY.

Mrs. Ida May Hendricks reported to police yesterday that thieves had cracked a vault with sledge hammers and taken 300 dresses, valued at $4,300, from her dress shop at 2615 Devon avenue.

POLICE ANNOYER SEIZED IN HUNT FOR PEEPING TOM

Residents of northwest Zion have been annoyed recently by a Peeping Tom, but it was not until Theodore Hill, 2112 Ezra avenue, called police last night that a clew was found.

Chief Alvin E. Ruesch and Lieut. Moody Simpson reached Hill's home in time to capture Kermit Herrick, 31 years old, a painter, who lives in a trailer camp in the Illinois dunes park north of Zion.

Herrick appeared familiar to Lieut. Simpson, and questioning developed that he was the same Herrick who several years ago annoyed police by sending distress calls from a tavern. He went to the Lake county jail that time in lieu of a $50 fine. He will be arraigned before Police Magistrate Ford Wilson Saturday.

LIKES THE ARMY, HE ASSERTS, BUT NOT THE SOUTH

Kerlin Mattinger, 26 years old, surrendered to Summerdale police last night, announced that he is a four time deserter from the army, and asked Desk Sergt. Edward Galvin's help to become the best soldier in the United States.

Mattinger, who lived at 4032 Greenview avenue, volunteered 15 months ago and was sent to Fort Bragg, N. C. He likes the army, he said, but he can't endure the south. "I'd rather peel potatoes at Fort Sheridan," he said, "than be a general at Fort Bragg." One of the things he didn't like in the south, he explained, exhibiting a slashed arm, was the razor his opponent used in a fight.

ARMY ORDNANCE SCHOOL IS AHEAD OF ITS SCHEDULE

Trains 10,540 Men Since First of Year.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., Nov. 5.—The army's new ordnance school here is turning out graduates faster than quarters can be provided for them at posts to which they are assigned.

The school is ahead of schedule, having graduated a total of 10,540 men since it was started last Jan. 2. Three more companies are ready for departure now but are being kept here because of a shortage of quarters at their new assignments.

Of those graduated, 7,000 were sent direct to troops in the field. The others were two "batches" or 26 companies. A "batch" is 10 medium artillery companies each of 128 men; two heavy artillery companies each of 197 men, and one railroad company of 97 men.

School Is Diversified.

The school is different from other line schools in that it lacks their regularity and has many more diversifications. The establishment occupies 1,700 acres of ground and 400 new buildings at the old Aberdeen proving grounds.

At present there are 5,800 men here, including 800 colored. The son of Vice President Henry Wallace is here.

The seat of learning is divided into three parts: the replacement training center, the school itself, and the unit training center. There is no specified time for entering the school, men being called as others complete the 13 week basic training course.

Four Weeks of Rudiments.

The first four weeks are devoted to the school of the soldier, calisthenics, pistol and rifle fire, and infantry drill. At the end of this time all trainees are divided into sections for specialized work.

After they have completed the basic training course those showing ability are sent to the adjacent school. The others are sent to the unit center as rank and file workers.

The school is highly specialized and has 13 separate courses lasting from one to three months. The officers learn work supervision while the men learn how to do the actual work. Because of the high type of men less than 5 per cent fail to receive certificates of proficiency.

Class Sizes Not Fixed.

Classes do not have a fixed number of members, varying from 5 to 50, and have no fixed time of beginning and ending, the graduates leaving when they have completed their respective courses. The courses for enlisted men are open to all in service as well as conscripts from training centers.

Graduates are sent out in response to requisitions from units in the field for three welders, six electricians, etc. Those not requisitioned are grouped in special units and sent to the unit training center for three months' training in field organization.

AIR ASSOCIATES' PLANT IN CHICAGO TO BE RUN BY WAR DEPARTMENT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—The war department announced today it had taken over the branch establishments—five plants and two warehouses—of Air Associates, Inc., Bendix, N. J., to facilitate operations.

The main plant at Bendix was taken over last week by the army under an executive order from President Roosevelt after a labor-management controversy had delayed production on defense orders held by the company.

The branches are at Lodi and Belleville, N. J.; Chicago and Rockford, Ill.; Dallas, Tex.; Marshall, Mo., and Los Angeles, Cal.

Officials said there was no labor trouble at the branches and no troops were used when the army took charge of them.

This latest action was necessary, they said, because it was impossible to segregate the branch plant operations from the business of the main plant at Bendix.

DUTY TO REHIRE EX-CONSCRIPTS, SAYS ARMSTRONG

Paul G. Armstrong, state director of conscription, said yesterday that industry has a moral as well as technical obligation to reassimilate discharged conscripts. He spoke at a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Hotel La Salle.

Armstrong explained that the selective service act requires employers to provide at least six month's work for former employés on their release from the armed forces.

He said that draft board members will meet at Fort Sheridan today and tomorrow to study a reëmployment plan designed to return to jobs the thousands of Illinois men who will be mustered out of the army within the next few months.

How to Keep Feeling Young by Dale Carnegie

This is the fifth of a new series of articles on successful living, written by Dale Carnegie, and published by the makers of the new Old Gold—the cigarette blend that has added something new—rare, flavorful Latakia tobacco.

When are you old? You are old when you think about what you have done, instead of what you are going to do. Youth looks to the future; age to the past.

I met a man of 87, a couple of years ago, whose ideas and enthusiasm were younger than many men at 37. He has written 21 books. Yet, he never said a word about what he had done. He talked constantly about what he proposed to do.

At 87, he keeps two secretaries busy writing two books and editing a magazine. He talked to me for an hour about the dwindling birth rate of the white race. He is deeply concerned about what will happen to humanity two hundred years from now! I never even thought of age when I was with him, and neither did he. He seemed young.

If you want to keep young, get your mind off yourself. Get interested in new ideas, new people, new activities. For example, William Ewart Gladstone began studying the art of painting on China when he was 87. He declared that renewing one's interests was an excellent way to keep young.

And remember the life motto of Michelangelo, who at the age of 72 was appointed chief architect of St. Peter's in Rome: "I am still learning." Yes, if you want to stay feeling young—and even have help in seeming young to others—keep your mental outlook youthful.

Something to look forward to...

If you haven't yet tried new Old Golds, there's a pleasant experience waiting for you—a fresh new flavor in an altogether different cigarette blend.

It's a rare tobacco, Latakia, from the Eastern Mediterranean that gives Old Golds this greater goodness. Half the size and twice as costly as domestic leaf, Latakia acts as "seasoning" to heighten the taste of this new blend. And there's a good supply of Latakia aging in Old Gold warehouses, so you're sure of finer new Old Golds for years to come.

Try something new! Enjoy the pleasanter taste of new Old Golds—in the same familiar pack.

Something NEW has been added!

Look for Dale Carnegie's next column, in this space, on this same day next week.

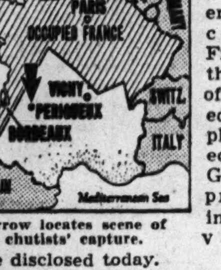
DE GAULLE DROPS PARACHUTISTS TO RAVAGE FRANCE

Troops Captured; British Plane Seized.



Arrow locates scene of chutists' capture.

VICHY, France, Nov. 5 (AP).—The discovery and capture of an unstated number of "Free French" parachutists in western unoccupied France and the capture of a grounded British plane loaded with De Gaullist propaganda in the same vicinity were disclosed today.

The plane, carrying instructions for De Gaullist agents, was captured near Perigueux two days ago when it was forced down by bad weather. The entire British crew was reported held.

Natives of the Region.

The parachute troops were said to have been mostly natives of the region who were sent to hide themselves until opportunities to commit sabotage occurred.

Perigueux is a large center of unoccupied France near Bordeaux in the occupied zone. It was at Bordeaux that Jacque Doriot's semi-Fascist party boasted yesterday of attacking a synagogue which was described as headquarters of a British movement in France.

800,000 Tons of Shipping Lost.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Nov. 5.—The French government issued a statement tonight charging that since the armistice, British warships had seized and captured or sunk 800,000 tons of French merchant shipping.

On May 15, Vice Premier Darlan, in a broadcast complaining against British seizure of French shipping in the Mediterranean declared British seizures of sinkings amounted to 600,000 tons. It is indicated therefore that French losses in the last six months have totaled 200,000 tons.

French protests are raised against British seizures as being contrary to the principle of liberty of the seas.

London Defends Seizures.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A spokesman for the ministry of economic warfare cited figures today to show that the Vichy government was not justified under international law "in resisting our right to intercept the convoy" against which Vichy has protested vigorously.

Since the beginning of the year, including the five ships just captured off the south African coast, 44 French vessels have been intercepted, representing a total tonnage of 98,000. Of these, 12 carried contraband from the far east, he said.

"For blockade purposes," the spokesman said, "it is impossible to draw a distinction between occupied and unoccupied France. There is nothing to prevent supplies which may reach Vichy from being passed on to the enemy."

[Acme Photo.]
ANNA LIZA DOBAT.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 5 [Special].—Harold Daniels, film writer and director, rested easier today after hearing from his wife, Anna Liza Dobat, 27 years old, former German film actress. She was reported missing after she wrote a despondent note saying that she "could no longer find solace in the fact that Europe is in a mess—that we over here should be grateful to be alive," and then left her home this week. Today Daniels talked to her by phone at Grand Canyon, Ariz. She said her feet hurt and she wanted to come home; that she had walked 45 miles to Grand Canyon from Williams, Ariz., after taking a train from Hollywood. Daniels wired her $25 and expected her home tonight.

FIFTH OF COUNTY ARMY DRAFTEES ARE VOLUNTEERS

More than one-fifth of the men from Cook county inducted into the army in the first year of selective service ending Oct. 31 were volunteers, a survey disclosed yesterday. Rejections amounted to 15.8 per cent of the total sent to the induction station.

The tabulation showed that 40,401 men were sent to the station from November, 1940, thru last month and that 6,371 were rejected, leaving 34,030 inducted. Of those inducted, 7,441, or 21.8 per cent, were volunteers who asked to do their military service at once.

The procedure in Illinois is to be changed Dec. 1 so that men will be examined here, but will be inducted at Camp Grant, near Rockford, after an intervening period of up to 30 days for them to straighten out their private affairs.

The survey showed that draft board 90, at 2474 East 75th street, had the best record on rejections, with only 10 men being rejected of 300 sent to the induction station. Two of the 10 had defective teeth repaired and were later accepted. The 29 suburban boards had a better record than the 180 in the county as a whole with only 670 rejections, or 11.7 per cent of 5,704 sent to the station.

WOLF AT DOOR, GOVERNOR JOINS IN THE HOWLING!

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 5 (AP).—There's really a wolf at Gov. Leon Phillips' door. And it evidently intends to stay there.

It was funny at first, this wolf sulking around the premises, right in the middle of Oklahoma's civilization. But it grew brazen. Mrs. Phillips even got a snapshot of it.

Now the beast's howls punctuate the clatter of overturning garbage pails and the governor is losing a lot of sleep. In despair he called in the zoo keeper. The intruder has sidestepped all traps to date. No one can figure out where he came from.

The Better Way to Treat Constipation

One way to treat constipation is to endure it first and "cure" it afterward. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. So why not save yourself those dull headachy days, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple common-sense "ounce of prevention"?

If your trouble, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, "the better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it regularly—and drink plenty of water—you can not only get regular but keep regular, day after day and month after month! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

IF THROAT IS SORE

IF A COLD has given you a miserable sore throat, here's how to relieve the suffering.

DO THIS NOW—Melt a small lump of VapoRub on your tongue and feel the comforting medication slowly trickle down your throat—bathing the irritated membranes—bringing blessed relief where you want it, when you want it.

DO THIS TONIGHT — Rub throat, chest with VapoRub. Its long continued poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation, eases coughing, invites restful sleep.

STUDY RAILWAY STRIKE CALL AT MEETING TODAY

Brotherhoods Assail U. S. Wage Finding.

Brotherhood Statement.

Soon after the recommendations were made public the five operating brotherhoods issued a sharp statement signed by Alvanley Johnston, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; C. J. Goff, assistant president, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; H. W. Fraser, president, Order of Railway Conductors; A. F. Whitney, president, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and T. C. Cashen, president, Switchmen's Union of North America.

"The board's recommendation as it applies to railway workers represented by the transportation brotherhoods is a twin sister to the Gurley bonus plan which the organizations rejected in mediation and condemned as un-American before the President's board," the statement said.

[The Gurley plan was submitted by the railroads' representatives headed by Fred G. Gurley, vice president of the Santa Fe. It provided for wage increases based on indices of cost of living and railroad revenues.]

Call It "Most Disappointing."

"The report as we see it is an engraved invitation for transportation men to leave the service," the statement continued.

"The general chairmen representing the transportation organizations will convene in Chicago tomorrow to give consideration to the board's recommendation.

"As a whole the board's recommendation is the most disappointing of any recommendation rendered by a federal tribunal in the last 50 years.

"The chief executives of the five transportation brotherhoods regret that they cannot advise or recommend that it be accepted."

A joint meeting of the general chairmen—heads of the brotherhoods on the individual railroads—will be held at 2 p. m. at the Morrison hotel.

Two Reasons for Opposition.

Goff asserted that the executives oppose the recommendation on two grounds: 1. The suggested increase is insufficient. 2. The suggested increase would be temporary, whereas the men want an increase in the basic rates which would be permanent.

Bert M. Jewell, spokesman for the 14 unions and president of the Railway Employés' division, American Federation of Labor, said his group will make no statement on the board's recommendations until noon today.

"Too Great a Burden."

The carriers' joint conference committees, in their brief statement expressing "disappointment" with the findings, said the increased operating costs which the board estimated the recommendations would impose on the roads would be "a much greater burden than the industry should be asked to assume at this time."

Under the machinery set up by the railway labor act for the handling of railroad labor disputes, the recommendation of a Presidential fact finding board is not binding in law, but the weight of public opinion is expected to cause compliance with a board's recommendation.

30 Days' Delay Required.

The act provides, however, that no overt step may be taken until 30 days after a Presidential board has made its recommendation to the President. Thus, in the present instance, it would be at least Dec. 5 before there would be a strike.

Members of both the operating and nonoperating groups have already authorized their leaders to strike if they deem it necessary to enforce their demands. The opinion was expressed in labor circles last night that it would be possible for the President to intervene again in the dispute, altho the railway labor act provides only for the naming of a fact finding board such as the one which has just submitted its recommendation.

It was suggested that the President might urge the parties to reach a compromise settlement based on the recommendation. However, management and labor were unable to reach any settlement in direct negotiations and in mediation proceedings which took place before the fact finding board entered the picture.

Railroads' Requests.

In addition to the wage demands, the controversy involves requests by railroad management for the revision of rules governing working arrangements, including elimination of the so-called "feather-bed" rules designed to create work. The railroads said they want the rules modernized, some of them having been in effect 50 years. Not all railroads are party to the same requests for rule changes.

The board in its recommendations indicated that the public might be called on to pay higher freight and possenger rates if the suggested wage increases were put into effect.

"In justice not only to the parties [to the dispute] but to the public at large, we feel obliged to say that our recommended increases in railroad wages have been made on the assumption that the railroads can secure needed relief from resulting inadequate net revenues by obtaining permission to increase their transportation rates," the report said.

Thru Increased Rates.

"Indeed, our recommendations are made on the assumption, tho not on the affirmative finding, that a large portion of the increased wage bill involved in our recommendations will be made good to the carriers thru increased rates."

The board said that should the entire added burden of $270,000,000 be passed on entirely to shippers and passengers in rate and fare increases, such increases would average 5 per cent.

The board started its hearings in Kimball hall, at 308 South Wabash avenue, on Sept. 16 and concluded them on Oct. 22. Other members in addition to Morse, who is dean of law at the University of Oregon, were: Thomas R. Powell, Harvard law professor; James C. Bonbright of Columbia university; Joseph H. Willits of the Rockefeller Foundation, New York, and Huston Thompson, Washington attorney.

Twins Are 75 Today

Mrs. Bertha Sorensen (left) and Mrs. Thomas Nelson.

Twin sisters, Mrs. Bertha Sorensen of Warrens, Wis., and Mrs. Hannah Nelson of Racine, Wis., who were born in Denmark and brought to Chicago as children, will celebrate their 75th birthday here today. They are visiting Mrs. Nelson's daughter, Mrs. William Webster, 5810 Miltimore avenue, and Mrs. Sorensen's daughter, Mrs. Henry Grote, 6165 North Winthrop avenue, who will give a birthday party for them today in the Medinah Country club. When their home burned in the Chicago fire in 1871, the twins' parents moved the family to a farm in Wisconsin. There the sisters grew up, married within six months of each other and settled on adjoining farms near Warrens. Mrs. Sorensen has 10 sons and daughters, while her sister had one less, but now they are alike again with great grandchildren apiece. Mrs. Sorensen has 23 grandchildren, Mrs. Nelson 21. Sunday there's going to be a family reunion at Chemung, Ill.

U. S. AND CANADA NAME GROUPS TO SPEED WAR AIDS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 [Special].—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister W. D. Mackenzie King of Canada agreed, during their week-end conference at Hyde Park, to establish a joint defense production committee to coördinate the industrial facilities of Canada and the United States, in order to accelerate armaments aid to Russia and Great Britain, it was announced at the White House today.

Milo Perkins.

The announcement said that each country will provide the other with "the defense articles which it is best able to produce, and above all, to produce quickly," but did not make clear whether lend-lease aid would be given Canada.

The American members of the joint committee are: Milo Perkins, executive director, economic defense board, chairman; J. V. Forrestal, undersecretary of the navy; W. H. Harrison, director, production division, OPM; R. P. Patterson, undersecretary of war; E. R. Stettinius Jr., lend-lease administrator; H. L. Vickery, vice chairman, United States Maritime commission.

The Canadian members are: G. K. Shields, deputy minister, department of munitions and supply, chairman; J. R. Donald, director general, chemicals and explosives branch; H. J. Carmichael, director general, munitions production branch; R. P. Bell, director general, aircraft production branch, all of the department of munitions and supply; H. R. MacMillan, president wartime Merchant Shipping, Ltd.; Walter Gordon, department of finance.

CITY COUNCIL'S PAY ROLL PLAN IS PIGEON HOLED

The city council yesterday pigeonholed a motion made last spring that City Controler Robert Upham be ordered to supply the council with duplicate records of all personal service pay rolls or pay rolls of so-called experts. The original motion was made by Ald. Paul Douglas [5th] and Ald. John S. Boyle [16th]. Recommendation that the council file the motion was made by the finance committee when Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], chairman of a subcommittee, reported Upham said it would cost $100,000 a year to do the work.

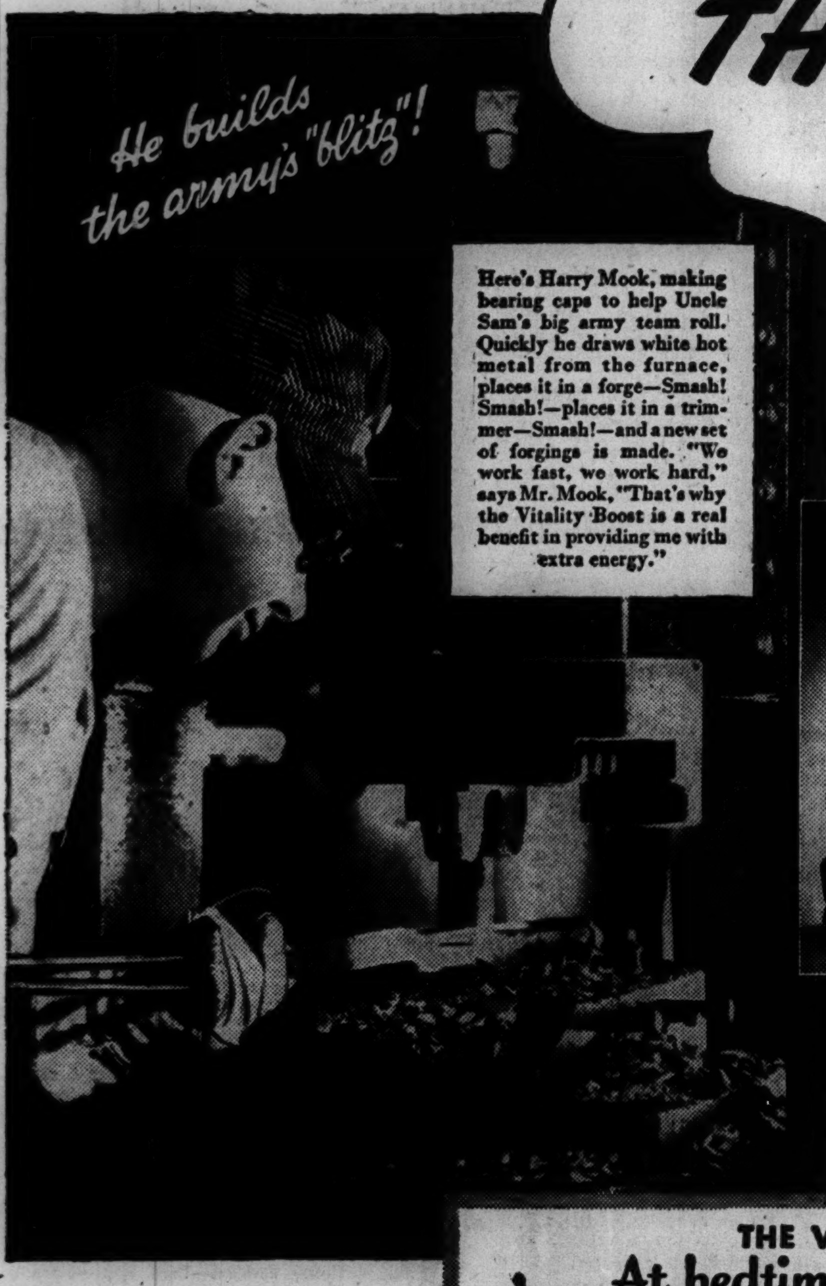
POUNDING AHEAD FOR THE U.S.A.!

Take a lesson from these folks who help America arm. To keep fit, work better, try the VITALITY BOOST!



He builds the army's "blitz"!

Here's Harry Mook, making bearing caps to help Uncle Sam's big army team roll. Quickly he draws white hot metal from the furnace, places it in a forge—Smash! Smash!—places it in a trimmer—Smash!—and a new set of forgings is made. "We work fast, we work hard," says Mr. Mook, "That's why the Vitality Boost is a real benefit in providing me with extra energy."

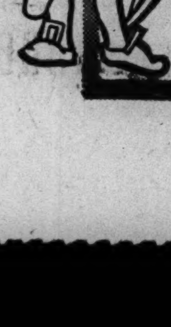
She's in the army now!

America's biggest armament drive calls for tanks, trucks, guns, shells . . . and plenty of work for an army secretary! "I sleep better and awake more refreshed since starting the Vitality Boost," says army secretary Mrs. A. H. Holmberg, "The rich, delicious flavor of Bowman Milk makes it a pleasant health habit as well."

Like a bugle call comes the challenge of the times: Be alert. Be physically fit. No matter what your job, give it your very best. For only alert and vigorous people can make America strong.

Accepting this challenge, you want to sleep better, feel better, work better. Try the Vitality Boost! It's a health-building idea that's spreading like wildfire among hard-pressed, hard-working folks who are helping to arm America. And it's simply this: Every night at bedtime drink an extra glass of fine-flavored Bowman Milk. Start it tonight, continue it for 30 days, and prove to yourself what valuable help you'll get from the Vitality Boost. You'll prove, too, that Bowman's is really the Milk of Superior Flavor.

THE VITALITY BOOST:
At bedtime every night a glass of
BOWMAN MILK
THE MILK OF SUPERIOR FLAVOR

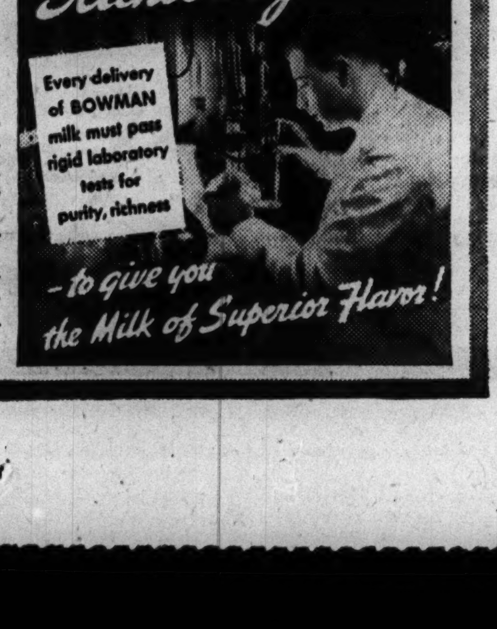


WITH MILK EXTRA CARE MEANS FINER FLAVOR

HERE'S WHY IT HELPS: 1. You take the milk when your stomach is empty. Preventing hunger pangs, it helps you get more restful sleep.

2. It reduces the tax on your energy store that even sleeping takes. (Your body's need of fuel each sleeping hour is actually 40% of the average for all your waking, working hours! That's because your heart keeps pumping; breathing continues, "relaxed" muscles are always under tension.)

3. It gives your body . . . in easily digestible form . . . the most nearly perfect supply of nutritional essentials that any food can provide.



Science on guard!
Every delivery of BOWMAN milk must pass rigid laboratory tests for purity, richness
—to give you the Milk of Superior Flavor!

RED REVOLUTION GUIDED PARTY IN U. S., JURY TOLD

Sedition Trial Witness Tells of 'Defense Guard.'

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—James Bartlett, chief government witness in the trial of 28 persons charged with seditious conspiracy to overthrow the United States government, testified today that the bolshevist party in the 1917 Russian revolution was cited by leaders of the Socialist Workers party as a model of what might be accomplished by a small but highly organized group. He was cross-examined by Albert Goldman, defense counsel, himself one of the defendants.

His testimony indicated that plans for the union defense guard which was set up in general drivers union No. 544, were made after consultation with the late Leon Trotsky in Mexico. The government holds this was a military unit set up by the Socialist Workers [or Trotskyist] party. The defense maintains it was established to protect the union and its property, and that it was armed with only a couple of target rifles and two target pistols.

Police Power Doubted.

The government introduced an article from the party organ, the Socialist Appeal, of March 3, 1939, written by one Bill Morgan. The writer quoted Police Commissioner Valentine of New York City as saying he had enough policemen to prevent a revolution.

Then Morgan added: "Yeah, well he ain't seen nothing yet—just wait until the workers are organized into workers' defense guards."

Bartlett, a former member of the party, told the jury he did not become a member of the defense guard, except at target practice in the basement of union 544 headquarters. Asked what weapons were there he said:

"A couple of single shot .22 rifles and two target pistols were owned by the guard. Some members brought their own weapons."

Bolshevists Cited.

Cross-examined on this, Bartlett was unable to give the name of only one member he recalled having brought his own gun.

The witness said he was a member of the executive committee of the Socialist Workers' party in 1939. Under questioning, he spoke of Vincent R. Dunne, a defendant and one of the three Dunne brothers who were bosses of local 544, now affiliated with the CIO.

"V. R. Dunne at one time," said Bartlett, "referred to the bolshevist party in the Russian revolution as having 160,000 members, yet influential enough to be able to lead a successful revolution in a country of 160 million population."

Asked whether any estimate was made by the party as to how large it would be required to be to overthrow the government of the United States, Bartlett said he had heard no estimates, but that the party apparently had 2,000 members.

$1,283 Pay Roll Snatched from Executive by Thieves

Two men, each with a hand in his pocket as if he carried a gun, snatched a briefcase yesterday from Elmer Holger, 30 years old, office manager of the Halvorfold company, in front of the office at 605 Washington boulevard. The case contained the $1,283 pay roll of the company, a leather goods concern.

THE QUESTION.
What do you consider the most interesting profession in America today?

WHERE ASKED.
Art Institute.

THE ANSWERS.

Mrs. O. M. Nisbet, housewife, Portland, Ore.—Of all professions I think to be a scientist in the medical field would be most interesting. It has endless possibilities. It would be wonderful to occupy a position where you could really contribute to the physical welfare of humanity.

Colin Keith-Johnston, actor, Sarratt, England—I think I would find it most interesting to make a profession of my hobby—entomology. To me any science dealing with the natural life and all of its phases of development will always be most fascinating.

Paula Gerard, artist-lecturer, 165 East Ontario street—To be an artist or to do creative work will always be the most interesting to me. Regardless of the turmoil in the world, I think such interests should be preserved for the pleasure of the people living today and as a record of this era in days to come.

Mrs. William S. Waters, housewife, 2505 Park lane, Glenview—To be a religious leader and promote religion in our every-day thinking. I think that in America today, more than ever before, the field is more fertile and the audience is in a more receptive mood than they've been for a long time. I think to be in a position to counteract the propaganda of hate would be most interesting.

A. M. McKnight, realtor, Springfield, O.—In times like today, I think all professions recede in importance and interest to give place to professions in the military field. To me that would be most interesting. There is room for improvement and advancement, so the incentive would be great enough to keep the work lively.

Warren MacKenzie, art student, 429 Maple avenue, Wilmette—To be an actor on the stage is the most interesting to me. The profession offers such a variety of experiences and also the opportunity to put yourself in another's position—the better to appreciate your own.

HINT MYSTERIOUS SCANDAL BEHIND BIOFF CHARGES

Cite 'Strange' Testimony; May Go to Jury Today.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 5.—A mysterious scandal behind the scenes in the motion picture industry was hinted at today during closing arguments in the shakedown trial of Union Leaders Willie Bioff and George E. Browne.

Defense Attorney George M. Breslin, summing up the case for Bioff, declared the truth had been withheld from the jury by government witnesses. He charged there was "something rotten" in the stories of film executives that Bioff and Browne had extorted more than half a million dollars from them by holding the threat of disastrous strikes over their heads.

Jury May Get Case Today.

With the defense winding up closing arguments tomorrow morning, United States Attorney Mathias F. Correa will then make his plea for conviction, and Federal Judge John C. Knox is expected to send the jurors out to start their deliberations in the afternoon.

Breslin's four and a half hour oratorical effort on behalf of Bioff condemned officials of the film corporations for their admissions of passing money, rigging books, and making false entries in order to meet the Bioff-Browne payments.

"Honest men don't do those things," asserted the defense counsel.

Social Intimacy Cited.

Elaborating on Bioff's own story on the witness stand that he had received "more than a million dollars," from film executives but that they gave it voluntarily, Breslin recalled the social and business intimacy which existed between Bioff and the men who were supposedly his victims.

"You don't invite a burglar to your home," he remarked. "I can't believe these hard boiled business men would submit to this."

Breslin pointed out Joseph M. Schenck, former chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox Film corporation and the man to whom Bioff claimed he delivered all the money he collected, was extremely friendly toward the defendant.

The defense attorney also found it "strange" that the only two government witnesses who told of strike threats were Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's, Inc., and brother of Joseph, and Charles Moskowitz, manager of Loew's theaters in metropolitan New York and a brother of Joseph Moskowitz. The latter Moskowitz was eastern theater manager for 20th Century-Fox.

Joseph Schenck and Joseph Moskowitz were both convicted of income tax evasion last spring and their cases are on appeal.

WOMAN AND TWO MEN ARRESTED AS LOOTERS OF 50 PARKED AUTOS

A former garage owner, a married woman and a young man were in custody of Warren avenue police yesterday in connection with the looting of approximately 50 parked automobiles on the west and northwest sides.

Those hold are William Ford, 28 years old, 3248 Carroll avenue, the former garage owner; Mrs. Agnes Kalinsky, 28, of 3145 Madison street, who is separated from her husband, and Lawrence Cordes, 18, of 2127 Warren boulevard.

Cordes was arrested first. He named Ford and Mrs. Kalinsky. According to Sergt. Patrick Groark, the three admit about 50 thefts which netted them nearly $500.

CASH PAID BIOFF IS BASIS OF SUIT BY STOCKHOLDER

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 5 [Special]. —Repercussions from Willie Bioff's extortion trial in New York hit Los Angeles today when a Warner Brothers stockholder filed suit to recover more than $181,000.

Directed against Harry M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers Pictures; Albert Warner, vice president and treasurer, and J. L. Warner, vice president, the suit was filed by Lester Rankin, owner of 100 shares of the corporation's common stock.

Between February, 1935, and 1940, it is charged in the complaint, corporation funds were paid to Bioff for the purpose of bribing him not to call strikes.

It is contended these payments were wholly under the domination of the Warners and were not made for any proper corporate purpose.

SHOOTING VICTIM WHO CHANGED HIS STORY IS FREED

Julian E. Serik, 28 years old, a union butcher who last summer revealed a lapse of memory in a criminal trial, was found not guilty of perjury yesterday in a bench hearing before Judge Julius H. Miner of the Criminal court.

The case grew out of the shooting of Sereik last May 13. At the time he told police his assailant was Tom Devero, hoodlum, then a business agent for the meat cutters' union. Devero was ousted by the union soon afterward. Devero was brought to trial for the shooting, but Sereik, the main prosecution witness, changed his original story, and said he didn't know who shot him. Devero was freed.

Sereik's own trial yesterday was largely technical. His lawyer, Lloyd Heth, said that conflicting statements not made under oath did not constitute perjury. Sereik's accusation of Devero was made to police, but not under oath. Judge Miner agreed with Heth and acquitted Sereik with the comment, "Unfortunately courts can do nothing else in this type of case."

244 RECEIVE PAROLES; AVERAGE TIME SERVED IS NEARLY SIX YEARS

The state parole board yesterday ordered paroles for 244 convicts in state penal institutions. The average time served by those paroled was 5 years 9 months and 29 days.

Among those to be released is Jack Lieber, who was convicted of robbery in 1933. In an appeal in his case the Illinois Supreme court held that the method of indicting criminals was illegal. Several months later the court reversed itself and ordered Lieber to prison.

Others to be paroled are John Carroll, who in 1931 confessed robbing 15 persons with a toy pistol, and Tony Mucerino, who with four others robbed a church rectory in 1934. Kurt Kurtzman, who used his wife as a lure in robberies, was ordered released after serving 19 years and 9 months.

FIGHT GRAND AVENUE FIRE.

Damage estimated at $400 was caused yesterday by a fire in the plant of the Chicago Waste and Textile company at 233 West Grand avenue.

War Veteran Sentenced for Thefts from Hospital

Harmon Smith, 45 years old, a World war veteran living on a farm near Grays lake, was sentenced to 90 days in prison yesterday by Judge Philip L. Sullivan of the federal District court after he pleaded guilty to a series of petty thefts from the Veterans' Administration facility, a hospital for mental defectives. Smith, a former attendant in the hospital, admitted taking cigarets, soap, dental cream, and clothing over a period of three years.

DRIVER ORDERED HELD TO JURY IN HIT-RUN DEATH

'Appeared Befuddled with Liquor,' Officer Says.

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that Jerome Javurek, 43 years old, 3531 Normandy avenue, a salesman, be held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter for the hit and run automobile killing of William T. Bockelman, 61, of 3653 Belle Plaine avenue.

Bockelman was run down by a sedan at Elston avenue and Irving Park road Oct. 25. Javurek was seized soon afterward by Albany Park police on information given by Otto F. Meyers, an editorial department employé of THE TRIBUNE, who had jotted down Javurek's license number.

Matches Broken Glass.

Lieut. Thomas P. Brennan testified that Javurek "appeared to be befuddled with liquor" when arrested in his home. He also testified that broken glass at the accident scene matched with a broken headlight on Javurek's car. Among other witnesses were Meyers, Miss Thelma Walderbach, 1017 North Lavergne avenue, Richard Hill, 2900 Belmont avenue, and John Bapes, 6623 Ingleside avenue. Javurek did not testify. He had previously denied hitting Bockelman. Deputy Coroner Eugene Ingles conducted the inquest.

A fast Milwaukee railroad train bore down yesterday on an automobile in which two elderly men were riding on the County Line road crossing in Lake county. One, Samuel Rockenbach, 68 years old, 1022 Springfield avenue, Deerfield, leaped in time. The other, Albert Roggow, also 68, of 1051 Park avenue, Deerfield, was killed.

Sheriff's Niece Dies.

Miss Velma Dey, 44, of the Gracell hotel, 6410 Kenwood avenue, died in the Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, of injuries suffered in an automobile accident Oct. 10 near Coal City, Grundy county. Miss Dey was driving with her uncle, Sheriff Guy Donahue of Tazewell county, when he was cut off by another car, and forced into the path of a third machine.

Mrs. Bertha Berg, 72, of 2131 North Kenneth avenue, died in the Danish-American hospital of injuries received two hours earlier when she was struck by an automobile at Armitage and Kostner avenues. Stanley Grabowski, 36, of 3935 Cortland street, was the driver.

Sam Stewart, 80, colored, 1248 South Berkley avenue, East Chicago Heights, was injured fatally when struck by an automobile at Greenwood and Berkley avenues in the suburb. The driver, Peter J. Gindell, 218 Warren street, Calumet City, was held for the inquest by county highway police.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 794 persons were killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 550 were killed in Chicago where 21,882 were injured in the same period.

MOTHER OF NINE HAS POLICE HOLD ONE AS A THIEF

Mrs. Julia Harley, 1749 Adams street, widowed mother of nine children, took her son, Bernard, 13, to the Warren avenue police station last night and asked that he be held for theft. She said he was caught trying to steal a radio from an automobile three months ago and that this case was scheduled in Juvenile court Nov. 20.

Mrs. Harley also told police she learned Tuesday that her son had been absent from school for 25 successive days. He went to school yesterday morning, but did not attend in the afternoon. Late in afternoon she saw her son entering their home carrying a typewriter. She searched him and found a rosary and beads.

A trick Bernard used to obtain money, his mother said, was to steal a dozen eggs from a neighborhood grocery, dispose of one egg, then return to the store and say his mother was not pleased with the eggs and ask for a refund. Police sent the boy to the Juvenile Detention home.

DECORATOR ROBBED OF $183.

Charles Bauer, 2855 Cermak road, was driving his truck at 25th street and Campbell avenue last night when a car forced him to the curb. A negro stepped out and robbed him of $183 while two negro women waited. Bauer is an interior decorator.

CAPT. JOHN HOWE TELLS POLICE TO BUILD RESPECT

Capt. John Howe of the Chicago police yesterday urged members of the Illinois Police association to build respect for their work thru efficient and intelligent community service. He spoke at the 41st convention of the organization at the Morrison hotel.

By building the police department and earning respect, Howe said, the policeman can command wages commensurate with the worth of his profession. He denounced the attitude of communities which operate police forces on inadequate funds.

E. W. Puttkammer, professor of criminal law at the University of Chicago and member of Gov. Green's police merit board, applauded the position taken by Howe and told the convention that police can have their work taken seriously by taking it seriously themselves. Proposed pension systems and other prospective legislation in behalf of policemen were discussed at the session.

Chief Benjamin De Ager of the Moline police, a member of the association since 1901, is among those attending the meeting. Lieut. William F. Koerber of the Oak Park police is president of the association.

SURFACE LINES OPPOSE TRACK REMOVAL PLAN

A proposed city ordinance requiring the Chicago Surface Lines to remove one of the three sets of street car tracks now in State street between Lake and Madison streets was opposed yesterday by the lines' officials at a meeting of the city council transportation committee.

The suggested ordinance was presented by Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], committee chairman, who said the third set of tracks has not been used in normal operations for 17 years. Quinn said State street is soon to be completely repaved and that the city wants the "extra" tracks removed and the other two sets of tracks centered to facilitate traffic.

Charles W. Chase, surface lines' president, countered with a proposal that the third track be used to carry street cars to and from the northwest and west sides. Routes from these areas now turn back at Clark or Dearborn streets. Chase said residents of the west and northwest areas are entitled to direct service to State street, such as is now available to other parts of the city. A subcommittee was authorized to investigate the proposals.

SUIT PROTESTING GARBAGE DUMP UPHELD BY JUDGE

Judge Cornelius J. Harrington in Circuit court yesterday refused to dismiss a suit brought by 250 residents of the vicinity of Riis park, who are seeking to restrain the city from dumping garbage near their homes. The judge referred hearings on the injunction petition to Master in Chancery Samuel B. Epstein and stipulated that the hearings must be completed in 30 days. Charles L. Barrett, attorney for the Riis park group, charged that the city dumps refuse in Riis park above the street level in violation of the law, and that rats drawn by the garbage are a nuisance.

Driving to Iowa? Then Ask About Condition of Roads

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, yesterday urged that motorists intending to drive into or thru Iowa consult weather reports. Roads in many sections of Iowa are bad because of snow, he said, particularly in Carroll county, in the west central part of the state. High water still is blocking and delaying motor traffic in Oklahoma and Arkansas, Hayes said.

YOUTH SHOT IN EYE.

Victor Jensen, 18 years old, 4333 Altgeld street, was taken to the Norwegian American hospital last night with an air rifle pellet in his left eye. He may lost the sight. Walter Schick, also 18, of 2434 North Lowell avenue, told Cragin police they were shooting in his basement.

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10c and 25c.

MRS. CRERAR'S CHAUFFEUR HELD IN HIT-RUN CASE

Widow of Rich Merchant in Car at Time.

William Setterfield, a chauffeur for Mrs. Marie Crerar, 209 Lake Shore drive, widow of John Crerar, coal dealer and business man, will be arraigned in Safety court tomorrow on a charge of having left the scene of an accident and operating an automobile without a safety sticker.

Setterfield, who is 32 years old, told Policeman Edwin Ahlers that Mrs. Crerar, when riding with him yesterday, told him to continue east in Madison street after his car apparently hit Mrs. Anna Kroeger, 31, of 101 Marengo avenue, Forest Park. He said Mrs. Crerar was unaware that the woman had been hurt. Mrs. Kroeger was treated for a bruised foot in St. Luke's hospital.

Convicted of speeding for the fifth time since May 5, 1939, Ralph Carlson, 23, of 2647 Coyle avenue, was fined $100 by Judge John Gutknecht in Traffic court. His driving privileges were suspended for a year. Rudy Yanos, 26, of 2722 18th street, also was fined $100 for speeding. He lost his driving privileges for six months.

Werner Schroeder, Republican national committeeman from Illinois, will address the Republican Business Women's Club of Chicago at its meeting tomorrow night in the Stevens building, 17 North State street. Irene B. Reidy, president of the club, announced yesterday.

RAILWAY POLICE PAID A TRIBUTE BY GOV. GREEN

Gov. Dwight H. Green complimented members of the Chicago Railway Special Agents and Police association last night for the record of safety established by American railways—both of passengers and freight shipments—and related their work to the national armament program.

"The railroads of America," the governor said at the association's annual dinner at the Hotel Sherman, "form the vital arteries upon which defense depends, because if our lines of industrial supply were cut we might become vulnerable to attack. The great volume of munitions and supplies which are rolling to strategic destinations must be guarded against sabotage and loss.

"It is well that much of our inner defense depends not only upon those who operate our great traffic systems, but upon those who guard them. There is no more important element in internal defense than railway special agents and police."

Miss Jane Dalenberg of South Holland was adjudged the most charming farm girl in southern Cook county last night at a farm bureau jubilee at 12759 South Western avenue, Blue Island. She also won a $25 prize. Second prize went to Miss Louise Kuipers of Palos Park. Twenty-nine farm girls entered the contest. Farmers and their families made up a crowd of 500 at the party and prizes also were awarded to the best cake baker and the biggest liar present.

WPA LABOR WON'T BE AVAILABLE FOR AUTO TEST LANES

WPA workers will not be available for the operation of the city's 14 auto testing lanes after this year, John Szumnarski, vehicle license commissioner, told the council finance committee yesterday. Szumnarski said the city this year contributed $87,000 toward the operation of the lanes and WPA the remainder. He said the city must appropriate $476,932 for the lanes next year.

On the advice of Mayor Kelly, the committee agreed that motorists should not bear the extra cost. A higher vehicle fee had been considered.

BUICK BUILDS FOR DEFENSE

Our assignment: Building Pratt & Whitney valve-in-head aircraft engines for defense use.

MAYBE it's a little hard to picture this trim Buick as it will look on that unknown day when you come to turn it in.

There may be scars in its fenders, and use-stains on its upholstery—but the thing that matters is it'll still be going great guns.

You can count on that husky valve-in-head straight-eight to be ticking off the miles with the satisfying extra efficiency it now boasts.

You can rely on Compound Carburetion† to hold your gas-costs down, squeezing every last power-packed mile out of the fuel you burn.

There won't be any loss of easy comfort in those all-coil springs, or any need for care to keep them gentle.

As for the drive—well, there's just nothing to go wrong with a simple steel shaft encased in a stout torque tube!

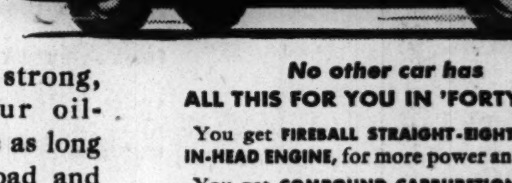
Tires? You may be through the second or third set before you're finished with any car you buy now—but those Buick broadrim wheels will see to it you get the top mileage each can give.

As for such things as connecting rods and bearings—Buick rods are extra strong, while tests show that our oil-cushioned bearings last twice as long as others under the same load and service.

So go right ahead! Buy this Buick on its last mile instead of its first. That's the smart way to buy these times.

Of this you can be sure: No other car's going to offer greater surety of long, pleasurable, dependable, service—so if you can get a Buick now, better grab it!

†Available at slight extra cost on Buick SPECIAL models, standard on all other Series.



No other car has
ALL THIS FOR YOU IN 'FORTY-TWO

You get FIREBALL STRAIGHT-EIGHT VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINE, for more power and range.

You get COMPOUND CARBURETION (standard on most models), for top economy.

HODES DISPUTES STATE'S RIGHT TO POLICE TAVERNS

Holds Power Is Vested in Local Officials.

The Illinois state liquor control commission, which recently drew the wrath of the 5,000 "26 girls" in Chicago's taverns when it announced that tavern gambling must go, has no authority to revoke tavern liquor licenses issued by the city, Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes said yesterday.

This was the gist of an opinion prepared by Hodes at the request of the city council, which has taken up the cudgel on behalf of the dice game beauties and, in addition, on behalf of the city's power to rule taverns.

Power Vested in Mayor.

"Our conclusions are that the regulation of retail liquor establishments operating within the city of Chicago has been vested in the mayor and the local liquor control commission," read the opinion, which was referred to the council's license committee.

"The only revocation authority possessed by the state commission is confined to state retailers' licenses, and the only visitation or surveillance of premises of local retailers by the state commission is limited to inspection for the sole purpose of ascertaining whether state licenses have been obtained."

The corporation counsel said the city's right to control local liquor traffic dates back to 1837. "An invasion by the state would be unwarranted and would foment chaotic conditions," he said. "Obviously the state commission does not have the personnel to police 9,000 establishments. And no licensee can obey two masters."

Explains State's Position.

William M. Devine, secretary of the state commission, refused to comment on Hodes' opinion, which he had not seen. He said, however, that the state does not claim the right to revoke licenses issued by local authorities.

"A tavern owner, on applying for a license, must promise that he contemplates no violation of Illinois or federal law in its operation," Devine said. "If that oath is broken we reserve the right to revoke the license. And without a state license no tavern can operate legally, altho it has 25 other licenses."

Two of the state commission's members have stated they consider the 26 game a form of gambling in violation of Illinois law.

CITY TO PREPARE FOR POST-WAR WORK PROJECTS

The city council yesterday voted to spend $7,000 on the preparation of plans for post war subway and superhighway projects.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], chairman of the council finance committee, said, "When the war is over we will need many public work projects to provide work and stimulate business."

He said the $7,000 will come from the motor fuel tax fund and the traction fund. The plans will be turned over to the Public Works Reserve of the Federal Works agency.

A request from Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, for the allocation of $265,000 for engineering work on plans for six similar projects, was referred to a subcommittee of the finance committee.

Sent to Prison

Judge Julius H. Miner of the Criminal court yesterday removed two convicted robbers from the Illinois State Training school for boys near St. Charles and sentenced them to the state penitentiary for terms of one year to life. The pair were Herbert Liggons, 17 years old, and Ernest Gaither, 18, both colored.

The two escaped from the training school on Oct. 11 with six other prisoners. All were recaptured. Their escape revealed to Judge Miner for the first time that they were in the school. He had originally committed them to the new Sheridan school for incorrigibles. This school is not yet completed and the youths had been sent to the institution near St. Charles.

"The public and the police must be protected," said Judge Miner in resentencing Liggons and Gaither. "This will serve as a warning to all boys sent to the training school that the courts are not joking and will not hesitate to send them to the penitentiary if they violate the confidence judges place in them by sending them to the school."

CAPT. GILBERT AND AIDS FREED IN ARREST SUIT

One Defendant, Absent, Is Ordered to Pay $1.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, Lieut. Thomas Kelly, and three other policemen attached to the state's attorney's office in Chicago were found not guilty yesterday in a $50,000 suit charging false arrest tried before Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady in Woodstock. The jury of seven women and five men was out for two hours.

The only solace offered to the plaintiff, Theodore Dalpe, Chicago furrier, was that the jury awarded him damages of $1, assessed against the remaining defendant, John R. McWhorter, former chief postal inspector in Chicago. McWhorter, now a detective in Georgia, did not appear at the trial.

"Started Whole Thing."

Several of the jurors said the finding against McWhorter was based on the fact that he "started the whole thing." McWhorter gave Capt. Gilbert information about a gang of fur thieves and requested his help in rounding them up on Jan. 28, 1938.

Along with Capt. Gilbert and Lieut. Kelly, those found not guilty were Policemen Nicholas Disteldorf, Raymond V. Burton, and Charles Prybl. By agreement of attorneys yesterday, Policeman Nicholas Deprenn and the late Lieut. Charles Egan were stricken from the list of defendants.

Three Burglars Named Joe.

All five policemen testified yesterday in denial of Dalpe's charges of mistreatment and unnecessary detainment. All except Gilbert asserted that Dalpe had offered them $3,000 to "talk things over" when they raided his apartment and shop at 4155 Broadway on Jan. 28, 1938.

Their testimony fitted in with the story told Tuesday about three burglars named Joe—Joe Tucker, Joe Randall, and "Hobo Joe." Dalpe was named as a receiver of a portion of the loot of a Champaign fur store burglary by Tucker and Randall. "Hobo Joe," named by them as a participant in the crime, is missing.

Defense Attorney Jacob Shamberg ridiculed the testimony of Dalpe and his wife, Bernice, that police had broken a safety lock on the apartment door, had drawn guns, had failed to return property, and had beaten the furrier several times.

"These were police officers doing their duty, acting on reasonable grounds," Shamberg said.

Dalpe was convicted on a charge of receiving stolen property, but the Illinois Supreme court reversed the finding on grounds of unlawful search.

WHY ALD. BOYLE HATES TO MEET TAVERN OWNERS

Ald. John S. Boyle [16th] complained to the city council yesterday that every time he meets a tavern owner he has a twinge of conscience.

"A couple of years ago," Boyle said, "the council raised the tavern license from $300 for six months to $400. The tavernkeepers say we promised to compensate for the raise by stopping the drug and grocery stores from selling liquor."

Boyle reminded the council that last spring it finally passed an ordinance banning the sale of liquor in combination stores and that subsequently the state legislature passed a law which the city has tacitly admitted nullified the ordinance.

"I move we reduce the liquor licenses back to where they were before the increase," Boyle said. His motion was referred to the council license committee.

TOY GUN ROBBER GETS 10 TO 20 YEARS.

Vincennes, Ind., Nov. 5 [Special].—John L. Todd, 25, of Indianapolis, was sentenced in Circuit court today to 10 to 20 years in the Indiana reformatory after his plea of guilty on a robbery charge. Todd was arrested Tuesday, 30 minutes after he had held up O. S. Taylor, neighborhood grocer, with a toy gun and robbed him of $5.

Identify Woman Killed by Railroad Streamliner

A woman killed Tuesday when she leaped in front of the North Western railroad streamliner, the 400, at Ravenswood and Wilson avenues, was identified yesterday as Mrs. Eva L. Waterstreet, 62 years old, 2110 Montrose avenue. She was the widow of Ernest Waterstreet, a former ticket agent for the railroad. A coroner's jury held that Mrs. Waterstreet committed suicide while insane because of despondency over the recent death of her husband.

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

The President and Congress.

I do not forget the gravity which should characterize a paper addressed to the congress of the nation by the chief magistrate of the nation. Nor do I forget that some of you are my seniors, nor that many of you have more experience than I in the conduct of public affairs. Yet I trust that in view of the great responsibility resting upon me, you will perceive no want of respect to yourselves in any undue earnestness I may seem to display.

Abraham Lincoln

Washington, Dec. 1, 1861.

THE ELECTIONS.

The results of the elections in Chicago and New York provide a contrast.

Mayor La Guardia of New York was reëlected with a plurality of less than 135,000 in an election in which close to 2¼ million ballots were cast. He lost two of the five boroughs. His plurality this time was less than a third as large as the one he received four years ago, when he won with more than 450,000 votes to spare. Tuesday's election, the closest that New York has known since 1909, established the fact that La Guardia's political fortunes are in a decline from which they are not likely to recover.

La Guardia's poor showing is the more remarkable in view of the circumstance that his opponent was a rather colorless candidate. La Guardia could have been beaten easily by a more resolute man, stancher and more outspoken in his advocacy of traditional American principles.

La Guardia ran as the candidate of both the Republican and the American Labor parties. Fully a third of his support came from the latter organization, which, in four out of the five boroughs, is under communist influence. The communist party itself had a candidate but withdrew him in favor of La Guardia. Beyond question, the communists furnished the margin of victory.

So far as the Republicans of New York were concerned, they were evidently intent upon demonstrating that whom the gods would destroy they first make mad. The flunky element in the leadership of the party supported Mr. La Guardia because he could be counted upon to have the right people around when royalty was to be welcomed. Park avenue's social climbers have thus contributed what they could to the communist cause and, therefore, to their own eventual destruction. The rest of the country could observe that with equanimity were it not that the communists are determined to destroy the republic as well, and are counting upon La Guardia to further their cause.

The outlook for New York is not cheerful. As for Chicago, the result of the judicial election, if not wholly satisfactory, is a good deal less ominous. Here the Democrats named seven good Republicans on their tickets and thus to a very considerable extent disarmed the opposition. If the Democrats had been less tactful in preparing their slate they could not have succeeded in putting it over in its entirety.

SO THE WASTE PAPER MAN WON'T SING.

The government finds that there isn't enough waste paper to go around and has ordered the paperboard mills to reduce their consumption of it by 10 per cent. It is indicated that further cuts may be ordered later. Waste paper is used around the house to start fires, line pantry shelves, put under carpets, and wrap up garbage. Industrially it is of even greater importance. It is the basic raw material used in the manufacture of boxes, cartons, and containers. Cardboard and building board are among other products made of old paper.

Since virtually all paper can be salvaged after use and beaten up to make paperboard and since vast amounts of new paper are being manufactured each year out of wood pulp, how can there possibly be a shortage?

The paperboard industry is now dependent upon the paper collected from large industries, stores, and office buildings and at present there is a demand for more paperboard than can be made with what comes from these supply sources. It is perfectly apparent that there is no adequate inducement for the old paper dealers to make the collections necessary to supply the paper which is needed. The old paper man cannot afford to go singing thru our alleys if he cannot realize a good profit on what you sell him.

Mr. Leon Henderson, the price administrator, has fixed the price at which waste paper can be sold. As this price is not high enough to bring forth the amount needed by the mills to fill their orders, Mr. Donald Nelson, the priorities administrator, has placed [of all things] waste paper under priorities. Henderson keeps down the price and Nelson, finding a shortage, says who may use the limited amount.

With millions of tons of waste paper all over the country, the government has fixed a price at which it is worth while to gather only a part of it. Much of the rest is being burned as worthless waste because the government refuses to permit eager paper mills to pay the necessary price to start the collectors singing.

The excuse for all this nonsense is that it is preventing inflation. Bosh! By keeping down the price of waste paper the phony economists at Washington say that they are keeping down the cost of armament. Worse bosh! If the government has it in its power to manufacture armament more cheaply by limiting the price of ordinary waste paper to $13 a ton, why doesn't it save still more by cutting the price to $6.50?

Unless the government is preparing to attack the Germans with paper wads it ought to let the law of supply and demand regulate the price of waste paper. And if it is organizing a paper wad division, then it ought to let the price rise enough to bring forth the supplies which would be needed for such a military undertaking.

The price of waste paper, like the price of nuts, determines how much is gathered. There is no shortage in waste paper, just as there is no shortage of gasoline, steel, or copper. The New Deal rascals who are all powerful in the defense setup simply refuse to permit a large part of the available waste paper to come to market. Congress has a duty to perform and ought to get at it.

THE FUEHRER PRINZIP BITES A COLONEL.

Col. Early E. W. Duncan, commanding officer of Lowry field at Denver, has issued an order forbidding any member of his command to visit the Denver headquarters of the America First committee or to attend any meetings sponsored by the committee. Violation of the order would be punished by court martial or other military discipline.

"My commander in chief is President Roosevelt, and I certainly don't believe that he is in accord with what this group stands for," Col. Duncan said in explanation of his order.

Some of his friends should take Col. Duncan aside and tell him gently what is the matter with him. He seems to be suffering from a rabid case of Fuehrer prinzip. The proposition he lays down would be unimpeachable in Nazi Germany. It could not be improved upon by the communist commissars attached to the soviet army. It has no place in the United States.

The members of the armed forces of the United States are, as Col. Duncan says, under the orders of Mr. Roosevelt in his capacity as commander in chief. But when Col. Duncan took his oath upon being commissioned he swore to support and defend the constitution of the United States, not to render blind obedience to whoever might occupy the office of President. That personal oath is Hitler's invention. President Roosevelt's authority over Col. Duncan and his men is confined to military matters. If Col. Duncan's reasoning is accepted the army becomes a branch of the political party in power, which is another way of saying that the United States receives a totalitarian, one-party government in which all political opposition to the head of the government becomes treason.

The members of the armed forces lose some of their civilian privileges when they are subjected to military discipline, but they do not lose their rights as citizens. They retain their franchise. They have the right to vote and with it the right to inform themselves on public affairs. They are not bound by the accident of their military status to support Mr. Roosevelt politically. He cannot use his powers as commander in chief to advance himself in his other personality as a political leader.

The America First committee has studiously refrained from any solicitation of membership in the armed forces. It has not knowingly accepted contributions from soldiers nor has it distributed literature to them. This is a voluntary act on the part of the committee, wisely adopted, to avoid any false charges by the war party that it is seeking to tamper with the morale of the army or navy. This self-imposed restriction of the committee on its own activities has no relation to the right of the members of the armed forces to inform themselves politically.

What Col. Duncan is attempting to do is to incorporate that segment of the army under his control into Mr. Roosevelt's political machine. It is to be hoped that he acted without authority from above. In any case, his action should be promptly repudiated by the administration. A failure to do so would give silent consent to a step toward dictatorship which cannot be tolerated for a moment in a free country.

U SAW'S OWN VIEW OF THE FREEDOMS.

The premier of Burma reports in London that he had a completely unsatisfactory interview with Mr. Churchill. He said the talk was very blunt on both sides but that he got nothing except a promise to renew the conversation after the war. The Burmese government asks for dominion status for 17,000,000 people whose military support of the British empire is demanded, just as India's is demanded, without their consent.

U Saw said he suggested to Mr. Churchill that before the British freed some of the peoples conquered by Hitler, which may take some doing, they free competent peoples in their own empire, which would require only an emancipating sentence or two. The reply to Burma, as to India, is to wait until the war is over. India was told that in the other war. The skepticism of the Nationalist leaders, when they find another flock of freedom zooming in the realm of rhetoric, is natural and realistic.

It has been all too obvious that Mr. Churchill has been allowing Mr. Roosevelt to play with pretty parts of speech as bright toys. The Englishman had an experience with another American tall talker, Mr. Wilson, and he learned how easily a major prophet could be divested of his vestments and sent home in a barrel.

Even to the most guileless of Americans it should be apparent that Mr. Roosevelt is fulminating about the place with empty words and meaningless phrases. They may take on a fateful meaning in this country, but they are empty and meaningless elsewhere.

U Saw is coming here to see Mr. Roosevelt in Washington. If he is received in the White House for a fireside chat a record of the conversation would make an interesting and probably amusing public document.

EGGS IN DETROIT.

The egg and tomato bombardment to which Ambassador Halifax was subjected in Detroit was an exhibition of public bad taste and lawlessness which had an unfortunate precedent in the last Presidential campaign. Halifax is a guest of our government, and the nation will join with Mayor Jeffries of Detroit in his apologies for the incident.

But while the means adopted for expressing resentment at the British ambassador's appearance in Detroit were unpardonable, the resentment itself was justifiable. As an ambassador he is accredited to the government, not the people of this country. Propriety and long usage, based on the soundest logic, require that he confine his representations on behalf of Great Britain to the state department and the President.

Mr. Hull and Mr. Roosevelt would be highly indignant if a German diplomat undertook to address the business men or armament workers of Detroit, yet in the present state of formal diplomatic relations the German might do so without offending propriety any more than Halifax did. The Halifax statements in Detroit were innocuous enough, but his very appearance there was so patently designed to influence public opinion on a vital question which the American people alone have the right to decide that it constituted impertinence.

A veteran sports writer, speaking of recent deaths from heart disease at football games, said: "I don't want to drop off the vine that way, but I wish I could get that kind of a thrill out of my Saturday afternoons in the press box." He confessed that his last spasm of emotional excitement was when Gabby Hartnett hit his famous last minute home run in the gloaming, to win a championship for the Cubs, in September, 1938.

We gave this important bit of news to the world several years ago, but Northwestern needs cheering up, so we will repeat: It is Dr. John H. Watson. His wife, however, was absent-minded [see "The Man with the Twisted Lip"], and referred to him as James.

AUTUMN BONFIRE.

I looked again, before I went to bed,
And saw the living core still burning red
Across the dark; and smoke above the trees
Climbed in a ladder to the Pleiades
As if these sodden leaves, which in July
Were spread like one green tent against the sky,
Now carried into undiscovered space
A last description of the summer's grace.

And in the morning, making for the train,
Stiff from the rake, I saw my leaves again,
Still smouldering, and from the frosty earth
Still climbed the smoke of sun, and peace, and mirth.

Inside Story of the Cornhusk Mattress.

If there is not a cornhusk mattress in some museum in this country, I am afraid a valuable bit of Americana will be forever lost.

If you want to capture a cornhusk mattress you must first go out into the cornfield and pick a triple box of corn, which you do in the customary way except that you do not peel it until you get to a spot where you can save the peelings. Then you dry the cornhusks, get yourself some "ticking" and make a big sack the size of a bed, and put the cornhusks in it, leaving a permanent opening in the middle of the sack, with buttons to close it when in use.

The hole in the sack is used in stirring up the cornhusks each morning, when they are firmly matted down. The technique of this "stirring up" is simple. You lean as far over the bed as you can without toppling over, then you unbutton the mattress and grab as far as you can toward each end of the bed inside the mattress and bring the hands together in the middle. You do this as long as you can stand the dust.

If a mouse jumps out while you are doing this, do not be afraid, but admire the mouse for his discrimination. A cornhusk mattress is something a mouse can understand. To a mouse it smells like something it is accustomed to eating, and as if it might be a suitable spot to start light housekeeping and to bring up a family.

A cornhusk mattress crackles engagingly when you jump into it and it smells nice, too, and maybe a mouse would prefer it, but I don't think I am a mouse and I prefer a good inner springer.

(Men About Town.)

The Janitor's a frugal soul
Who spends his winters saving coal;
He keeps the building clean and neat
And utterly devoid of heat.
Whenever you've a piece to speak
About the hall lights or a leak,
He can't be found. (Unless you try

But 'long about the break of day,
Quite suddenly to your dismay,
He bangs on pipes with might and main
And generally raises cain.
You'd think the heat was always on,
The way he burns folks up each dawn.

KEEPING UP RESISTANCE MAY AVERT INFLUENZA.

LET us hope that the colder season will not bring too many cases of influenza. This old world is not in position to fight an epidemic such as was experienced in 1918-'19.

Despite the fact that prostration is so marked, the condition, as a rule, is not serious—if it is properly managed. Every 25 to 30 years, however, it seems to gather momentum and sweep across the land rapidly, leaving destruction in its wake. It behooves each of us, therefore, to maintain reserve at a high level, which is the best safeguard against this treacherous malady.

The cause is an invisible virus which, in itself, may not be particularly dangerous. The trouble is that we all harbor bacteria within the nose and throat. When vitality becomes depressed because of the original invader [a virus], other organisms—such as the staphylococcus, streptococcus, and pneumococcus—may multiply in great profusion. Thus it is that from a head cold of seemingly little importance, the "bugs" may push within the sinuses or downward along the breathing channels. For example, the start may be a relatively simple ailment, but within a few days—if the warning is ignored—pneumonia may be in the saddle.

How does the disorder begin? There is usually a chill or chilly sensations, with headache, slight fever, and considerable weakness. Pains thruout the body are characteristic, some patients remarking, "My bones ache."

Quite in contrast with the average cold, the temperature rises rapidly to 102 or even 104 degrees. There may be little or no nasal discharge altho the throat may feel raw. At the outset, the cough is hacking in character and is unaccompanied by sputum. The face is flushed, the eyes congested, and an examination of the back of the throat may reveal tiny, reddish spots. If the physician makes a blood count the white cells will be found normal or slightly reduced in number.

It goes without saying that good nursing is highly essential. This demands rest in bed, mild sedatives for pain, a soft diet, and ample sleep. During the acute stage, it is extremely important that fluids be increased by generous amounts—at least twice the quantity which is used ordinarily. This has the advantage not only of diluting but of actually washing away toxins.

Rinsing the mouth and gargling deep within the throat will prove soothing and serve as an aid in preventing involvement of the sinuses and the middle ear spaces. If all goes well, four or five days will wind up the episode, altho the patient should not try to rush convalescence. Ten days in bed may be necessary.

Sulfanilamide and its derivatives offer no help against the early manifestations. On the other hand, we have no group of drugs quite so valuable should pneumonia or other complications arise.

Is there any vaccine which will protect us against this occasionally disastrous illness? None thus far prepared has been effective, altho a recent announcement by Horsfall and others leads to the hope that a potent remedy will be available shortly. Until a thoroly accepted preparation is ready for the market, there is no justification in wasting time or money in measures of this type.

The least we can do is to avoid contact with those who are afflicted. Should the disease become common in the neighborhood, we can keep away from crowded places where the air may have become charged with this virus.

DEBATING PEACE OR WAR.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—How many days of discussion will the members of the United States senate consider the peace of the nation is worth? Time will tell.

How many days of debate will senators consider the lives of the seamen ordered to sail into belligerent ports are worth? Time will tell.

How many days would senators debate if their sons were to be the first seamen on the first ship loaded with munitions to sail for a belligerent port?

Time will never tell. Miss F. B.

OPERA TICKETS.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—This is a protest against what I consider the "dirty" deal. I am referring to the sale of opera tickets. I read the announcements of the forthcoming operas in the paper on Saturday, and today I went down to purchase three tickets [the advertised $1.25 and the .83 cent], but I was told that these tickets were sold out two or three weeks ago and all the seats left were $2.75.

After people work all day and go over to get tickets in the cheaper brackets and are notified that they are all sold out [and at that several weeks back] there is something rotten in Denmark. And at that they are not courteous about telling you they are sold out.

We in the navy are fully cognizant of the real effort that is required to manage the many civilian activities that we were aware of thruout the 9th naval district.

TRIBUTE TO A ROTC BOY.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—The death of Lieut. W. P. Robinson, who was killed in the naval bomber crash, was a shock to all of his friends. Lieut. The Fenger ROTC will always remember him as a truly great soldier.

THE GAMBLING PROFITS.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Your fearless exposure of gangland's gambling profits prompts this my first letter to any newspaper. The cold figures show annual profits that stagger the imagination of even those who have daily witnessed their ones, fives, and tens being stuffed into the slots of the blackjack tables, exchanged for chips at the crap games, or handed over for tickets on "also rans" at the horse race windows.

How long will "them places" stay closed? Perhaps as long as Chicago appreciates the efforts of a newspaper in focusing attention on a menacing civic sore.

MORE TVA SINKHOLES.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 1.—Apropos of your editorial on the TVA in today's Tribune, it was well known long ago that the rivers in the part of the country where the TVA was built are full of "sinkholes." I have been told that in some of the places they had to drive concrete piles when they were building the dam. The underground in Tennessee and Kentucky is full of caves and the water in that part of the country seems to disappear. Even after heavy rains you can see by marks on the river banks that the water has dropped several feet.

We look more to The Tribune for our defense than to any other paper to which we subscribe. Newton Todd.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

Chicago, Nov. 4.—A few days ago I sent in a letter on the loss by death of over 300 of our finest young men, members of the various aviation services.

We must prepare, of course, for possible war, but flying in bad weather can be reserved until it is absolutely necessary. Somebody is responsible and it should weigh on their minds.

EACH ENEMY ONE BY ONE.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 3.—Hitler's device of getting each nation one by one is not exactly a new one. There was an excellent example of this idea back in the 15th century, when Archbishop Kennedy, chief advisor to his king, King James II. of Scotland, told him how to defeat his enemies, the too powerful lords of Scotland. [The story is to be found in Lindsay of Pitscottie's "Chronicles of Scotland," Vol. 1]:

"This holie bishop showed one similitude [we would call it an example or allegory] to the king, which might bring him to experience how he might invade against the Douglas and the rest of the conspirators. This bishop took forth one great sheaf of arrows knit together very fast, and desired him to put them to his knee and break them.

"The king said it was not possible because they were so many and so well fastened together. The bishop answered, it was very true, but yet he would let the king see how to break them all; then said to the king, 'You must do with the conspirators in this manner, and their accomplices that are risen against you, who are so many in number, and so hard knit together that you cannot break them together. But be so practical as I have shown you by the similitude of their arrows, that is to say you must conquer and break lord by lord, by themselves, for you cannot deal with them all at once.'" Katharine Hayden Salter.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—A bond broker from Minneapolis today told the senate privileges and elections committee he paid fees to Sen. William Langer [R., N. D.] and Langer's attorney for aid on a state bond transaction shortly before Langer assumed the governorship of North Dakota in 1937.

V. W. Brewer.

The committee is hearing charges that Langer is unfit to hold his senate seat, to which he was elected last November.

The broker, V. W. Brewer, said he paid Langer $610 in December, 1936, for advice concerning the projected sale of North Dakota county refunding bonds to the North Dakota Workmen's Compensation bureau and other state agencies. Langer took the oath of office as governor the following January.

Friend Gets $18,000 Fee.

Brewer also told the committee he paid a fee of $18,000 to Hugh McCullough, described as a close friend and attorney for Langer, for services in connection with bond transactions. Brewer said McCullough "had been helpful" in arranging bond transactions.

Brewer was engaged at the time in buying municipal and county bonds in the state and reselling them to state trust funds.

Brewer said Langer had an interview with officials of one state department regarding the particular transaction for which Brewer paid the $610 fee. He said Langer was practicing law at the time.

Another witness, Gregory Brunk, Des Moines attorney, told the committee Langer had been paid the $610 to introduce his business associate, Brewer, to state office holders and "factions without whose coöperation business couldn't be done."

Bought Unseen Langer Land.

Brunk said he and Brewer at the time were completing a sale of North Dakota county bonds to the state agencies. Langer, according to Brunk, rendered "technical advice" and introduced him to officials.

Brunk disclosed during his testimony that he had bought 3,510 acres of land from Langer for $56,000 in 1937 "sight unseen" and declared that he was unable to give the committee a "satisfactory" reason for the purchase.

"Why didn't you just give him [Langer] a check for the amount, instead of resorting to a subterfuge—why did you bother to purchase the land."

Brunk replied that he had sympathized with the constant "harassment" of Langer's career.

Paid $950 to Jurors.

Frank B. Ingstad, retired Fargo, N. D., business man, testified he had been ordered to pay $950 to Ernest Reich, a juror in the Langer conspiracy trial in which he was exonerated by one of Langer's co-defendants.

Ingstad related that he received from Frank A. Vogel, co-defendant in the conspiracy suit, a check for $950 due him in commissions for sale of highway machinery to the North Dakota Highway commission. He said he indorsed it and returned it to Vogel who gave it to Reich.

CITY TO ACCEPT $563,734 FROM SURFACE LINES

City Controller Robert B. Upham was authorized yesterday to accept $563,734 from the Chicago Surface lines in settlement for bills incurred from December, 1938, thru August, 1941. The council approved the settlement when Upham showed that the surface lines owed the city $996,274 for snow removal and street cleaning during that period and that the city owed the company $432,490 for electric power used to operate and illuminate bridges and to illuminate street car safety islands. Upham said the money will be used to pay off old bills.

A New Educational Game! FREE to Everyone!

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE WILL PAY $10,000 IN CASH PRIZES!

★ ★ Try your skill! You may win as much as $1,000 in cash! Simply name the State Capitals represented by puzzle pictures printed each day in the Chicago Daily Tribune. No subscriptions to solicit. Nothing to buy. Nothing to sell!

This offer is free to men, women, boys, and girls everywhere. It does not matter where you live. Start with the first four pictures printed above. Then continue the series tomorrow.

★ FOLLOW THESE RULES ★

Who Can Enter? This offer is open free to everyone—men, women, boys, and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families. It does not matter where you live.

What to Do? Each week-day a Puzzle Picture representing one of the State Capitals of the United States will be printed in the Daily Tribune until 48 have appeared. You are invited to cut out these Puzzle Pictures, solve them, name the State Capitals they represent, and give the names of the States. Hold all puzzles until you have the complete set of 48. Do not send them in separately. You may send facsimiles if you wish. It is not necessary to solve ALL correctly. Prizes will be paid for entries ranking highest.

Where to Send? Mail your entry by First Class Mail to "State Capitals," Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. With your entry send a letter, giving your name and address, and stating in 50 words or less the name of your favorite State—the one you like for your home and tell why you like it best. Letters will be considered only if two or more persons submit equally correct solutions to the puzzles; in which event, judgment will be based on sincerity and originality. Entries must be in by midnight one week after the last picture has been published.

No extra consideration will be given to elaborate entries. Therefore make your entries simple. Accuracy is the prime requirement.

Judgment: Entries will be judged by a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree to accept the judges' decisions as final. 728 Cash Prizes, totaling $10,000, will be paid to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named, complete sets of puzzles in accordance with these rules. (See Prize List.) No one shall be entitled to more than one prize. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid.

In fairness to all, the Chicago Tribune cannot engage in correspondence on this subject.

ORDERS TEACHER TO PAY HUSBAND WEEKLY ALIMONY

Judge Says Womanhood Is No Exemption.

Mrs. Marie Cummings, 40 years old, a teacher at the Mary Lyons school, was ordered by Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday to pay her estranged husband, Cecil J. Cummings, $7 a week temporary maintenance while his bill for separate maintenance is pending.

Judge Desort said that testimony had shown that Cummings, who is 39 and lives at 2738 Pine Grove avenue, needed the money, and that Mrs. Cummings had supported him.

Judge Cites Law.

"Illinois law does not permit differentiation between a man and a woman in cases like this," the judge said.

Mrs. Cummings, who lives at 5471 Division street, commented: "That $7 a week will just about supply him with his usual 10 beers a day."

Cummings testified under questioning of his attorney, Paul Pomeroy, that Mrs. Cummings evicted him last March 30, and went to Reno, Nev., where she obtained a divorce.

Given Spending Money.

She had spent $2,243 on his support, Cummings said, including $100 a month spending money. He is unable to work because of a heart ailment, he added.

He asks that the Reno divorce be set aside on the ground that as an Illinois resident Mrs. Cummings cannot legally obtain a "foreign" divorce. Illinois courts repeatedly have set aside Nevada divorces.

The civil engineer's suit is one of the few in Cook county in which a husband has asked that his estranged wife be ordered to pay for his support.

TRAIN-AUTO CRASH KILLS GIRL.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 5 [Special].—Jacqueline Burtker, 18 year old business school student who was to have had a prominent rôle in a school play tonight, was killed at a crossing today when a Pere Marquette passenger train hit the automobile in which she was riding. Charles L. Brady, 22, an engineer with WJIM, local commercial radio station, who was driving, was seriously injured.

Asks Alimony

MRS. MYRTLE MAC NEIL.

Altho Dr. John E. Lotspiech of 2308 East 70th place won a $25,000 judgment for injuries sustained in a fall in the building at 2376 East 71st street, where the physician's office is located, he is $738 in arrears on support payments to his divorced wife, the wife's attorney, Frank Teed, told Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday.

The physician's former wife, Mrs. Myrtle Lotspeich MacNeil, of 7936 Paxton avenue, is seeking to have Dr. Lotspiech ruled in contempt.

Teed told the court the couple was divorced in 1936 and the former Mrs. Lotspiech was awarded $55 a month support for her son, Graham, now 7. In 1938, when Dr. Lotspiech was injured, the payments were reduced to $6.50 a week, the lawyer said. Judge Sabath continued the case until Nov. 10.

REVEAL SKINFUL OF VITAMIN C IS A FAST HEALER

Doctors Show How It Aids in Treating Wounds.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 5 (AP).—A literal skinful of vitamin C strengthens healing wounds by 400 per cent and speeds their recovery, the American College of Surgeons was told today. This skinful is easily obtained by feeding extra amounts of the vitamin to the skin and the tissues underneath.

Wartime uses are reported effective. The extra vitamin does not have to be given until after the wounding, that is, this is not one of those vitamin effects that takes a long time to build up.

Test Animal and Man.

Both human and guinea pig experiments were reported today. Doctors John B. Hartzell and William E. Stone, Detroit, showed by guinea pig tests the exact steps of vitamin C wound healing.

Four days after the wound, those treated with the extra vitamin begin to show a lot of calcium in the repairing tissues. Calcium is not present where no extra vitamin C has been given. With the arrival of this calcium the new tissues rapidly lose their flimsy structure, in dramatic contrast to tissues lacking the vitamin. The latter look, under the microscope, a good deal like swiss cheese.

Four Times Stronger.

In four more days the vitamin-rich tissues are four times stronger, that is it takes four times harder pull to tear them.

The human experiments were reported by Dr. Marshall K. Bartlett of Harvard medical school. They were made on six persons with slight operations for leg troubles.

One man had the same injury on both legs. One leg acted as the guinea pig. After the first leg had been operated on without the extra vitamin, the guinea pig leg was operated on and vitamin C administered. In this one the deeper tissues healed nearly six times stronger, and faster; and the skin healing was three times stronger.

COMMUNITY FUND READY TO TALLY WORKERS' GIFTS

Contributions to the Community Fund of Chicago from the 1,066,814 employed workers who have received subscription cards will be announced today at a luncheon in the Stevens hotel. Seven hundred leaders of the 73 groups engaged in soliciting from business and industrial firms are expected.

E. P. Brooks is chairman of the industrial division and Robert A. Gardner is general chairman of the fund, which has a goal of $3,583,000.

Gardner said he hoped today's report would show the goal less than a million dollars away. Previous reports gave a total of $2,179,591 contributed.

FLOOD SWEEPING ON LITTLE ROCK; TRAIN WRECKED

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 5 (AP).—The crest of high water in the Arkansas river bore down on the populous Little Rock district tonight as western Arkansas continued to wrestle with inundation caused by the greatest volume of water recorded in the river since 1833.

The wreck of a train carrying flood fighting supplies up the valley, and failure of anther levee between Fort Smith and Little Rock tangled communications. The train, a 21 car freight hauling sandbags and other levee bulwarking material, ran into a string of parked boxcars near Conway, overturning part of its load. The crew escaped. The damage was estimated at $100,000.

At Little Rock backwaters crept up low lying streets and suburbs.

KIWANIS OFFICERS OF U. S., CANADA IN SESSION HERE

One hundred officers of Kiwanis International from the United States and Canada are attending a four day meeting in the Chicago Towers. At the opening luncheon yesterday Charles S. Donley, Pittburgh, Pa., international president, welcomed 29 governors elect and other officers who will plan the Kiwanis program for 1942. James P. Neal, Olympia, Wash., and Harold M. Diggon, Vancouver, B. C., chairmen of the public affairs committees, will speak this morning.

THE CAST.

Randolph Haven	Robert Young
Norma Haven	Ruth Hussey
Dr. Ladislaus Milic	Felix Bressart
Eric Santley	Lee Bowman
Johnny Branigan	Sheldon Leonard
Cookie Farrar	Sam Levene

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Remember the good old days when we said that people and things had "IT"? Well—that's what "Married Bachelor" has. "It!" Which to me conveys infinitely more than "oomph."

This film is on the order of the Myrna Loy-Bill Powell young-married opuses. And I hereby announce with no buts or ifs that in Miss Hussey and Mr. Young you find a team quite able to hold their own with the Loy-Powell combination.

The Havens are on the run as the picture opens. You learn from the lips of Norma Haven that they are ALWAYS on the run—and that she doesn't like it. She wants Randolph to stop being a fake promoter of schemes that attract the unfavorable attention of the law; to settle down and be a nice, reliable home boy.

Randy promises faithfully. . . . The little woman sets out to buy furniture. For SHE thinks HE is now connected with a law abiding collection agency. In reality the naughty boy has fallen for a bookie scheme. . . . When the wrong horse wins he and his partner are at the mercy of the big underworld king, Brannigan, who wants his 17,000 "fish" and wants 'em quick!

WU WU!

Shall I tell you how the benedict becomes a bachelor—"author" of a book that brings women swarming about him like flies and is responsible for his publisher fluttering around Norma like a bee about a honeysuckle vine?

Shall not!

Shall I tell you about the radio angle? Heaven's, NO!

As for the gangland lingo which seasons the dialog with the lustiest of humor—I'd adore to repeat some of that, but I COULDN'T. My tongue curls up with dismay at the thought of trying. . . . But every time Brannigan opens his mouth is circus day for you. Furthermore——

You think Miss Hussey is the loveliest thing you ever saw, and probably envy Mr. Haven no end, if you're a man. . . . If a woman, you gaze upon Mr. Young with fond consideration and make mental note of Mr. Bowman's manly charm. . . . As for Sam Levine and Felix Bressert—are THEY two for your money! They ARE! Grand cast!

As you have guessed by now—I guess—the piece has practically everything.

I like!

You'll like—I KNOW!

"MOB TOWN."

Produced by Universal.
Directed by William Nigh.
Presented at the Oriental.
Featuring: Billy Halop, Dick Foran, Anne Gwynne, Huntz Hall, Gabriel Dell, Bernard Punsly, Samuel S. Hinds, Darryl Hickman, Victor Killian, Truman Bradley.

This is a typical "Dead End Kid" drama with the kids a bit older. . . . There's a slightly different slant to the story for, this trip, the lads become "Police Officers' Buddies." . . . Especially buddy conscious is their leader [Billy Hallop] until he discovers the officer [Dick Foran], who's his sister's fiancé, is the cop who "got" the ruffian brother who had been his hero.

Go on from here, pliss, with the picture.

Crocheted Bed Socks

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

The invalid with faulty circulation will welcome this delightfully warm and comfortable crocheted bed sock. It is a perfect fit and suitable for any size foot. From this same pattern, with a change of hook and wool, one may make an ideal bootee for the infant. It is seldom that one finds such a perfect bed sock, which may be made in half an hour, one pair in an hour. Think of how many such gifts may be made in one day!

For instructions in crocheting the bed socks and infant's bootees, No. 402, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Universal day—Plans should be those which can be changed at a minute's notice.

November—I don't need to point out that during the World war the month of November was prominent. We have an observation this month of that portentous Nov. 11 of another war. Evidently, this war is all part of the other for it seems tied to it by so many of the same numbers and significant dates. It was at 11 o'clock that the armistice came and so we have another 11, with the month an 11, and the day an 11. In the present war we have noticed that men with names which add to an 11 or 22 have been prominent and all of them have been of the dictator type. An eight or 22 which is undeveloped [when these numbers represent the name or birthpath] is usually a bully, and the destructive side of eight brings out tyrannical tendencies.

Would you like to know your own personal numbers for each day of the coming year? Follow directions on the coupon below and send for complete calendar with daily, monthly, and yearly guide for 1942. Send 5 cents extra if you want balance of 1941.

Tale Telling Ruining This Love Affair

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"My family has been urging me to meet, and go out with, a certain girl for a long time. Finally, about a year ago, I met the girl and we started going steadily because we liked each other very much.

"A few weeks ago I met some fellows who used to know this girl and take her out, and they didn't talk very nicely about her. I didn't believe them, so when I next saw the girl I told her what had been said about her, and asked her if the stories were true. She didn't deny, nor did she affirm, the tales. She just looked me in the eye and said: 'Believe them or not, you dumb bozo.'

"My brother, with whom I am in business, doesn't like this girl and swears there'll be trouble between us if I marry her. I don't want to have any trouble with my brother, as he has been decent to me, yet I care a great deal for the girl, and neither of us is young and the girl did care for me, I know. Whether she does now or not, after the night I told her what was being said about her, I'm not sure, but I feel that I can win her back if it is the thing to do.—M. G. H."

The girl has a right to wonder, too, if she'd be getting a prize package in a fellow who listens to everything said about her. Maybe you won't have the chance to win her back. However, it doesn't seem to us that you are in the throes of a deep and abiding passion. In fact, it sounds to us as if you let your family do your thinking for you, in which event the girl's fate, were she to marry you, wouldn't be any bed of roses. Wasn't it your people who urged you to meet the girl and court her? And now your brother's comments about the girl are being weighed. What's the matter with your own powers of discernment, your own judgment, your own wishes in the matter?

Harold F. McCormick Memorial Service to Be Held Saturday

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT seems singularly appropriate that the memorial services for Harold Fowler McCormick should have been planned for Saturday, for that is the day upon which Chicago's grand opera season opens this year. The name of Harold McCormick always will be associated with the history of opera in this city. He and his wife, the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick, were the opera's "angels" for many years and Chicago opera reached its peak during that glorious period.

The memorial services are to be held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the Fourth Presbyterian church, where most of the large McCormick clan have worshipped. The pastor, the Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson, will officiate with the Rev. James W. Fifield Jr. of Los Angeles, who conducted the funeral services on Oct. 18 in Los Angeles. Mr. McCormick died at his Beverly Hills home on Oct. 16.

All Friends Are Invited to Memorial Service.

The widow, formerly Adah Wilson, and the younger of Mr. McCormick's two daughters, Mrs. Max Oser, are coming from California for the services and the other daughter, Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard, and her only brother, Fowler McCormick, have come from New York. It is certain that the church, large as it is, will be filled, for Harold McCormick's friends are legion and he was held in affectionate regard by all who came in contact with him. He was kind and thoughtful, a gentleman in the truest sense of the word. The causes and persons to whom he gave aid when they needed it were numerous and much of his philanthropy was done anonymously or so quietly that no one but he and the recipient knew of it.

The family, thru Chauncey McCormick, a cousin, ask that all of Harold McCormick's friends who choose, come to the services. Cards have been sent to many, but it was impossible to reach every one.

Army and Navy to Turn Out in Gold Braid Tuesday.

Army and navy officers will turn out in full dress on Tuesday for an Army and Navy Armistice Day ball to be held in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Among those who have made reservations are Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Keith, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson Jr., Mrs. Louis E. Laflin, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Blair, Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, Dr. and Mrs. Franklyn B. Snyder, Mrs. Henry E. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer III., and Mr. and Mrs. Dexter M. Cummings.

Before the ball a small group of officers and their wives will attend a formal dinner, for which Gov. and Mrs. Dwight Green, Rear Adm. and Mrs. John Downes, and Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Joseph M. Cummins already have accepted invitations to sit at the speaker's table. Miss Katharine Littlefield, Miss Joan Littlefield, Miss Mary Moorhead, Miss Cherry Sue Orr, Miss Barbara Williams, Miss Betty Talbot, Miss Patricia Fisher, and Miss Nadine Kinney are among the young Chicagoans helping with plans for the ball. Proceeds will be used for the service program of the Army and Navy club.

Hunter Trials Postponed by Longmeadow Hunt.

Because of the continued wet weather the Longmeadow hunt has decided to postpone its hunter trials which were to have been held on Sunday. Since they're hoping that the ground will dry sufficiently to hold the trials within the next two or three weeks, the hunt is retaining records of the entries and parking space reservations. Should the ground fail to dry, both reservation and entry checks will be returned. Denison B. Hull is master of the Longmeadow hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hart Fisher [Ruth Page] are entertaining at a cocktail party at the Racquet club this evening for Cornelia Otis Skinner, who will make her last Chicago appearance in "Theatre" Saturday evening. Miss Skinner will be the luncheon guest of the John L. Cochrans just before she boards the train for New York on Sunday.

Mrs. James G. McMillan Luncheon Hostess Today.

Mrs. James G. McMillan, president of the Illinois Opera guild, will give a luncheon at 1 o'clock today at the Casino club for 10 young women who will sell autographed programs next Wednesday, guild night at the opera. The young vendors will be Miss Carol Blossom, Miss Mary Jane Brummel, Miss Maxine Cooper, Miss Carol Fox, Miss Phyllis Holland, Miss China Ibsen, Miss Kay Keehn, Mrs. William H. Morgan, Miss Graziella Polacco, and Miss Betty Vincent. The programs will be autographed by Helen Jepson, Richard Crooks, and Ezio Pinza.

Also on the guild's calendar is a program at 11 o'clock tomorrow at the Arts club. Count Giovanni Cardelli will discuss the operas, "A Masked Ball" and "Daughter of the Regiment," which are being revived this year.

Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine and Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr. will pour today at a tea which the American Friends of China are giving at 4 o'clock at the Casino. Guests will see a demonstration of Chinese painting technique given by Miss Chang Kwan-yi. Miss Chang will show some of her paintings, as well as those of her teacher, the late Ko Kei-feng, widely known Cantonese painter.

Children's Home Benefit to Be Planned at Luncheon.

Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, and Mrs. Thomas Fleming have cards out for a luncheon on Wednesday in the Regency room of the Drake to formulate plans for a benefit to be given for the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society. Mrs. Baur is chairman of the committee that will make the arrangements with Mrs. McCormick and Mrs. Fleming as co-chairmen.

Nine directors of the School of Domestic Arts and Science are giving a tea on Wednesday from 4 until 8 o'clock at the school, 350 Belden avenue, to permit friends of the school to see exhibits and demonstrations in the school laboratories. Mrs. Russell Cooke, Mrs. Budd Clarke Corbus, Mrs. Herrick Ross Goodwillie, Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, Mrs. Alfred H. Gross, Mrs. James B. Herrick, Mrs. Harris Carman Lutkin, Mrs. William Stanton

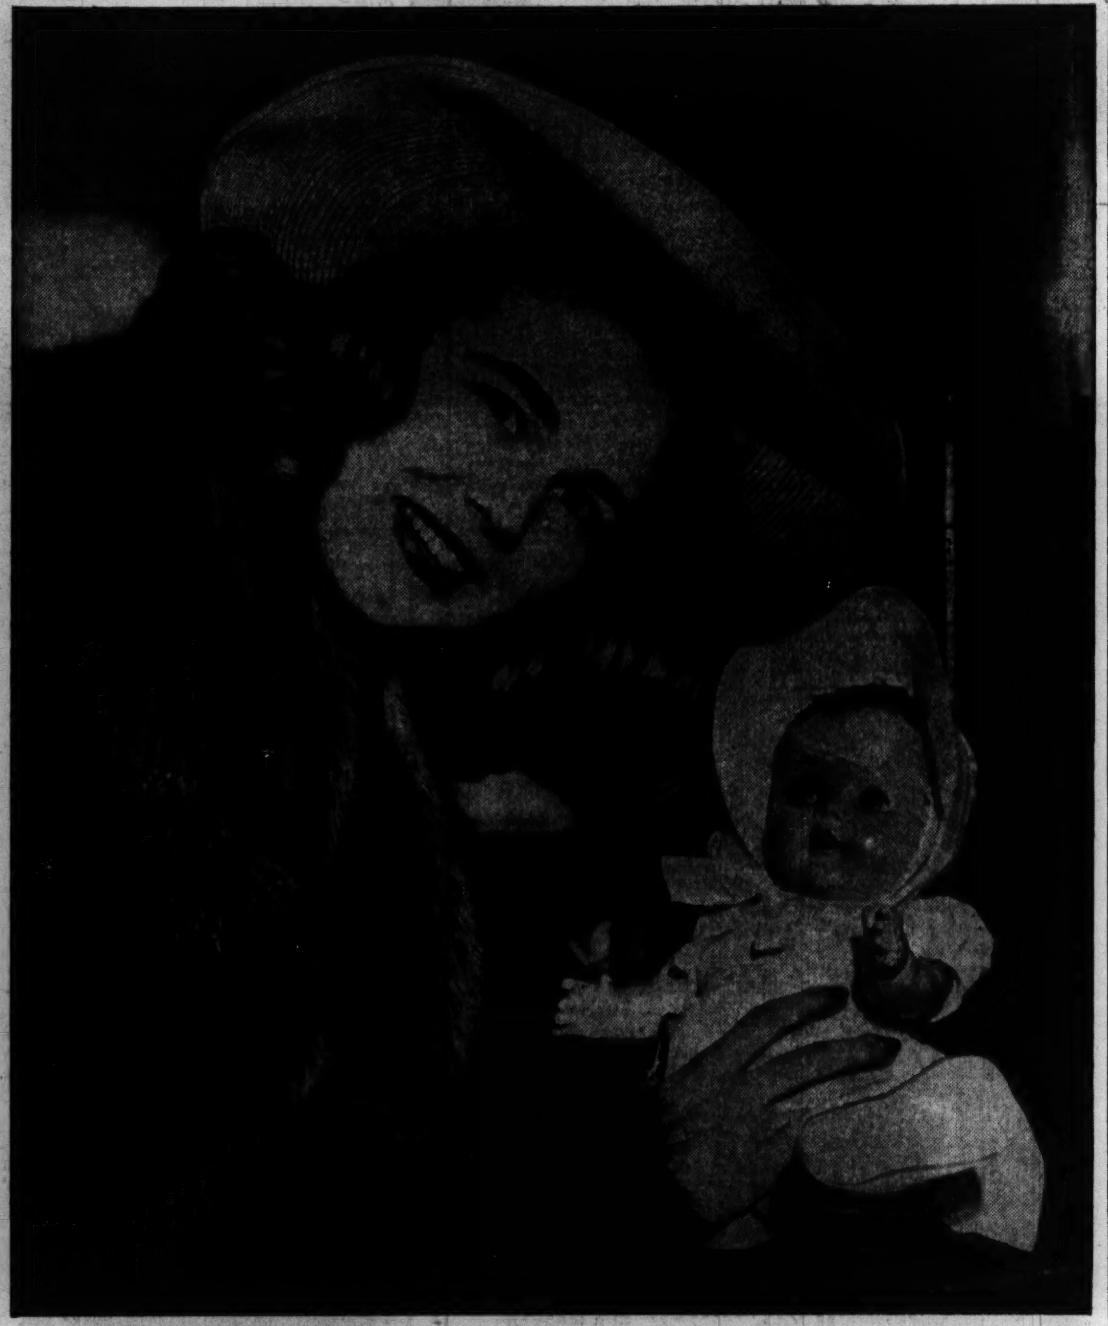
Pretty Customer at Woman's Exchange Sale



Pretty Mrs. Henry Kramer, who was Janet Bunyan of Cleveland until she was married to a son of the LeRoy Kramers on Oct. 4, was one of the several hundred shoppers at the Woman's Exchange sale in the ballroom of the Drake yesterday. It was one of the most successful sales the Exchange ever has held. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Christmas Sale Season Getting an Early Start

There will be numerous Christmas sales during the next few weeks, among them the annual Christmas Windows of St. Chrysostom's church, which will be held next Thursday and Friday. Mrs. George A. Ranney, Mrs. Bruce Borland, Miss Margaret Conover, and Mrs. H. Stuart Stone are in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Dudley S. Stark and Mrs. James O. Wood are arranging for a turkey dinner, which will be served on Thursday, and Mrs. Alden Swift has charge of a buffet supper for Friday. Mrs. William M. Collins Jr. is recruiting the waitresses for both occasions. Tea will be served on both days from 3 o'clock to 6 o'clock.

The League and Auxiliary of St. James' church long ago gave up having a big Christmas bazar, but it still holds a pre-Christmas benefit of some sort. This year it will be a bridge-tea and sale, followed by a buffet dinner on Tuesday, Nov. 18, from 2 o'clock on. It will be in the parish house, 666 Rush street.

The mince meat for which the St. James women have been famous for years is being prepared now under Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson's direction. Quilted articles, blanket covers, maids' aprons, and candies, cakes, and cookies will be among the other articles to be sold.

Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine is planning to serve tea that afternoon and Mrs. Alan C. Dixon and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson are in charge of the turkey dinner. Mrs. Killian V. R. Nicol and Mrs. Duncan H. Browne are co-chairmen of the committee in charge, with Mrs. F. Hartley Postlethwaite and Mrs. Fremont A. Chandler as vice chairmen.

The woman's auxiliary of the Wesley Memorial hospital is planning to have a two day fiesta to open the first unit of the G. Herbert Jones Medical center in East Superior street on Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 2 and 3. There will be 15 booths stocked with Christmas wares and there will be entertainment during both days and evenings. On Tuesday there will be a luncheon and book review, and on Wednesday night a turkey dinner. Mrs. Bishop O. Lovejoy is president of the auxiliary and Mrs. Ernest Lynn Waldorf is general chairman of the committee in charge of the fiesta.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Kendall of Hinsdale announce the marriage on Nov. 1 of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Lieut. Gene Collison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick P. Collison of Carroll, Ia. The ceremony took place in the Hallem chapel of the St. James Episcopal church in New London, Conn. Lieut. Collison and his bride are living in Noank, Conn. The former Miss Kendall studied at Williamsburg, Va. Lieut. Collison was graduated from the United States Naval academy at Annapolis.

Kenneth Ward, Tenor, Is Heard in Recital

Kenneth Ward, tenor, gave a recital in Kimball hall last night, singing lyric songs in a variety of languages as well as excerpts from Bach's B Minor Mass and Mozart's "Don Giovanni." His voice was small, but it was pleasing in quality except when too much suggestion of the nasal crept in. He showed the beginning of a good sense of style. As yet his work is not assertive and confident enough, for instead of immersing himself in his songs and compelling his listeners to believe in their beauty and importance he was sometimes content merely to present their notes in a correct but too objective manner. His expert accompanist was Edgar Nelson. E. B.

Mrs. Thorne's Third Series of Miniature Rooms Being Shown

Mrs. James Ward Thorne, who has shown 60 of her unique miniature rooms in two series at the Art institute, is now presenting a third and final series, American rooms, to be on exhibit there until Jan. 4, 1942. This was made known by Potter Palmer, president of the institute, yesterday.

Mr. Palmer also announced that the first two series have been donated for permanent ownership to the institute by Mrs. Thorne.

"It is our great pleasure and privilege to announce on the behalf of the president and trustees their grateful acceptance of Mrs. Thorne's offer to transfer to the institute the full and unlimited ownership of the first two series of her miniature rooms consisting of 30 units each now on exhibition in Seattle, Wash., and Providence, R. I., respectively," he stated. "This magnificent educational instrument is to be used without any limiting conditions for the benefit of the work of the institute as its officers may see fit."

Gallo Predicts Chicago's Best Opera Season

Fortune Gallo, the one man in America who made grand opera pay, yesterday prophesied that the Chicago Opera company will have this year the most brilliant season in its history and that there will be little, if any, deficit when the last curtain falls.

Fortune Gallo.

Gallo, an energetic little man whose love of opera is surpassed only by his business ability, spoke before the Chicago Association of Commerce at the La Salle hotel. He is general director of the opera company this year and owner and director of the successful San Carlo Opera company.

"There has been a blackout in Europe, not only of cities and countries but of art as well," he said. "This has caused the finest singers in Europe to come to this country and most of them are presently engaged to appear with the Chicago Opera company this season. To these artists are added the best singers we have here."

Gallo pointed out that advance sales are 30 per cent higher than those of last year.

"Despite having cut the budget greatly, we have been forced to exceed it in one item, in hiring more personnel for the box office," he declared. "This is a good sign. Another good sign is that despite budget reductions we have raised the salaries of our workers, to insure good cooperation."

Last year's deficit was $100,000, and already expenditures have been cut $55,000, he explained. "We are fortunate in that we have millions of dollars worth of scenery available and that the excellent Littlefield ballet will appear thruout the season," he added.

The opera will open with a gala performance of the "Masked Ball," by Giuseppe Verdi, Saturday night. The stellar cast will include Elizabeth Rethberg, Josephine Antoine, Giovanni Martinelli, John Charles Thomas, and Virgilio Lazzari.

Rehearsals for the performances that will make up the five week opera season are in full swing. Last night the chorus, directed by William Wymetal, a Hollywood stage manager, went thru their routine as the cigaret girls in Bizet's "Carmen," which opens the regular season on Monday.

11,000 Lutheran Women to Meet Here Tomorrow

More than 11,000 women representing 74 Lutheran congregations in Chicagoland will meet at Concordia Teachers college, River Forest, tomorrow for the fall assembly of the Lutheran Women's Missionary Endeavor. After the luncheon at 1 o'clock the Rev. Arthur A. Brauer of Chicago Heights will speak. A sound movie, "The Power of God," is also on the program. Mrs. Edward Schumm, 1123 North East avenue, Oak Park, is the presiding officer and Mrs. Edward W. Heidorn of Hillside is the chairman of the arrangements committee.

When a king, walking upon the roof of his house in the eventide, beheld a woman who was very beautiful to look upon. . . . The story of King David and Bathsheba, which has been told many times in prose and poetry, is repeated in a sonnet sequence titled Bathsheba, by Virginia Horton Rogers, bookseller's assistant in a Michigan avenue shop, to be out Nov. 13. Miss Rogers, a slight, blonde, blue eyed girl, a native of Wisconsin and a graduate of Ripon college and the University of Wisconsin, has been working on her sonnet sequence for three years, and the 80 sonnets, a poem, and a postlude in the published work have been culled from some 6,000 pages of manuscript. Such authorities as Louis Untermeyer, William Rose Benet, Christopher Morley, and Arnold Gingrich praise the lyrical quality and dramatic power of the work.

The bookseller's assistant, who was a secretary, had a job with a printing company, and now is assistant to Ben Abramson, also has completed a book about the Klondike, based on letters written by her father when he went there during the gold rush. He took a photographer with him who got excellent pictures, which will illustrate the book. Miss Rogers also is editing a book of recollections of Julian Arnold, son of the late Sir Edwin Arnold, Queen Victoria's ambassador. Julian Arnold, now 82, lives in California.

Bramwell Fletcher, the Louis Dubedat of The Doctor's Dilemma, also has a London bombing story. A slum section was hit, and firemen were busy saving the trapped and trying to put out the flames. The sound of a woman screaming and her figure silhouetted against the flames in a third floor flat brought a brave fireman up a ladder to her rescue. As he got to the third story she disappeared and he called loudly "Where are you?" "I've gone back to get my teeth," came her answer thru the smoke. "What do you think they're dropping outside here, ham sandwiches?" called back the fireman.

Oldtime Advertisment.

Sensationalism in advertising is not a recent innovation, judging from the old copy of Jules Verne's 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea that Clark Rodenbach had under his arm at the Studio theater the other day. There was an advertisment in the back of the book, a picture of a be-bustled lady on a stepladder busily scrubbing the top of the door. It read: "THAT WOMAN IS LOST TO SHAME who has no pride in her reputation, who does not care to earn a good name for thrift and cleanliness. If love for others did not prompt a wife and mother to keep a tidy house and a bright, clean kitchen, a regard for her social standing in society ought to teach her to use Sapolio in all her house cleaning work."

Q. WHAT ARE THESE NEW SLENDERIZING TREATMENTS THAT REDUCE YOU WHILE YOU REST?
A. A method of losing pounds and inches without the least bit of effort on your part. A wonderful little machine does all the work.
Q. Is there any discomfort, heat or soreness involved?
A. No heat, no fatigue, no effort, no steam. This is passive exercise, through electrical impulse. Your muscles are set to work by a marvelous device, while you lie there restfully and at the same time have an Elizabeth Arden Face Treatment!
Q. Can I reduce just where I need to?
A. These slenderizing treatments take the inches off in spots—or all over!
Q. Can I lose inches off my legs and ankles this way?
A. Yes! That's one of the most wonderful things about these slenderizing treatments.
Q. How long will it take to see results?
A. After twelve treatments, the tape measure will register the disappearance of inches!
Come in and let us do a pad-placement chart of your entire body, to show what you can expect from a course of these new treatments that do your exercising for you. For appointment call Superior 6950.

"No Light Came On"

By Alice Ormond Campbell

[Copyright: 1941: By Alice Ormond Campbell]

INSTALMENT LII.

THE REAL MURDERER.

The cupboard Horace yanked open was full of brooms. With a hand still on Horace's impatient arm Dorsey moved inside the opposite bedchamber and pressed an electric button.

No light came on.

"You," Dorsey rapped sharply. "Come out!"

The figure flattened in a corner twisted slowly to view.

"Sorry, gentlemen," mumbled Manx. "I imagined no one would be here."

Horace bulged. "Of all the dodgasted nerve! Didn't want to run into me, that it?"

"I'd no wish to incommode you, sir. Only to collect a few trifles."

"Trifles! We'll look at 'em. This way! Up front!"

Oddly crablike, Manx was sidling into the passage. His rubber soles made no sound. Horace seized him, hustling him toward the baize door.

"We'll want light on this, Dorsey. Dammed bulbs all gone phut!"

"This one, you think?" The Englishman screwed the hanging bulb. It burst into cold glare. "No need to get excited, Rentrew. He doesn't seem loaded up."

"O, yeah? Then what's his hand doing behind him?"

A hard bowler hat clattered to the passage floor. The gloved hand it had covered oozed stickily red.

Horace squeaked. "C-cut himself, has he? O, my God, a gun!"

Lips gray and compressed, Dorsey examined the small automatic he had just drawn from the butler's side pocket.

"Yes, sir," Manx muttered. "For safety—of late."

"I see. And this blood?"

"He's nuts," Horace shrilled. "Didn't we all know it? Blood, hell! This stuff's red lacquer varnish, can't you smell?"

"There, sir." Manx nodded along the passage. "I was just going to look into it. A puddle. You see?"

"Keep him covered, Dorsey! Don't you get it? It's a dodge."

Dorsey took two strides to the narrow door nearest the kitchen. It was closed but some liquid, vividly crimson, had seeped from underneath. Horace had spied it. He made a dive for the doorknob.

"Locked! He's locked it and taken the key. It is blood. I—I'm going to pass out . . ."

Deadly pale, Dorsey turned. "Manx! Hand over the key."

The ex-servant mouthed a denial, eyed the black barrel leveled on him, and slid his left hand along his coat.

"Here is the key."

The lock yielded. Stumbling across the slumped bulk of Horace, Dorsey peered into the shadowed service lift.

The wooden platform was crammed to repletion. Human cargo, wedged and doubled, protruded between its four ropes. Two bodies composed it. The head of the lower one, swathed to invisibility in a man's silk handkerchief, swung over the edge, and from this pulped and sopping mass the red trickle had run.

Motionless—inert. That whine was the ropes, creaking under the strain.

Something toppled—rustled down. It was a petunia straw hat.

A man hung over me. I didn't dare open my eyes. If he were the wrong one, well, I'd check out once and for all.

Somehow I risked it—squinting terrified from under my dome of white gauze.

"You!" I choked. "Then——"

"No more," came from him sternly. "It'll keep."

Pent breath went out of me. I slept and didn't dream.

Nurse Martin tied sea green tulle 'round my shaved spot and pulled out a bow.

"And your hair's really red, isn't it duck?" Hers was dyed.

"Who," I asked, "sent the new roses?"

"Didn't I tell you? That crippled loony of a butler! He crawls 'round every day."

Manx:

I knew he barely missed another stroke manhandling that monster, but that was about all. Two whole weeks of bottling up curiosity—and unless I stopped sniveling I wouldn't be told anything now.

"Goodness! He's here. O, I'm going, Mr. Dorsey! You can give her her tea."

Miles walked in and laid a smart little flat box on the bed. I opened it. My nightgown! And out of divine flummery fell this card: "My undying gratitude. Estrella."

"Estrella—grateful to me?"

"After all," Miles said dryly, "de Chabenil is getting only a trifling sentence for his attack on you. He then rakes in a fortune. Now drink your tea."

Two drugs—two murderers. It had sounded so right. I watched Miles awkwardly manipulating the teapot. Rumor, he declared, was all to the effect that Estrella had thrown her lover overboard.

"O, bully for her!"

"Not so fast. Just wait till de Chabenil's gambled away his last sou."

Poor Estrella! She was, I believed, just that kind of mug . . .

"It was Horace, wasn't it?" I asked, "who planted the key to the dumbwaiter on Manx? Swell! My brain does work in spots. No, I'm not going to talk about Alixe. She's dead. It's the thing that hurts most. Tell me this, tho: How did you know it was Horace and not Manx?"

"Horace's silk handkerchief, tied 'round your head. It was the same one that had been sticking out of his breast pocket in my office. Dove gray—or had been. And now he'd none at all. A moment before, of course, I'd picked up a hundred franc note from the tissue paper you left on the dressing room floor. There was a blood smear on it."

"O! So Horace hadn't had time to clear everything away."

I told him then all Alixe had said to me. It fitted the last bit into the pattern.

"Obviously," he said, "Rentrew couldn't leave me on my own. What about the two suitcases under the kitchen sink? Manx's arrival gave the cue to rush back and stow things out of sight; but as he opened the baize door the bloodpool hit him in the eye. So he had to head me off."

I had it all now, right down to the moment when Horace, rising from his swoon, hurled his ton weight on the tottering Manx, shrieking that Manx was de Chabenil's accomplice in crime.

"You see why, don't you? Only de Chabenil stood between Rentrew and his sister-in-law's money. Whoever else might be incriminated, he had to go."

"I do see—yes. And then?"

"O, a few pithy remarks from Manx. A hippo plunge for Hortense's window. A smashed chair. Horace was laid out."

That same window! No one thing at a time.

"Why was Manx there?"

"Why did he risk his life breaking out of the hospital? To find Alixe. Well, he had found her—at last. He'd followed her to the building, seen her go up in the lift. Incidentally, there's no mystery in his being able to get into the apartment. The police overlooked the key tucked away in one of those concealed pockets. He had managed to transfer it to his dressing gown, that was all.

"Yes, on the Wednesday morning Manx happened by merest luck to pass along the Champ Elysee just as Alixe was showing Rentrew some letter. He noticed Rentrew's face . . . and, well.

"Manx had noticed other things. The previous afternoon he'd seen Rentrew slip into the side door of the nursing home and remain for some 10 or 12 minutes. Then there was the unfinished note Mrs. Rentrew had stuck out of sight in a table drawer—a note to de Chabenil, making reference to their approaching marriage. No mention, understand, of the legal marriage already performed! The table went to be mended. It came back, but the note was gone."

"Horace had got it!"

"Quite so—and was saying nothing whatever. Manx reasoned well. Hortense took her death plunge. Manx started carrying an automatic. He knew that once he dropped a single unsupported hint to the police his number was up. He couldn't leave the apartment. He had orders to stay. And how could he possibly confirm what as yet was only suspicion? It wasn't a matter of his late mistress being married or unmarried. What counted was Rentrew's discovering the marriage after Mrs. Rentrew had died.

Underweight Is a Problem for the Physician

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Those of us who must wage a continuous fight against "spare tires," thickened diaphragms and hippiness are not the most sympathetic audience in the world when an underweight person sighs over her condition.

Never to have to worry about adding weight seems an ideal existence. However, it isn't always ideal. Sometimes is causes as much chagrin as overweight.

When interviewing celebrities, Hollywood variety and otherwise, I, too, often say, when a star confides that her trouble is not keeping her weight down but keeping enough on: "You lucky girl! But even she will sigh and say: "No, it isn't much fun!"

So, it isn't much fun being pounds and pounds underweight, even tho clothes aren't hard to buy and the skinny one gets in on the model bargains. Sometimes it's a case for the physician and an examination to determine what constitutional ailment is causing trouble. Sometimes it is worry, excessive worry during which pounds may be easily lost. Or, it may be some other emotional disturbance that is keeping the weight down. However, in the great majority of cases it is the diet that is wrong when underweight exists. Not lack of food, of course, but lack of the right kind of food. True, too, that when there is little outdoor exercise, not enough rest, or prolonged constipation, appetites are affected along with general health, and loss of weight ensues.

Plain, common, ordinary cranberry sauce requires 2 cups sugar and 2 cups water for a pound [4 cups] cranberries. The berries, sugar and water are cooked until all the berries stop popping, which takes only a few minutes. Then the beautiful, red, whole cranberry sauce may be set aside for the next feast occasion, which may be as far off as Thanksgiving. Cranberry sauce will keep a long time in the refrigerator.

If you like cranberry sauce jellied, use only one cup of water in place of two. And if you like, put the berries thru a sieve. If you want a ring mold of cranberry sauce, you may as well add gelatin. Altho cranberries jell themselves, they are inclined to produce a jelly which "weeps" when cut, and gelatin will overcome that lachrymose tendency. A tablespoon and a half of gelatin, soaked five minutes in water and dissolved in the hot cranberry sauce [made with 2 cups water] will do the trick.

And there's the real fruit jelly which may be made of cranberries, too. It's the kind of brightness which you eat with breakfast toast, combine with cream cheese and crackers as dessert, or put on the table in a jelly dish for service with roast fowl or meat.

CRANBERRY JELLY.

2 pounds [8 cups] cranberries
3 cups water
1 cup sugar for 2 cups juice

Cook cranberries in water until soft. Strain juice thru a jelly bag. Measure juice and then measure 1 cup of sugar for every 2 cups of juice. Heat juice to boiling point, add sugar, and stir until dissolved. Cook rapidly for about five minutes, or until a drop jells on a cold plate. Pour into clean, hot glasses, and cover with paraffin.

Orange or lemon flavor may be incorporated into cranberry sauce or jelly. Fruit juice may take the place of part of the water used. Or a half lemon or orange may be cooked with the berries and removed later.

CRANBERRY ORANGE SHERBET.

1 pound cranberries [4 cups]
2 cups water
2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons gelatine
1 cup orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
⅓ cup lemon juice

Cook cranberries with water until skins pop open. Strain and add sugar and gelatin, softened in orange juice. Add grated rind and lemon juice. Pour into freezing tray and freeze until firm, stirring once or twice during freezing.

A good cranberry and pineapple sherbet may be made in the same way, with pineapple juice taking the place of water and orange juice.

Stage Notes

Lee Sloan and Clyde Elliott, a new producing team, have taken over the Great Northern theater for the staging of several plays new to Chicago. The initial venture will be "Village Green," a comedy about Vermont, which will open on Thanksgiving night, Nov. 20. The veteran musical comedy and vaudeville star, Jack Norworth, will have the leading rôle, played in New York early this fall by Frank Craven.

The Somerset Maugham-Guy Bolton comedy, "Theatre," will open in New York at the Hudson theater next Wednesday with its title unchanged. After much consideration such substitute names as "Limelight" and "Greasepaint" were discarded in favor of the original. The John Golden production, starring Cornelia Otis Skinner, closes a six week run at the Harris theater on Saturday night, after which the company entrains immediately for New York to give two private previews of the play on Monday and Tuesday.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

By WYNN

Thursday, Nov. 6.

Today can be made the best day of this week if we keep our eye on the long perspective. Plenty of ideas and plans of action swirling about in the mental atmosphere; the problem is to select and use the best, especially concerning finances.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead continues to reward [or otherwise] your past attitudes toward other people, if born on this date. Earn good will. Expanding chances for you from July 12 on. Danger: Jan. 20-Feb. 7; June 28-July 6.

Tomorrow.

Get in good work and thinking early, then go slow on emotional items.

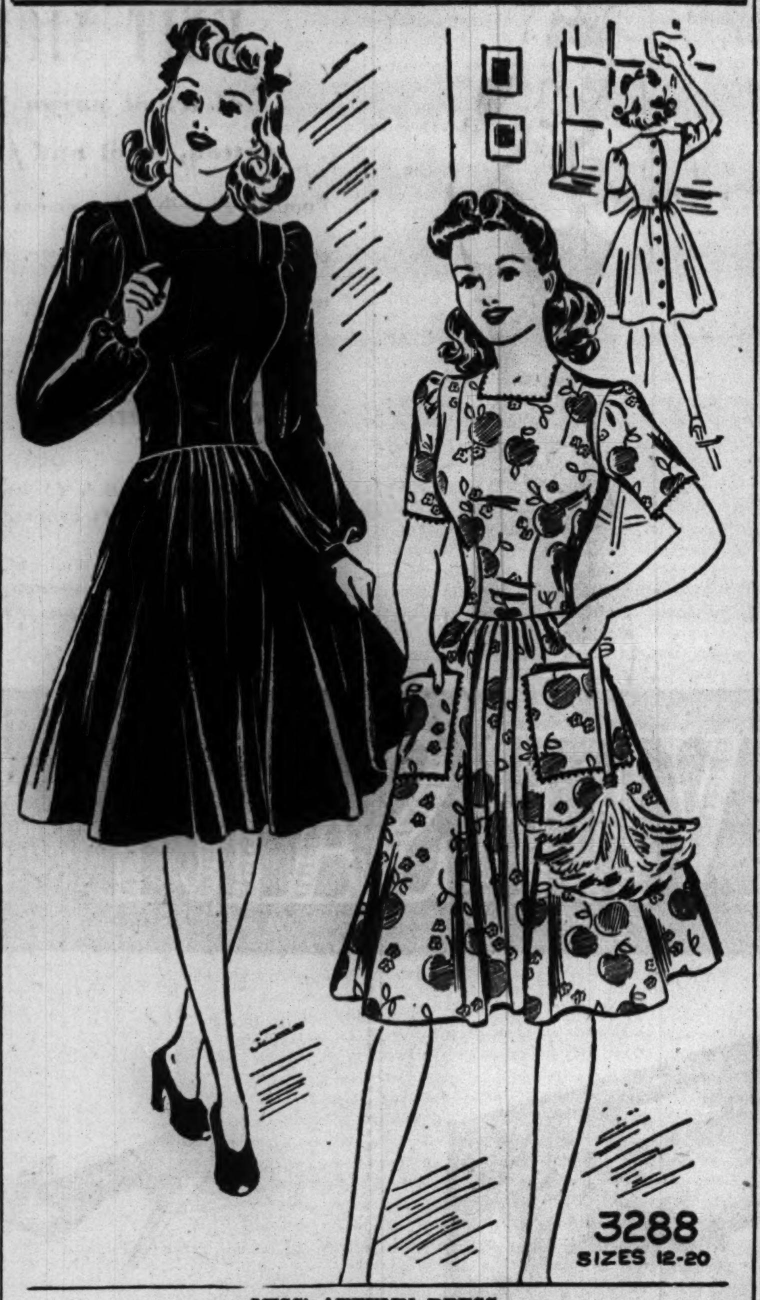
Versatile Autumn Pattern



MISS' AUTUMN DRESS.

This simple pattern is an example of designing wizardry, for it may make a simple, but dressy, afternoon or "date" frock, with long, full sleeves and contrasting collar, or it may come down to the level of humble cottons and create a house dress which is lovely enough for the hostess rôle.

Style No. 3288 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of contrasting for long-sleeved dress; 3 yards of material with 3 yards of braid for short-sleeved frock.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The fall and winter pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

School Work May Reflect Family Strife

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

The child who is unhappy or in some way emotionally distressed often reflects this in his school work. When thoughts and feelings unrelated to lessons break in, attention wanders. Sometimes children are dispirited, and easily discouraged, or entirely lacking in interest due to some emotional disturbance in their home life, and so they fail where normally they would succeed. Realizing this, we should cease deluding ourselves that our children are oblivious of emotional tension, money worries, and the seriousness of illness.

Naturally we cannot say that unhappiness, plus school, equals failure. There might be cases in which the schoolroom, with a warm, understanding teacher and interesting work, would be a refuge to a child whose home was unhappy; in fact, such often is the case. But, generally speaking, the well and happy child is likely to work well in school, and the distressed one to do very badly.

It is logical enough. Workers in school guidance often find this to be so. Suppose a child in the evenings, and in the mornings before breakfast, hears constant bickering between her parents, or open quarrels or violent scenes. Or, suppose morning means to her being nagged or scolded over dressing and eating. Or suppose her mother is ill and some unsympathetic stranger now presides over her destiny. Suppose a new baby has been sprung upon her and now absorbs the time and, apparently, the affection of her mother and the sole attention of the world at large. Or suppose she is ruled by severity and fear and punishment. Her mind then is not free to do what is expected of it.

The child who is in a normal emotional state, or definitely happy, is more likely to meet and overcome the obstacles of school life than one who is not.

What two courses of action will help you overcome stubbornness in your child? Are you vexed by your small child's habit of saying "No" to every request you make of him? Proved methods of training children are given in the new book, "You and Your Young Child," by Gladys Huntington Bevans, Tribune child training editor. Get a copy today. On sale at Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 S. Dearborn St., and Tribune Tower, 435 N. Michigan Ave. Price, 15 cents. Postpaid, 18 cents.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

We have only one disappointment in a new and beautiful cologne that has just arrived—and that's that it didn't come earlier. It would have been one of the most delightful of all preparations for hot weather use.

This is a fine classic cologne, invigorating and fresh, with the added charm and individuality of a fragrant fern perfume. The scent is difficult to describe—very cool, not too sweet, and refreshing and restful at the same time. It is one of the loveliest perfumes we've ever found. It may not appeal to all women; the scent is elusive and rather "quiet," but to us it's extremely beautiful and in perfect taste.

This is one of those light, charming perfumes that the business girl can use with great pleasure. It fortifies her sense of fastidiousness, scents her person delicately and is in such decorous—but not dull—taste that she need have no fear of being overly or unappropriately perfumed.

The fragrance clings to the skin for a remarkably long time. The fern scent is lasting. The cologne makes the nicest kind of a body perfume after the bath, and the most refreshing sort of a finishing touch. It makes the user feel as cool and fresh as fern itself.

To our way of thinking this is one of the nicest of the many perfumed colognes ever introduced. If you like fine, subtle scents you're certain to favor this one particularly.

What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. Despite North's free bid of one no trump, it is incredible that there should be a game in the combined hands. You cannot possibly supply more than four tricks, and to hope for five tricks from North is far too optimistic. The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the deuce of diamonds. Declarer, hoping to win with his own eight spot played low from dummy, but East's nine forced the king. The heart queen was led and lost to East's king. East returned the diamond jack. West, having no entry, ducked in the hope that East could later put him on lead with a third diamond. Dummy's queen won, and the spade ace was knocked out, East returning a spade. Dummy's spades were cashed, and declarer returned to his own hand with the nine of hearts, after which he cashed the jack.

Now, with only four cards left [declarer's were one diamond and three clubs; dummy's were one heart, one diamond, and two clubs], declarer led the queen of clubs. When West did not cover, declarer, after some thought, decided that the entire course of play, including East's persistent refusal to lead a club, had strongly marked the club king in East's hand. Therefore, since a finesse at this point, if it lost, would result in being thrown back in the dummy, declarer went right up with dummy's club ace, cashed the last heart, and returned the club. East took his king, but had to present declarer with the club jack for an important overtrick.

Schools Invite Parents to See Willie at Work

Chicago schools will observe their first city-wide open house next week as part of the national observance of American Education week.

In the past, fewer than 10 per cent of the Chicagoans with children in school have visited the schools and seen them in normal operation. From Nov. 10 thru Nov. 14, however, school doors will be receptively open for as many visiting parents as can be coaxed into attendance.

They can slip quietly into classrooms and sit while their small Willie, suffused with embarrassment, tries to recite. Later, small Willie can justify his stammering incoherence with, "Well, how could I answer with you there?"

Mayor Kelly has set aside Nov. 9-15 as Chicago Education week and has issued a proclamation urging parents to visit the schools, meet the teachers, and find out what kind of work is being done. The week, now in its 21st year nationally, last year brought 8,000,000 parents to school thruout America.

"The real purpose of the week," explained a spokesman for the Association of Chicago Teachers, one of the local sponsors, "is to get people into the schools so they can see how their tax money is being spent. We want them to see that their money is being spent well."

Thruout the week, special programs will be broadcast directly into the classrooms from the broadcasting studio of the Chicago board of education at 228 North La Salle street. Many of the programs will be produced by school children.

The national week, so designated by the United States office of education, is sponsored by the National Education association, the American Legion, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Its local sponsors include the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Cook county council of the American Legion, the Illinois Educational association, the Union League club, the Joint Committee on Public School Affairs, the Teacher's association, and Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools.

★ HOUSEHOLD FORUM ★

by Louise Bargelt

[Have you some favorite household help that lightens labor, is there some comfort you could enjoy? We'll be glad to pass on your ideas to our readers.]

Ruth F., Chicago: We had quite a time this fall with clogged leaders and gutters and I wonder why some one hasn't thought of manufacturing house gutters of a transparent material, some enduring plastic, perhaps, so there would be no trouble seeing leaves, etc., that lodge in them?

Mrs. Henry F., Racine, Wis.: When I want to whiten the bone handles of our steel knives I rub them with a flannel cloth dipped in peroxyde. And when our family shoe polish has hardened in the can I use a little turpentine to soften it.

Ellen M., Chicago: Now that cold weather is coming, cut a notch in one side of your clothes pole—as a help in removing ice from clothes line. And next time that you want to cut a cake while it is still hot, try a thread instead of a knife. I score cake with sharp knife across the top and then draw thread thru it, working it carefully of course, saw fashion.

New Lounging Robes Glitter Like Yule Tree

BY REA SEEGER.

Lounging life with a book, a fire plus the necessary appreciative audience is achieved with any of the super velvet creations rather undernamed as house coats, hostess gowns, tea gowns, or just house robes.

Lovely slinky velvet creations such as these, especially the flattering black models, are the last word in glamor for any one's money. Many of the newest finds boast long trailing trains, picture book silhouettes combined with long sleeves making them the most graceful of costumes for a winter night indoors. Many of them shine and shimmer so decoratively that they are splendidly equal to the most formal dinner.

Rhinestones set precisely in even rows glitter enticingly against soot black velvet creations, along the collar, the cuffs and the patched on pockets. Gold embroidery and gold braid shine magnificently along the perilously deep vee neckline, the cuffs of the long tapering sleeves and along the neckline of another.

Still another heartbreaker features such glittering decoration in a most unusual manner, high along the left side of the bodice and then repeated low on the right hip along the only pocket. There is swank and swagger in tailored creations with appliqued gold or silver cutout motifs to accentuate the subtle sheathing of the gown itself and the simply cut long or short sleeves.

And should the blacks not be the answer to your desires, see the breath taking medieval models of cedar red and bronze blue-green, looking like something off an illuminated Christmas card depicting 15th century ladies and court scenes. In these beauties the shine of gold trim is around the fitted midriff line. The sleeves are long and cut full with a straight outline, and the clinging skirt sweeps down at the back to trail the floor for a good three feet.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

EXTRA!
EXTRA!!
EXTRA!!!

Just about the greatest thing that could happen to fresh meats has happened. You can now buy fresh beef, lamb and veal that have been delivered to your dealer positively and immaculately protected against dust and evaporation of precious meat juices. This is fresh meat that is fresh—as juicy and flavorful in its fresh goodness as garden-fresh vegetables.

Here's How It's Done: Wilson & Co. takes these fine meats from their giant refrigerated coolers at the peak of their freshness, seals in all this fresh goodness with a thin film of sparkling, edible gelatine... and rushes the meat back to the coolers completely protected against dust, dirt and evaporation. No human hands touch the surface of this fresh meat until your dealer cuts it.

To get these wonderful new meats, just ask your dealer for Wilson's Gela Seald fresh meats. Only Wilson & Co. makes Gela Seald—"Cooler-Fresh" Beef, Lamb and Veal.

Wilson & Co.

"COOLER-FRESH" CAUSE IT'S Gela Seald
You can tell Wilson's Gela Seald meats by the sparkling, transparent coating of gelatine that seals out dust and dirt and seals in freshness.

HOW TO COOK THESE NEW MEATS

Gela Seald fresh Beef, Lamb and Veal should be cooked just as you always cook fresh meats. Do not remove the gelatine film. It keeps the juices in and adds to the richness of the gravy. It is a pure meat gelatine; as pure as the gelatine you use in your own salads and desserts.

Broiling and frying. I have always found it preferable to broil quality meat, rather than pan-fry it. And, since Gela Seald meats are extra fine quality, I suggest that whenever possible you broil Gela Seald steaks, chops and patties.

The Extras You Get in Gela Seald Meats

You recall the wonderful tenderness, juiciness and fresh flavor of crisp, young peas, picked right from the vine and popped into boiling water.

Well, there's just that much difference between ordinary meats and Wilson's Gela Seald "Cooler-Fresh" meats. In Gela Seald meats you can really taste the original freshness, delicate flavors and rich juiciness.

Juicy Meat Loaves

You'll doubly enjoy the meat loaves, meat balls and broiled hamburgers you make from Gela Seald meats. For you know they are made from choice, juicy, super-fresh and clean beef, lamb and veal.

Since this great revolutionary discovery has made it possible for you to get meats so fresh and clean, my advice to you is that always, when buying fresh meats, you ask your dealer for Wilson's Gela Seald . . . the "Cooler-Fresh" meats.

See you next week. G. R.

SOPHS WILL PUT KICK (VIA AIR) INTO N. U. GAME

Hoosier Hillenbrand vs. Wildcat Graham.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The sophomores, members of the class which has been having a gay old time in the Big Nine this season, will be the stake horses Saturday in Dyche stadium when Northwestern's Wildcats, who haven't been quite wild enough to satisfy their adherents, mix their football skill with that of Indiana.

Under a cloud as the result of being one touchdown shy when they tackled Michigan and beaten by a point by the Gophers, the Wildcats hope to break out into sunshine with the aid of their dapper gridiron yearling, Otto Graham.

And the Hoosiers, tho outpointed by Wisconsin and Iowa, see in their ace, Billy Hillenbrand, the man who might send not only Graham but the entire Wildcat cast into another temporary eclipse. Of course, there will be linemen and other backs in there working, but in the main the affair probably will be a running, pitching duel between the new sensations.

Without Advance Notice.

Graham, who popped into the Wildcats' hall of fame without advance heralding, has been tossing passes all over the central states for the last month. Twenty-five of his 45 pitches found receivers for a total of 401 yards, which is a lot of distance even if the Wildcats couldn't whip the Wolverines or the Gophers. He handed Ohio State a jolt with two touchdown throws. He did it once to the Gophers with a 35 yard pitch to Bud Hasse and also passed to Bob Motl for the touchdown that was called back because one Wildcat was standing on the wrong blade of grass.

Hillenbrand, who usually monopolizes the Indiana tossing job, whereas the Wildcats are likely to ring in Bill De Correvont in the interests of confusion, has engineered 44 passes in six games, 15 of them successful for 373 yards. In the Wisconsin game, that affair which terminated with the Badgers on the choice end of a freak 27 to 25 score, he cut loose with 17 attempts. Three of them were touchdown achievements. And just for variety that day he scooted 88 yards for another touchdown.

They Can Run, Too.

As for the galloping skill of the two sophomores, that too can be set forth with an impressive batch of yards. Even with all his pitching Hillenbrand still has had enough time to play ball carrier 99 times for 228 yards, a total helped considerably by his sprint against the Badgers. Graham has been a ball carrier 46 times for 188 yards.

The pitching inclinations of Graham and Hillenbrand have put the Wildcats and the Hoosiers at the top of this particular department of Big Nine offense. In four conference games Northwestern completed 29 of 67 passes for 450 yards, an average of 112 per engagement. In its two conference games Indiana hooked up for an average of 102 yards as the result of nine successful pitches in 26 attempts.

Hillenbrand is expected to get help in touchdown making from three former Chicago prep stars who also are performing well among Indiana's sophomore contingent. They include Chuck Jacoby, a back, who performed brilliantly in track and football for St. Ignatius, and Tackles Bob Zimny and Ed Bell, formerly of St. Rita and Austin High schools, respectively.

HOOSIERS WORK ON DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 5 [Special].—Warning that "Northwestern has the best running and passing attack we have seen this year," Coach Bo McMillin sent the Indiana squad thru another defensive drill today. The Wildcats' two star runners and passers, Bill De Correvont and Otto Graham, were emulated by players on a team composed of reserves and freshmen who opposed the varsity in scrimmage.

Turning to their own attack, the Hoosiers engaged in an offensive blocking scrimmage. Blocking was not regarded as satisfactory in the Iowa game last week.

AVAST, MIDDIES! NOTRE DAME IS READY TO FIRE

Irish Eleven Sails Today for Navy Battle.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 5 [Special].—The Notre Dame campus began to steam up today for Saturday's game with undefeated Navy in Baltimore. An impromptu pep parade last night was followed today by the placing of signs on various residence halls beseeching the Irish to "Sink Navy," "Beat Navy," and otherwise continue undefeated.

The Irish and the Middies each have played a scoreless tie while winning five starts this season.

Approximately 400 students, including the 100 piece band, will journey to Baltimore on the official student trip for the year, leaving here Friday afternoon. The group will spend Sunday sightseeing in Washington, D. C., and will stop at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception to place a wreath before a plaque there honoring the memory of Knute Rockne.

The squad will leave tomorrow afternoon, entraining from nearby Lapaz, Ind.; and staying in Washington on Friday.

Irish Still Play Dummy.

The regulars again had dummy scrimmage today, rounding their second straight week without live scrimmage. There will be light workouts tomorrow and Friday, the latter in Griffith stadium in Washington. The first team has played all except 20 minutes of the last two games, with Illinois and Army, and Coach Frank Leahy said he did not want to run the risk of injury in scrimmage, particularly in view of Navy's greater reserve strength.

The first three teams had dummy scrimmage on offense and signal drill in the hope that the Irish back field, which averages only 179 pounds, may be able to perfect maneuvers to pierce Navy's defense. The Middies have given up only eight points in six games to date.

They're Ready for Anything.

Today's defensive drill indicated that the Irish will have to be prepared for almost anything in the book. Barnacle Bill Busik and Howard Clark, tail backs, are both triple threat men; Al Cameron, 185 pounds, and Sherwood Werner, 190 pounds, full backs, are reported to be great plungers; and Sammy Boothe and Bob Woods, right half backs, are tricky runners. Boothe and Clark also pass.

The Navy lineup will contain seven men who started last year's 13 to 7 Irish victory, but only Bob Dove, left end; Steve Juzwik, right half, and Capt. Paul Lillis, right tackle, are back for Notre Dame. Bob Hargrave, who started at quarter back, is now playing with the second team, and he has been hampered by a leg injury of late. Nine Middies who appeared with the second team last year are again available.

The sellout crowd of approximately 63,000 will bring the total attendance for 15 games up to 955,500, or an average of 63,667 a game. The total never has dropped below 50,000, and it hit 103,000 paid in 1929 at Soldiers' field, Chicago, when Notre Dame won, 7 to 0. The Irish have won 11 games to Navy's 3.

NAVY ON PASS DEFENSE.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 5 [Special].—With Notre Dame's aerial attack in mind, Coach Swede Larson today gave the Navy football squad a hard workout on pass defense, cutting contact work to a minimum. After a few minutes of scrimmage he turned to polishing the Navy attack and the pass defense drill.

Clyde Siegfeind, alternate back, who has been handicapped by an injured shoulder, will be out of the Notre Dame game. Ted Gilliland, moved up last week from the B squad, likely will see action. Larson plans to start the same team that defeated Pennsylvania.

CHAMPION TEAM ENTERS ALL-STAR BOWLING EVENT

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Joe Norris, Tony Sparando, the entire Hermann Undertakers team of St. Louis, national match game champions—add them together with a large number of additional names from Chicago and other cities—and the list of entries for the All-Star Bowling Eliminations and match game championship tournament totals more than 90.

It is from this group, plus entries that are to be accepted thru midnight tomorrow and the winners of newspaper elimination events being conducted in half a dozen cities, that the field for the Chicago tournament in the Coliseum Dec. 7 thru 14, will be picked. The Coliseum show is being sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., with the Bowling Proprietors Association of America coöperating. Entries are being taken by Eddie Linsz, secretary of the bowling proprietors' national group, 1901 East 13th street, Cleveland.

Team Holds Scoring Record.

All of the Hermann team, which holds the record all-time high score, 3,797, are now candidates for the All-Star tournament. One of them is a sure starter. He is Lowell Jackson, challenger for the match game championship, who is to bowl Ned Day for Day's title over the next four week-ends and the opening four nights of the Chicago tournament. Day and Jackson open their series tomorrow night in Santa Monica, Cal., and wind up here with a 40 game block.

Jackson's teammates who have filed entries are Cone Hermann, sponsor of the team; Joe Pallardy, Sam Garofalo, Charles O'Connell, and Edward Rice. It is likely one or more of them will be named by the tournament committee to compete. They join such other St. Louis stars as Nelson Burton and Otto Stein Jr., in the field of candidates.

More Chicagoans Make Bids.

Joe Norris of Detroit and Tony Sparando of New York are known to all bowlers as two of the game's greatest shots. Added to their names among the new entries are those of Anthony J. Monteverde of North Hollywood, Cal., one of the Pacific coast's best shooters; Tony Schwoegler of Madison, for years one of Wisconsin's leading bowlers; Charles Kotarski, member of the Detroit team which won the 1939 ABC title; Carl Berger, Detroit, and Edward Mady of Minneapolis, the latter generally recognized as the twin cities' outstanding contribution to the list of stars.

Chicago's latest additions to the field are the Koenig Brau team of the Classic league. The entire five men, led by Walter Genter, have filed entries. The team finished third in one section and fourth in the other section of the Classic league last season. Its individuals average from 195 to 200, topped by Peter Petersen's 200. In addition to Genter and Petersen, Frank Jerzyk, Joseph Hunter, and Matt Kowalski complete the lineup.

A sixth Chicago addition is Clarence Jackson, captain of the Heileman Old Style Lager team.

Bierman Brings Bright Decade to Gopherland on the Gridiron

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Nebraska, Iowa, and Wisconsin are the only foes standing between Minnesota and a second consecutive perfect season. The odds favor the Gophers since at this time Wisconsin and Iowa, remaining Big Nine opponents, cannot match Minnesota's line strength, on which more times than not the Gophers build their victories. Thrice defeated Nebraska scarcely can expect to win this week in Minneapolis.

Minnesota now has won 14 consecutive games, and if these three remaining games are added the Gophers will be within striking distance of their record of 21 victories that began with the final game in 1933 and ended when Northwestern won the fifth game of the 1936 season.

It's Bierman's 10th Year.

This current campaign completes a decade under Bernie Bierman, who was graduated from Minnesota in 1916 and who now has established one of the best coaching records in intercollegiate football. His record is founded on meticulous attention to detail and hours of work. Bierman could be credited with the old saw that practice makes perfect.

Minnesota now has played 77 games since Bierman took charge in the fall of 1932, succeeding Fritz Crisler. Crisler coached the 1930 and 1931 elevens, then went to Princeton before returning in 1938 to the Western conference, where his Michigan teams annually have been formidable opponents for the Gophers. Minnesota has won 60 of these 77 games, tied 5, and lost 12.

Waldorf's Hard to Beat.

In 10 years only eight universities have whipped Minnesota. Northwestern leads with three victories, all won under the coaching of Lynn Waldorf. The series for the last seven years since Waldorf took over at Northwestern now stands four victories for Minnesota and three for Northwestern, but Minnesota leads by only one point in the total score for the seven games.

Notre Dame has won twice from the Gophers. In 1937 the Irish won, 7 to 6, and the following year Notre Dame triumphed, 19 to 0. This is the worst defeat Minnesota has suffered under Bierman. Nebraska has beaten Minnesota twice in the decade, the ninth game of which will be played Saturday. There was no game in 1933. In 1937 the Cornhuskers won, 14 to 9, in Lincoln, Neb., and they won, 6 to 0, in 1939. Iowa [1939], Ohio State [1939], Purdue [1932], Wisconsin [1932], and Michigan [1932] hold decisions over the Gophers under Bierman.

Played Four Ties in 1933.

Four of the tied games were played in 1933, when Minnesota was undefeated. Indiana, Purdue, Northwestern, and Michigan participated in these games, and the latter two played scoreless ties. In 1939 Purdue also played a 13 to 13 tie with Minnesota.

Minnesota's record of games for the last decade follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Tied.
1932	5	3	0

Defeats Tell a Story, Too.

The 1932 and 1939 record, of which Minnesotans are none too proud, reveal that no team could beat the Gophers by more than one touchdown. Three of the games were decided by four points or less. In these two years Minnesota lost seven games. These scores are:

1932—Purdue, 7; Minnesota, 0. Wisconsin, 20; Minnesota, 13. Michigan, 3; Minnesota, 0.

1939—Nebraska, 6; Minnesota, 0. Ohio State, 23; Minnesota, 20. Northwestern, 14; Minnesota, 7. Iowa, 13; Minnesota, 9.

A Rock-Ribbed Defense.

This again indicates the fundamental reason for Minnesota success. The Gophers always play excellently on defense. The line material is rugged and in general will outweigh any other opponent. Behind these lines Bierman fashions a back field around one fast runner, who may or may not be a forward passer, but who nominally is the punter. Paired with this runner is a line plunger.

The combination of Sheldon Beise [or Stan Kostka] and Pug Lund accounted for the great record early in the decade. In this current list of victories Minnesota has Bill Daley [or Bob Sweiger] and Bruce Smith [or Herman Frickey or Bud Higgins].

START AGAINST REBUILT SEXTET OF AMERICANS

Veterans Will Carry Home Burden.

Face Off

BLACKHAWKS.		AMERICANS.
LoPresti	G.	Robertson
Seibert	R. D.	Egan
Wiebe	L. D.	Anderson
March	R. W.	Hill
Thoms	C.	Thurier
D. Bentley	L. W.	Kelly

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Shortly before 8:30 o'clock tonight the gate at the east end of the Chicago Stadium rink will swing open, Mush March, hockey stick in hand, will hop out on the ice and Chicago's 16th, March's 14th, National league hockey season will be under way. Technically, the season won't start until Bill Thoms of the Hawks and Fred Thurier of the New York American execute the first face off at 8:30, but to the dyed in the wool hockey bug, March's popping thru that gate marks the beginning of every home hockey game and the start of every period.

The business of vying with the Americans in a hockey opener does not come under the novelty classification so far as the Hawks are concerned. In the last 10 years the Americans have been the inaugural attraction eight times. Four of the eight games ended in ties; the Americans won twice and so did the Hawks. To figure themselves better than the Americans in the last eight openers, the Hawks have to dig up the total scores. The Hawks made 14 and the Americans only 11.

Foes Have Nine New Hands.

These score sheet comparisons are traditional, but probably aren't very significant in doping tonight's match. The Hawks have only two newcomers, Alex Kaleta and Fido Purpur, but the Americans have nine new hands, not counting the resurrection of Goalie Earl Robertson, back in the New Yorkers' nets because Chuck Rayner, who succeeded Robertson last season, is now in the Canadian army.

The Hawks' opening lineup will be composed of players whom the fans have watched for several seasons, with the exception of Goalie Sammy LoPresti, who joined the team after the start of last season. Earl Seibert and Art Wiebe will be the first defense pair of the season and in front of them will be March at right wing, Thoms at center, and Doug Bentley at left wing.

15 Sunday Home Games Carded.

The only vets of other American campaigns are Robertson, Murray Armstrong, and Tommy Anderson. Pat Egan and Wilf Field have been pros for a year. Among other comparative newcomers are Nick Knott, Peanuts O'Flaherty, and Red Heron, recently sent to the Americans by Toronto in exchange for Lorne Carr. Heron played part of last season with the Leafs and during the same period O'Flaherty was loaned to the Americans by the Leafs.

The schedule, which starts tonight, lists 15 Sunday games in the Stadium and nine on Thursdays. The Thursday encounters include engagements on Thanksgiving and New Year's. The regular season ends March 19.

A crowd of more than 15,000 is expected tonight. The largest advance sale in history was announced at the close of business yesterday.

LANDIS LEAVES HOSPITAL AFTER MONTH'S ILLNESS

Petoskey, Mich., Nov. 5 (AP).—Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis was discharged today from Little Traverse hospital, where he was confined nearly a month with bronchial pneumonia, and left immediately for his home in Chicago.

Dr. Dean C. Burns, the attending physician, said Landis was in good physical condition.

Landis, who will be 75 years old Nov. 20, had contracted pneumonia while on a postworld series fishing trip near here.

Chicago Students of Illinois to See Iowa Game Saturday

More than 500 students and faculty members of the Chicago colleges of the University of Illinois will go to Champaign Saturday for the Iowa-Illinois game. They will be special luncheon guests at the new Illinois Union building as a part of the University's Chicago day observance.

Auction Hitler Soon—in International Amphitheater

Three hundred show horses are to be auctioned in the International amphitheater Nov. 13, 14 and 15 under auspices of the estate of Harry McNair, nationally known horseman who died recently. One is a roan gelding named Adolf Hitler. He is described as a "mild tempered animal."

BECKWITH ENDS TRAINING; READY TO FIGHT PASTOR

Seeks 18th Straight in Stadium Tomorrow.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Booker Beckwith, 172 pounds of punching TNT, is ready to defend his unblemished record of 17 straight victories in a 10 round bout against Bob Pastor, New York heavyweight, in Chicago Stadium tomorrow.

The 21 year old Gary fighter gave a convincing demonstration of his preparedness in his final workout yesterday in Trafton's gymnasium—five rounds of boxing against William [Moose] Kennedy, his heavyweight stablemate, and Luther Brent, south side light heavyweight.

Unleashes Full Power.

For the first time in more than a week, Beckwith unleashed the power hidden in his left hook and the result did not surprise when the blow landed on Kennedy's chin. The sparmate averted some of the sting by stepping away from the blow, but sufficient power remained to dump him on the seat of his bloomers.

Whether this is an ill omen for Pastor is any one's guess. The fact is that altho Bob displayed considerable speed and resourcefulness in his concluding drill on Tuesday, his determination to break Beckwith's string of victories may be his undoing.

Pastor has met the greatest fighters in his class with better than average success. He has been defeated only six times in 55 appearances during an eight year career, two of his setbacks being knockouts by Joe Louis and Billy Conn.

Nevertheless, if he fights Booker the way he has indicated he will in sparring matches, Pastor will suffer his third knockout defeat come tomorrow. Beckwith looks crude in spots, especially in close quarters, but he has that valuable asset possessed by all successful athletes—perfect coordination and timing.

May Slug It Out.

Because Pastor repeatedly showed in workouts against Hezzie Williams, his competent sparmate, that he does not intend to make a running fight of it, as he did in his first experience with Louis, but proposes to slug it out with the fast hitting Booker, his chances of winning are remote.

Beckwith appears at his best when an opponent takes the battle to him. Thus, unless Pastor changes his fight plans, Booker will be in possession of his 18th consecutive triumph after 9:30 p. m. tomorrow, while Bob will be a disillusioned young fellow, altho his 32½ per cent share of the net receipts should be comforting to him.

Marcellina [K. O.] Borrado, native of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, arrived yesterday for an eight round preliminary contest on the Stadium card against Joey Pirrone, Cleveland lightweight. An additional six round event brings together Jimmy Joyce, Gary junior lightweight, and Matt Daugherty of Milwaukee.

PABST GIRLS WIN 3 GAMES; TIE FOR 2D AT CONGRESS

The Pabst Blue Ribbons won three games from the Metz shoes to pull into a second place tie, a game behind the leaders, in Congress Women's Major league play last night. The first place Goransons dropped one game to the Newarts, and the Logan Square Buicks, who also are now in the second place tie, lost one to Congress recreation.

Budweisers rolled the league's high series, 2,774, but dropped one game to Marigold Arcade. The Pabsts' 2,699 was second high. Ruth Wagner of the Pabsts rolled 207, 226, 200, 632, for high series, while Bernice Menkol of the Metz five got high game, 238. Leading scores:

Sally Twyford, 538; Harriet Bennett, 551; Peg Sibley, 527; Mary Svabek, 568; Carolyn Lueder, 542; Ann Flint, 528; Laura Reinking, 528; Lee Schulz, 526; Irene Engel, 617; Lee Liepe, 569; Margaret Immel, 551; Sally Ostrowski, 534; Ruth Howlett, 531; Sara Hannblom, 570; Bernice Menkol, 581; Myrtle Piper, 212, 538; Rose Barnes, 532; Alma Orden, 527; Ella Zalesky, 523; Ethel Kelly, 547; Catherine Fellmeth, 578; Ruth Hartmann, 564; Emily Deering, 568; Betty Kleine, 564; Carrie Enders, 520; Ann Unhoch, 540; Hilda Uhlander, 544; May Davison, 571; Betty Latham, 544.

Ashland A. C. Names Team of Nine Boxers

The Ashland Athletic club has determined its personnel for first round competition in the Chicagoland Amateur Boxing league next week. After a series of bouts last night in Social Turner hall, Charles Lavine, team manager, named these boys as Ashland A. C. representatives:

Open Division.

Jesse Robinson, 112; Joe Baldassano and Joe Manjarrez, 147; Bill Morton and Ralph Manning, 160; Joe Jawgiel, heavyweight.

Novice Division.

Sam Davis, 118; Lou Davis, 126; George Wayward, 175.

Robinson, Baldassano, Manjarrez, and Wayward won places on the squad by winning their matches last evening. Jesse conquered Georgie Adams of Union park, Baldassano beat Verne Alvarez of East Chicago, Joe defeated Lou Seprodie, also of East Chicago, and Wayward stopped Jim Williams of the Savoy A. C.

Torsten Ahlbeck, lightweight, asked to be excused from the team because of a broken thumb, an injury incurred while working in a defense plant.

Meet IAC Wednesday.

In its first match the Ashland color bearers will meet a delegation representing the Illinois Athletic club in Social Turner hall, Belmont avenue and Paulina street, next Wednesday. The IAC announced its standard bearers on Tuesday.

Among other league events are those between the Catholic Youth organization White team and Madison A. C. at the Madison club, 4711 Madison street, Tuesday, and the CYO Green squad and Camp Grant at CYO center gymnasium, 31 East Congress street, also scheduled Wednesday.

Soldiers Also Advance.

Fighters from West Suburban club and Chanute field, both of which also are entered in the league, appeared in several tuneup contests last night in Cicero stadium. West Suburban winners were Johnny Levitino, welterweight, and Anthony Nasico, middleweight, and Chanute field victors were Elmer Raskie, junior welterweight, and Danny Dan, heavyweight. Levitino scored a third round technical knockout over Bill Lewis, Chanute field, and Nasico defeated Matt Sobotnick, Madison Athletic club. Raskie pounded out a victory over Elmer Grimm, West Suburban, and Dan beat Karo Hodges, Morgan Park. Francis Smith, Aurora featherweight, beat Lloyd Kraft, Chanute field.

Lane Tech, Von Steuben Win Prep Soccer Battles

Lane Tech and Von Steuben yesterday won two Chicago Public High School league soccer games. Lane Tech defeated Crane Tech, 4 to 0, in Lane stadium and Von Steuben triumphed over Schurz, 2 to 0, in Eugene Field park. Werner Ellman, outside left, and William, outside right, made Lane Tech's goals against Crane.

Lewis of Senators O. K.'d on Air Corps Appointment

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—J. K. [Buddy] Lewis, third baseman and outfielder of the Washington Senators, passed his physical examination for appointment as an air corps cadet here today.

Chicagoans Are Hoosiers Now

Charles Jacoby, former track and football star at St. Ignatius High of Chicago, now is leading ground gainer thru the line for Indiana. He is counted upon against Northwestern Saturday, and is one of three Chicago sophomores expected to see action for Indiana.

A Chicago prep contemporary of Jacoby on the Indiana squad is Ed Bell, who played for Austin High. Bell is 210 pounds of tackle.

A third former Chicago prep star playing for the Hoosiers is Bob Zimny, also a tackle. He played for St. Rita.

MOSCONI ROUTS GREENLEAF; GAINS TIE FOR CUE TITLE

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 5 (AP).—Defending Champion Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia assured himself of a tie for first place in the 1941 world's pocket billiard championship tourney tonight by decisively beating Ralph Greenleaf of Chicago, 125 to minus 11, in eight innings. Mosconi had a high run of 113. In the night's other match George Kelly of Cleveland beat Joe Procita of Gloversville, N. Y., 125 to 105. Standings:

Papyrus, Famous Racer, Is Found Dead in Stable

NEWMARKET, England, Nov. 5 (AP). Papyrus, the horse which won the 1923 Derby and later was sent to America to race the famous Zev, was found dead in its stable yesterday.

Badgers Call on Sophs to Help Defense

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5 [Special].—Worried over the Badgers' ragged defensive play in their last two games, Coach Harry Stuhldreher will try out two sophomore line men—Bob Hanzlik at left end and George Vranesh at center—in the starting lineup against Ohio State in Columbus Saturday, he announced at the close of another defensive scrimmage today. Both Hanzlik and Vranesh will be getting their first starting assignments. Four other sophomores—Dick Loepfe, Pat Boyle, Frank Riewer, and Pat Harder—also will be in the starting lineup.

The squad will leave here late tomorrow afternoon and work out Friday at Magnetic Springs, O. The following squad of 36 players were named tonight for the trip:

Ends—Hanzlik, Schreiner, Milauc, Mead, Kreick, and Lyons.

Tackles—Loepfe, Hirsbrunner, Baumann, Wasserbach, Lopp, and Ross.

Guards—Boyle, Makris, Vogds, Walgenbach, Steele, and Roberts.

Centers—Vranesh, Thornally, and McKay.

Quarter backs—Farris, Diercks, Bronson, Anderson, and Wink.

Half backs—Riewer, Ray, Seelinger, Granitz, Hoskins, Miller, Damos, and McFadzean.

Full backs—Harder and Calligaro.

65,000 TO SEE GAME.

Columbus, O., Nov. 5 [Special].—For the fourth time this season more than 65,000 persons will watch a game in Ohio stadium. Buckeye athletic department officials announced that attendance for the Ohio State-Wisconsin game Saturday would exceed that figure.

The Buckeyes spent today's practice session working on defense and fundamentals. Coach Paul Brown is far from optimistic over his team's chances with the Badgers. "They've got plenty of speed and power and a scoring punch that will cause any opponent no end of worry and there's that fellow Pat Harder."

K. of C. Softball League to Hold Banquet Tonight

About 500 persons will attend tonight's annual banquet of the Knights of Columbus Softball league in the Midwest Athletic club. William Blake, Big Nine football official, will be the toastmaster.

Purdue Hopes Dimmed by Siege of Colds

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 5 [Special].—Purdue's hope of being able to muster practically full physical strength for the last home stand of the season Saturday against Michigan State was dimmed today as a siege of colds took its toll.

Herman [Pete] Timperman, sturdy tackle who was lost to the squad a few minutes before the Fordham game because of a heavy cold and high fever, was confined to the hospital today by the team physician as the result of an aftermath sinus infection. Bob Chester and Marion Carter, half backs, both were laid off from drills due to colds. There was some hope that Carter and Chester may be able to see action, but Timperman was considered definitely out.

An examination of Kenny Smock's knee injury revealed that it was not healing as rapidly as had been expected and that there was little chance he would be able to play until the Wisconsin game a week from Saturday.

Co-Capt. Tom Melton, out of action for the Iowa and Fordham games, continued to show to advantage, however, during a comparatively light drill.

Coach Mal Elward, harried all season by a series of injuries and illness, announced that plans for scrimmage have been abandoned in an effort to get the squad in the best physical condition possible.

SPARTANS TAKE TO AIR.

East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 5 (AP).—Hampered by bad weather, the Michigan State football team went thru a dummy scrimmage against a reserve force today in preparation for Saturday's game with Purdue.

Coach Charley Bachman also had his passers in frequent action against the substitutes stating, "We'll toss our share Saturday." The Spartans' starting back field against the Boilermakers probably will comprise Full Back Bob Sherman, Half Backs Dick Kieppe and Walt Pawlowski, and Bill Milliken, quarter back.

WORK ON GROUND PLAYS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5 [Special].—That Marquette university's football team hopes to gain by ground as well as by air in Saturday's game with the University of Detroit in Detroit was apparent today from the time devoted to blocking in the Hilltoppers' drill.

Coach Tom Stidham is working players hard on the running attack, and has been devoting considerable attention to Bob O'Hagan, reserve right half back.

Bears Kick That Goal, but Score Still Is 16 to 14

Just for their own satisfaction, the Bears lined up forty yards from the north goal line in Wrigley field yesterday. Bob Snyder dropped back to the 48 yard line. Sid Luckman took the pass from center, hurriedly placed the ball in position, and Bob kicked. The ball sailed over the bar..

"We won the game, 17 to 16," chortled Snyder.

This was the play the Bears insisted they had coming to them at the finish of their game Sunday with the Green Bay Packers after Bill Osmanski had raced to the Packers' 40 yard line.

Yesterday's kick, tho, does not change the final score, which still stands at 16 to 14 for the Packers.

CANADIENS GET BRUIN FORWARD HELD IN CANADA

Boston, Mass., Nov. 5 (AP).—The transfer of Terry Reardon, one of the Boston Bruins' star forwards, to the Montreal Canadiens for the National Hockey league season was announced tonight by President Weston Adams.

Reardon will be unable to leave Canada this season because of passport difficulties. As a result the Bruins have agreed to permit him to play in all of the Canadiens' home games in Montreal as well as the four they have scheduled with the Maple Leafs in Toronto.

In return the Canadiens turned over the current contract of Paul Gauthier, their alternate goalie now playing for Washington in the American Hockey league. The Bruins, however, will call upon Gauthier only if Frankie Brimsek, their regular goalie, is sidelined by injuries.

PICK DATES, SITES FOR 4 WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNEYS

The Women's Western Golf association yesterday announced the dates and sites of its four major 1942 tournaments. The association's open meet will be played June 22-27 at the Elmhurst Country club. The Western Junior will be held July 13-17 at the Town and Country club, St. Paul, Minn., and the association's 72 hole medal play Derby set for July 10-13 at the Sunset Ridge club. The Western's Closed tournament will be held Oct. 26-31 at San Antonio, Tex.

LOOK OUT! BEARS ARE MAD—EVEN AT THEMSELVES

And an Ill Wind Blows for Future Foes.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Chicago Bears are mad. Not mad at anybody, tho, except themselves.

It's November, 1940, all over again. Just like after the Washington Redskins beat them, 7 to 3. That defeat rankled so much that a few weeks later they went out and whipped the Redskins, 73 to 0, for the National league championship.

That 7 to 3 loss was their last until Sunday when the Packers came to town and cut the Bears down, 16 to 14.

The fact that light heartedness has been succeeded by quiet determination does not augur well for the champions' future opponents, particularly the Cleveland Rams, who will come to Wrigley field Sunday.

A Long, Hard Road.

This will be just like starting over with the Bears, and if they do bounce back from Sunday's defeat, they very likely will have to play seven more games to retain their title. They have five regularly scheduled games left. If they win these and the Packers take their three remaining contests, the two will meet for the western title. Then, if the Bears are victorious, there will be a seventh game, with the eastern winners as their opponents Dec. 21 in Wrigley field.

And that's not all. If the Bears win they will play the National Football league All-Stars in Los Angeles late in December. If all this comes to pass, the Bears, counting six exhibition games played last August and September, will have completed a 20 game schedule.

So it's still a long, long road for the Bears and Packers at a time when college football schedules are drawing near an end.

The Bears worked out in chilly Wrigley field yesterday with Owner-Coach George Halas absent on one of his rare occasions. He attended the funeral of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Halas, who was stricken at the Bears-Packers game and died a few hours later.

The other coaches, tho, put the champions thru a long drill. They worked against Cleveland plays and tried some of their own. Joe Stydahar, who suffered a pulled muscle Sunday, didn't show up. Joe Mihal, tackle, took treatments in Illinois Masonic hospital for an infected leg, but will be ready Sunday. Bill Osmanski and Bob Nowaskey, who were injured in the Packer game, were in uniform.

Cards Prepare for Packers.

Chicago's other professional team, the Cardinals, will begin drills this morning in Comiskey park to ready themselves for an invasion of Green Bay on Nov. 16. The Cards are right proud of having thumped the Dodgers and Giants on their recent eastern trip and have designs on not only the Packers, but the Bears, against whom they close their season on Dec. 7.

New York writers compared Jack Clement and Bill Dewell to Cecil Isbell and Don Hutson after the Cardinals knocked the Giants out of the eastern lead Sunday, 10 to 7. Clement completed 13 of 23 passes for 200 yards. This advanced the freshman from Southern Methodist to fifth among the National league passers. Dewell, also a former S. M. U. star, caught eight of the passes for 131 yards. This fine piece of work put Dewell next to the Packers' Don Hutson in snaring passes. Bill has fielded 21 this season for 285 yards. Hutson has caught 40 for 490 yards.

Marshall Goldberg, whose sparkling play has been another big factor in the Cardinals' improvement over last year's form, has jumped to fourth place in ground gaining. He picked up 47 yards in 12 attempts against New York to raise his total to 231 yards.

Third in Yards Gained.

Another indication of the Cardinals' ability to move into enemy territory shows up in total yards gained. Only the Packers and Bears have gained more ground than Jim Conzelman's hustling youngsters. Green Bay is first with 2,472 in eight games, the Bears second with 2,261 in six games, and the Cards third with 1,774 in seven contests. The Cardinals have outgained every opponent this year with the exception of the Bears, despite having only two victories against a tie and four defeats to show for their efforts.

With Fred Vanzo, the former Northwestern star, blocking for Goldberg, Johnnie Hall, and some of the other Cardinal runners, the south side fellows should have an even more effective attack. One thing's certain, the Cards are going to have a lot of fun trying to mess up the title hopes of both the Packers and Bears.

The Cardinals announced last night that Jack Clement, their star passer, has been granted a 30 day deferment by his draft board in Dallas, Tex. This will enable him to finish the season with the Cardinals.

At the same time, the status of Joe Kuharich, the Cards' guard who doubles as signal caller, was in doubt. Kuharich is a member of the air corps reserve and had not expected to be called to the service until the season ended. It is understood, tho that he has been ordered to report tomorrow. He could not be reached last night in South Bend, his home town.

Fenwick Gets Its Trophy Room Ready for Three More Prizes

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

They're seeking conspicuous spots for three more football trophies in Fenwick High's athletic department in Oak Park these days. The Catholic league championship award is the first expected by Fenwick's followers; the second will be Mayor Kelly's cup for winning the All-City game on Nov. 29, and the third will be the Purdue club's Noble E. Kizer Memorial trophy which will be given to the most valuable player in the league.

Fenwick's candidate for the Kizer award will be Jim Kilgallon, captain and left end, or Angelo Provenzano, midget full back, who have starred in of the Oak Park squad's victories this season. Teammates of the two players will get together after the season to name the one to represent the school in the contest. Each of the thirteen other schools in the league will pick its most valuable player and the final selection will be made by coaches, officials and William Woerner, president of the Purdue club.

The return of Harry Harris, star ball carrier, to the squad has given Fenwick adequate assurance that it will have no difficulty regaining the league title. Harris was believed lost to the squad two weeks ago when he suffered an appendicitis attack, but physicians reported that an operation was unnecessary and he may be in the starting lineup when Fenwick meets St. Patrick in Hanson park, Central and Fullerton avenues, Sunday afternoon in quest of its fifth consecutive victory.

Whether or not the Public School league's 40 members will become allied with the Illinois High School association will be determined tomorrow morning when the latter group meets in Champaign. . . . Fenger's suspension will be lifted if Chicago schools are accepted as a unit. . . . The state association also will vote on the proposal to reduce the age limit from 20 to 19 years. . . . Attendance in the south section of the Catholic league is considerably higher than a year ago, according to the Rev. Patrick J. Conaty, league president. . . . Floyd Brown, Crane Tech coach, handled the football, basketball and baseball squads at Lake Forest college from 1924 to 1929. . . . He is a graduate of Miami [O.] university. . . .

Hyde Park and Englewood will meet in their 51st annual game on Stagg field Saturday aternoon. . . . Former Hyde Park stars expected to attend include Chuck Duval, Fred Hobschied, Austin [Five Yards] McCarty and Chuck McGuire. . . . St. Edward's of Elgin is coached by the Rev. William Boland, who formerly starred at Aquin High, Freeport, and at Loras college. . . . Frank McCormick, University of Minnesota athletic director, will be one of the speakers at the 14th annual banquet of the Illinois Physical Education association at the Union building, Champaign, tonight. . . . Thirteen schools will compete in the public School league cross-country run in Washington park Saturday morning.

Fenwick's Best

Capt. Jim Kilgallon (left) or Angelo Provenzano (right) will be Fenwick's representative in the contest for the Catholic league Noble E. Kizer Memorial trophy, annually awarded by the Purdue club of Chicago.

HARMON APPLIES FOR PLACE IN ARMY AIR CORPS

Stops in City on Way to See Actress Friend.

Tom Harmon, the Michigan flyer, has cast his lot with the United States air corps.

Shortly before leaving Detroit yesterday afternoon for a flying trip to California, Harmon made application at Selfridge field for appointment as a flying cadet. Army officials at the flying field said that if Harmon's bid is accepted by the chief of the army air corps the football star will be assigned to a flying school within four to six weeks.

While changing planes in Chicago shortly before midnight last night, however, Harmon said he did not expect his appointment to take effect before two months and that it possibly would take twice that long.

At the same time he said he was definitely thru with football and that he had decided to make army flying his career. His preference, he said, is to fly a pursuit plane. He needs only two more hours training to qualify for a private pilot's license.

Harmon's main interest of the moment at the rainy Chicago airport, tho, was Scrapper, the tan cocker spaniel recently given him by his actress friend, Elyse Knox of Hollywood. He refused to commit himself concerning the actress, except to say he intended to look her up in Hollywood.

Harmon said that he plans to return to Detroit Monday and that he has not terminated his radio sports broadcasting contract with a Michigan station. His old team is not playing Saturday, which made the trip to the coast possible. He hopes to broadcast Michigan's two remaining games, with Columbia and Ohio State.

Harmon's application for the air corps came a day after his draft board in Gary, Ind., had mailed him notification to be ready for induction into the service by Nov. 19. His alternative was to enlist by Nov. 8.

CURRAN OF IOWA ILL; MAY BE OUT OF ILLINOIS GAME

Frosh Find Hawkeyes' Pass Defense Weak.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 5 [Special].—Rain hampered Iowa's football drill today, but the Hawkeyes continued work on pass defense and Coach Eddie Anderson moved Bob Penauluna into a regular guard position to replace Gene Curran. Curran may miss the Illinois game Saturday because of a slight touch of the flu. He was out of yesterday's practice.

Bill Diehl was still on the side lines nursing his injured ankle and a bad charley horse, but it is likely he'll start against the Illini. George [Red] Frye has been used in his place.

Coach Nile Kinnick worked a freshman back field, using Illinois plays against the varsity again, and found the Iowa pass defense vulnerable. Kinnick, a passing star himself two years ago for the Hawks, did all the throwing.

WORBAN LEAVES SCHOOL.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 5 [Special].—John Worban, reserve quarter back of the Illinois football team, withdrew from the university today. Worban, who is playing his second season with the Illini, hopes to be able to return in February.

Alex Agase, Evanston sophomore, appeared today to be a possible starter at right tackle against Iowa Saturday, tho John Genis, another sophomore, also will see considerable service. Genis, former Chicago Fenger High player, has been on the first team since the Minnesota game, tho the two have alternated in scrimmage.

Nate Johnson, 218 pound senior who played 60 minutes against Michigan, may hold his starting post at left tackle, despite the return of Elmer Engel. Coach Bob Zuppke probably will use both. Engel is scrimmaging for the first time in two weeks, and hasn't yet returned to top condition.

SMITH STILL ON CRUTCHES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5 [Special].—Reports reached here today that Nebraska, the Gophers' opponents Saturday, will be at full strength for the game. The Huskers have lost three straight games, the longest losing streak in the university's 42 year football history. They were beaten by Indiana, Missouri, and Kansas State.

Capt. Bruce Smith still is on crutches. Smith and Herman Frickey will be withheld from the Nebraska game except in an emergency. Helge Pukema, senior guard who was out of the Northwestern game, is ready to play, as is Baill Baumgartner, regular end, who has been out of the game with a broken fibula since the opener with Washington.

NIGHT GLOW IS SURPRISE VICTOR IN PIMLICO RACE

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 5 (AP).—Night Glow, a 3 year old filly owned by Gustave Ring of Washington, came within a fraction of a second of tying Pimlico's track mark for a mile and one-sixteenth when she raced to a surprising victory in the $2,500 added Lady Baltimore handicap today.

Ridden by Wendell Eads, the daughter of Pharamond II.-Red Sunset turned the distance in 1:44 1-5, one-fifth of a second over the track mark and one and one-fifth seconds better than the previous time for the stake. The lightly regarded filly paid $37.20 for $2.

Brookmeade stable's Pomayya closed fast to take second money in a photo finish with Night Glow, while John A. Bell Jr.'s Dark Discovery was six lengths back in third place. George D. Widener's favored Rosetown finished sixth in the field of eight.

Remove Blood Clot from John Kimbrough's Hip

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—Full Back John Kimbrough of New York's professional football Americans underwent a minor operation for the removal of a blood clot on his hip in the office of Dr. David Weeks here today. The clot formed after the former star from Texas A. & M. was injured in last Sunday's game with the Milwaukee Chiefs. Dr. Weeks said the injury was not serious and that Kimbrough would be ready for practice Friday.

ARMY JUMPERS SWEEP MILITARY EVENT AT SHOW

Ft. Riley Scores Heavily in Madison Square Garden.

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—Headed by Capt. Frank Wing, who captured the individual Bowman Challenge cup in near-record time, the United States army team dominated the military jumping competition at the National Horse show's opening session tonight.

Outclassing the challenges of teams from Cuba, Peru, and West Point, the four man squad representing Fort Riley, Kas., turned in five perfect rides in six tries before 9,000 spectators in Madison Square Garden.

Takes First and Third.

This was an individual competition, won last year by Capt. Dave Wagstaff of Fort Myer, Va., but the Fort Riley riders in general and Capt. Wing in particular made such a show of it that the team performance overshadowed the individual goal.

So perfect was Capt. Wing's riding that he not only won the cup for his tour of the course aboard Ethel D. in the startling time of 32 3-5 seconds, but he also took third honors when he piloted Old Reliable Democrat over the bars and hedges in 35 2-10 seconds.

The best the invaders could do was a tie for fourth, with Capt. Armando Anderson of the Peruvian team deadlocking Maj. Henri A. Luebberman, head of the Fort Riley squad, for this place.

Glenholme Farm Scores.

Glenholme farm, owned by Adrian van Sinderen of Washington, Conn., president of the American Horse Shows' association, picked up in the harness horse competitions where it left off last year by taking two of the four blue ribbons on the afternoon and early evening program of the first day. After Glenholme Diadem captured top honors among novice single harness ponies, Glenholme Sovereign came along to catch the judge's eye in the division for small single harness ponies.

First of the show's top competitions to be decided was the Killearn farm challenge trophy, in which Highland Cora regained the prize she held in 1938 and 1939. The little 9 year old mare, shown this year by the Dodge stables of Rochester, Mich., caught the judge's eye against the pick of her class of American bred hackney ponies under 14.2 hands high.

Reveals Grimm Refused Job as Big League Pilot

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5 (AP).—William Veeck, Milwaukee Brewer Baseball club president, revealed today that Charley Grimm, the team's manager, had been offered a post as manager of a major league club but had turned it down. Grimm, who owns stock in the Brewers, has signed to return in 1942.

The Brewer president said he had turned down a big league offer for Catcher Charles George. Milwaukee bought George from the Chicago Cubs last September.

Play Marquette-Ripon Frosh Battle Tonight

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5 [Special].—Postponed from last week because of heavy rains, the annual football game between the Freshman teams of Marquette university and Ripon college will be played in the Marquette stadium tomorrow night. Bill Freewalt of Chicago and Quin Brunette of West Allis, Wis., have won the starting half back positions on the Marquette eleven.

CHICAGO SKATERS LOSE.

California defeated Chicago, 11 to 10, in the roller derby in the Coliseum last night. Chicago still leads, 5 to 3, in the series, with 18 more nightly sessions scheduled.

YALE TO MAKE 4 LINEUP CHANGES AGAINST CORNELL

Sophomores Ferguson, Ruebel Get Chances.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 5 [Special].—Four changes in Yale's starting lineup for Saturday's game at Cornell were made tonight by Coach Emerson Nelson. Those getting the assignments are Sophomores Jack Ferguson and George Ruebel and Juniors Bert Martin and George Greene.

Greene has crowded Jack Thompson, right end, to the sidelines. Pat Westfield, who played one flank in three opening games, will go to Cornell as third reserve. Jack Reid, who has held the other guard until injured a fortnight ago, will be used in emergencies at Ithaca.

Ferguson, who captained the freshmen last season, has been selected for the tail back rôle. He has succeeded Ed Taylor as a superior passer, plunger, and kicker. The starting lineup now planned follows:

MOSSER AT CORNELL END.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 5 [Special].—Coach Carl Snavely continued today to use altered Cornell lineups in dummy scrimmage in preparation for Yale. Stacy Mosser, sophomore from Winnetka, Ill., continued at left end, ahead of Red Johnson, while Whitney Doe and Joel Swanson were the first string tackles. Charley Weiss, tail back, ahead of the veteran Lou Buffalino, Sam Pierce and Charley Robinson alternated at wing back, and Dan Behrer and Walt Pfeffer paired off at blocking back.

During the offensive scrimmage Norm Christensen returned to the varsity at right tackle in place of Swanson, who has started the last three games.

TIGER BACKS "DOUBLE."

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 5 [Special].—Coach Tad Wieman is striving to have all Princeton backs ready to play in either of two positions against Dartmouth here Saturday. Because of a dearth of dependable back field material, Perina is learning both halves and full back, Rose is working at right half back and full back, and Lawry at both half back positions.

Today's practice was marked by the return of all except three men from one of the longest Tiger injury lists in years. Line men Jim Howley, Chuck McAllister, Karl Harr, and Joe Fegan all donned uniforms.

DARTMOUTH DRILL IMPRESSIVE.

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 5 [Special].—Dartmouth followers were heartened today when the big green squad went thru another impressive workout in preparation for Saturday's game at Princeton. George Troxell, a sophomore, and Ted Arico were standouts during scrimmage. Arico broke away for three touchdowns and Troxell had one run of fifty yards. Troxell is expected to start against Princeton.

HARVARD WORKS HARD.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 5 [Special].—Dick Harlow drove the Harvard squad at top speed today, first on defense against the Army's running and passing plays, and then in a 45 minute rough and tumble scrimmage against the freshmen. Army plays here Saturday. Neither MacKinney nor Forte took part in the contact work, but both joined in the long signal drill.

ARMY LOCKS GATES.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP).—Army's football squad drilled behind locked gates today in preparation for the game with Harvard Saturday. Jere Maupin, triple threat wingback, remained on the disabled list and Sophomore Ralph Hill appeared to be a definite starter.

Texas Aggies Seek Revenge on Longhorns

College Station, Tex., Nov. 5 [Special].—The Southwest conference race and, to a certain extent, national football interest, will center on the Thanksgiving day game here between Texas and the Texas Aggies.

The Aggies haven't the high scoring football team that the Longhorns boast this year, but will have the same opportunity this year that Texas cashed in on last year—to knock their traditional opponent out of the national football picture by an upset victory on Thanksgiving day.

Last year the Longhorns scored a 57 second touchdown and kicked goal on the Aggies, and then for the rest of the game staved off every touchdown drive the Aggies could muster. The upset victory put an end to two years of winning football at Texas A. and M. and knocked the Cadets from College Station out of consideration for the Rose bowl invitation.

Aggies Bounced Back.

The Aggies bounced back from their defeat by the Longhorns and whipped a fine Fordham team in the Dallas Cotton bowl on New Year's day. This fall the Aggies resumed their winning ways, and to date have kept on adding to their string of victories. It now stands at 26 in 27 starts.

Next Saturday the Aggies meet the crippled Southern Methodist Mustangs, who were whipped by a brilliant Texas university team last Saturday, 34 to 0. In the Texas game Matty Bell lost his brilliant sophomore triple threat, Howard [Red] Maley, with a torn knee cartilage. This leaves the Mustangs with only Presto Johnston as their threat.

The Aggies ran against an inspired Arkansas Razorback team in Little Rock last Saturday on a high school gridiron that had been converted into a duck pond by three high school games played in driving rain on three nights previous to the Saturday clash. The slippery field totally devoid of turf made the Aggies fortunate to score on an intercepted forward pass and eke out a 7 to 0 victory over the Porkers.

Texas Star Hurts Ankle.

In smothering the Mustangs, Coach D. X. Bible's Texas team looked like one of the national leaders. One of the Texas mainstays, Pete Layden, hurt an ankle, but the injury is not expected to keep the big full back out of competition. Jack Crain, the signal calling runner from Nocoma, Tex., turned in another brilliant performance.

Rice Institute's up and down team came to life long enough to trample a deëmphasized Centenary football team in Houston Saturday night. Texas Christian unloosed a crack sophomore passer in Emory Nix of Corpus Christi last Saturday and beat down Baylor easily.

Texas has yet to meet Baylor, Texas Christian and Texas Aggies in the Southwest conference and Oregon in a postseason game before the road is cleared to the Rose bowl for them.

Aggies Meet Cougars.

The Aggies yet must meet S. M. U. and Rice before meeting Texas on Thanksgiving day. Then the Aggies have a late date with Washington State at Tacoma in December.

Close observers predict that both Texas and Texas Aggies will be undefeated when they meet on Kyle field in College Station on Nov. 27. These same observers have seen for years the jinx that protects the home team in this Texas-A. and M. series.

The home team always wins. Last year a great Aggie team was beaten by a so-so Texas team at Austin. This year the Longhorn must come here for the game.

FEDERAL COURT RULES ACACIA CLUB BANKRUPT

The Acacia Country Club corporation, owner of an 18 hole golf course at Wolf and Joliet roads, was declared bankrupt yesterday by Judge William H. Holly of the federal District court. Judge Holly ordered the property to be sold and the proceeds distributed to creditors.

The bankruptcy petition was filed Aug. 13, 1936, and the club was permitted to try to effect a reorganization under chapter 77B of the amended bankruptcy law. The plan was approved by the court Feb. 8, 1938.

Since then the club has failed to fulfill its obligations under the plan, however, Judge Holly ruled, and further attempts at reorganization seemed impractical. The club originally was a $100,000 investment. Its debts consist chiefly in taxes and interest on bonds.

Detroit Picks Billy Rogell as Councilman

Billy Rogell.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 5 (AP).—William G. Rogell, former shortstop of the Detroit Tigers and an amateur fireman of such renown that his fans call him "Chief," today had no public comment to make upon his election to the city council, governing body of the nation's fourth largest community.

If that seems strange consider the circumstances: Billy, not yet enough of an elder statesman to stick around for the votes to be counted, waited just long enough for the polls to open so he could cast his own ballot yesterday. Then he struck out for the hinterland and a bit of pheasant hunting. He hasn't been home since.

Says He'll Learn.

When he announced his candidacy, he admitted freely that he was a "green pea"—knew nothing about affairs of government.

"But I can learn if I'm elected," he would add quickly. "I didn't know much about baseball when I started playing, either, and I got to be a big league player. I figure all these fellows in there on the council now had to learn about government, and if they did it I guess I can."

The voters must have confidence in him, too, or else his platform—parks "for the kids to play in and stay off the street," and his plans for a baseball school under the auspices of the playground department, appealed to them.

He placed fifth in a field of 122 in the nonpartisan municipal primary and was third among the nine successful candidates in the runoff election yesterday.

Won in Banquet League.

Rogell attributed his success in the primary to the fact that he never ducked a date in the lettuce league. People appreciated his willingness to speak at banquets when other players were too high hat, he believes, and he made the appearances an occasion for making friends whose votes counted.

So Bill, who went to the Boston Red Sox in 1925 from the Mississippi Valley circuit, played with Jersey City and Toronto in the International league, with the Detroit Tigers from 1935 to 1940, with Chicago's Cubs in 1940, and bowed out of organized baseball the past summer as manager of Lancaster, Pa.'s, last place club in the Interstate circuit, is in another league.

But a retired athlete in the political league won't be anything new to Detroit or Michigan. Charles E. [Gus] Dorais, University of Detroit football coach, will have to move over to make room for Rogell at the Detroit city council table.

CLOSE MIDGET ENTRIES.

Entries close today for the midget auto races which will usher in the indoor season Sunday night in the International Amphitheater. Art Folz, 7837 Cornell avenue, is taking the entries.

MICHIGAN STATE CARDS 8 GAMES FOR 1942 ELEVEN

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 5 (AP).—Athletic Director Ralph H. Young today announced an eight game schedule for the Michigan State college football team in 1942. Washington State was listed as a new opponent, while two teams faced this season by the Spartans, Missouri and Ohio Wesleyan, will be missing next year.

Young said the Washington State game, to be played Nov. 7 at Pullman, Wash., would open a three year series with the Cougars. It marked another step, he said, in arranging a Spartan schedule featuring land grant college foes. It previously was announced that Penn State and Iowa State, also land grant schools, will be added to the Spartan schedule in 1943.

The 1942 schedule:

Oct. 3, Michigan at Ann Arbor; Oct. 10, Wayne at East Lansing; Oct. 17, Marquette at East Lansing; Oct. 24, Santa Clara at East Lansing; Oct. 31, Temple at Philadelphia; Nov. 7, Washington State at Pullman, Wash.; Nov. 14, Purdue at East Lansing; Nov. 21, West Virginia at East Lansing.

W-G-N 'PAGEANT OF MELODY' GOES ON W59C TONIGHT

Attilio Baggiore to Sing on FM Program.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Starting tonight, the Pageant of Melody, long an outstanding musical program on W-G-N and the Mutual network, will be aired also thru the new frequency modulation station W59C, Frank P. Schreiber, manager of W-G-N and W59C announced yesterday. The program is to be aired from 7 to 7:30 p. m. each Thursday over these combined facilities.

Attilio Baggiore, tenor featured on the Chicago Theater of the Air operettas from 8 to 9 p. m. Saturdays, will be guest star on tonight's pageant. Baggiore will sing Lehman's "Ah, Moon of My Delight" and Pergolesi's "Nina." The W-G-N Symphony orchestra, directed by Henry Weber, will present Debussy's "Fêtes," Wolf-Ferrari's "Dance of the Camorrists," and Bach's "String Suite."

Noted Soprano to Sing.

Josephine Antoine, noted soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, is to make a guest appearance on this hour Thursday, Nov. 20. Other notable guests are to follow.

Mr. Baggiore is to be featured in a series of song programs of his own on W59C, starting at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 19. The fidelity and clarity of FM transmissions, it is expected, will display the lyrical qualities of Baggiore's voice to even greater advantage than on standard radio stations. Baggiore will be heard for 15 minutes each Wednesday.

The Philadelphia orchestra will return to Mutual and W59C with its regular Friday afternoon series tomorrow after an absence due to an out of town engagement. The concert, under the direction of Eugene Ormandy, will feature Blanche Thebom, American contralto. The concert runs from 1:30 to 3:15 p. m.

Symphonic Music Friday.

Friday is loaded with symphonic fare for FM listeners. W51C, Chicago's other FM station, will present a transcribed concert by the Chicago Woman's Symphony orchestra from 9:30 to 10 tomorrow night.

W59C, as well as W-G-N and Mutual, will broadcast "The Fortune Teller" on the Chicago Theater of the Air program from 8 to 9 Saturday evening.

A concert is to be presented over W59C by the Carthage College Singers, Carthage, Ill., from 1 to 1:30 p. m. Armistice day.

GEORGE E. LYNCH, RETIRED CAPTAIN OF POLICE, DIES

George E. Lynch.

George E. Lynch, a retired captain of the Chicago police, died in his automobile yesterday at Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue. Heart disease was blamed. Capt. Lynch evidently had warning of the attack, as he had pulled over to the curb and parked.

He was taken to the firehouse of engine company 67 at 4666 Fulton street, a block away, where Capt. Flahive and rescue squad 2 of the fire department tried in vain to revive him.

Capt. Lynch was in command of the Austin station when he retired in August of 1940 at the age of 63. He was a member of the police department for 39 years and lived at 5261 Monroe street.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Anna D'Arcy Lynch, and a daughter, Rosemary. Services will be at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in the chapel of Resurrection church, 5321 Madison street.

MUTUAL OFFICIAL REPLIES TO RADIO TIME COMPLAINT

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—The Mutual Broadcasting system replied today to a complaint by the Fight for Freedom committee that it had not given that group time on the air to answer recent America First committee speeches, with the declaration that the request for time never reached the system.

Fred Weber, general manager of Mutual, said in a letter to Chairman James L. Fly of the federal communications commission, to whom the complaint was addressed, that the Fight for Freedom group applied for radio time last Friday to WOR, New York member station.

"Mutual's network program office does not actually produce and originate programs," Weber said. "Public service features, as well as sustaining programs, are arranged for and originated by the member and affiliated stations."

WOR declined the Fight for Freedom broadcast, Weber said, so that it "was never available to be fed to the stations of the Mutual network."

Mother Tries to Grab Gun but Girl Kills Herself

Miss Maxine Eatinger, 23 years old, 744 East 80th street, complained to her mother, Mrs. Earl Eatinger, yesterday about lack of a job. Then she went to her bedroom and got a small caliber rifle. Mrs. Eatinger tried to wrest the gun away, but the daughter fled into the bathroom and shot herself to death.

EVANSTON POLICE GUARDING BOY, 8; CAUSE IN DOUBT

A mystery assignment for the Evanston police to guard John Leetz, 8 years old, between his home at 2714 Thayer street, Evanston, and the nearby Willard school, was disclosed yesterday. Richard C. Leetz, father of the boy, is an executive of the Illinois Bell Telephone company.

Chief of Police Carl Ekman said that the assignment was made because he understood the Leetz family had received a threatening letter.

Mrs. Leetz, mother of the boy, said that a relative had received a letter, but refused to disclose its nature. She added that she was not alarmed for the boy's safety and there was no further need for a guard. Postal inspectors denied any knowledge of the matter.

ICKES FORESEES NEW SHORTAGE OF MOTOR FUEL

Warns Britain May Need Ships Again.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 5 (AP).—The United States may have to supply Great Britain with many more tankers than it has loaned in the past and it may yet be confronted with a shortage of domestic as well as aviation gasoline, Harold L. Ickes, federal petroleum coördinator and secretary of the interior, told the oil industry today.

Altho some of the 50 tankers originally loaned have been returned and the projected release of others has been announced, this country's commitments, Ickes said, require the furnishing of additional oil boats in case England asks for more.

Calls Situation "Troublesome."

"I suspect," he added, "that the tanker situation will be a troublesome one" for the duration of the emergency.

Addressing the American Petroleum institute, Ickes said that even if the American oil industry doubled its 100 octane aviation gasoline production by Jan. 1, 1943, the supply would still be far short of the needs of the United States, Britain, Russia, and China.

LAND DOUBTS RECURRENCE.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, advised the house merchant marine subcommittee today in a letter that "it would appear that, purely from a transportation standpoint, there should not again be reason for a petroleum shortage." He said he was speaking based on "present conditions" which could change overnight.

"We are not even sure," he continued, "that we have sufficient capacity for producing all of the ordinary gasoline that we will need. Our refiners of motor fuel are now pretty close to 100 per cent capacity and the demand continues to rise."

Warns U. S. Rule Nears.

Disclaiming any desire to impose governmental control on the industry, Ickes warned the oil men that unless wasteful practices were eliminated, some form of federal regulations was certain.

He acknowledged that his initial appeal for voluntary conservation of gasoline by eastern consumers had failed, but said the night closing of service stations and the 10 per cent reduction to retailers effected some savings.

[Ickes' office of petroleum coördination reported in Washington a 138 per cent increase between May and September in the movement of crude oil by overland facilities, but said with the promise by the British to return 40 of the borrowed tankers land shipments, including rail movements, have begun to decline. It said 4,046 tank cars of oil moved into the east during the week ended Oct. 25, compared with 4,396 cars the week before.]

The directorate of the Petroleum institute adopted resolutions pledging the oil industry's fullest support in national defense but opposing income tax rules except by legislation.

Reports Oil Industry Due for Higher Priority Rating

Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 5 (AP).—The oil industry, which fuels almost all the engines of war, is about to be recognized officially as a defense industry, an Office of Production Management official said tonight. Alfred E. Ballin, district manager of priorities, reported on his return from Washington that "I was told to go back and tell the oil men that such an order is coming. It will place the industry on a defense footing and a better priority rating probably will follow."

ICKES SUFFERS NEW REBUFF; BIG OIL PIPE LINE PROJECT KILLED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—The Supply Priorities and Allocations board today ruled "finally and definitely" against the granting of priorities on 66,000 tons of steel for construction of the proposed 80 million dollar pipe line from Texas oil fields to the New York area.

The board's action appeared to have killed the proposal for a 1,189 mile line designed to prevent any gasoline and fuel oil shortage on the east coast.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes had supported the proposal. SPAB in September decided against priorities for steel plates to build the line. Ickes, as petroleum coördinator, then applied for priorities on seamless tubing. In rejecting his application SPAB held that "large quantities of critical materials must not be devoted to any project not essential to the defense program or public health and safety."

Welders Vote to End Strike at Shipyards

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 5 (AP).—Striking shipyard welders voted at a massmeeting tonight to return to work tomorrow pending a mediation under a proposal from Sidney Hillman, codirector of the Office of Production Management, the United Welders of America announced.

The terms were quoted by the union as providing:

"All will be assured opportunity to work at their former jobs without discrimination or interference, and the government will protect the welders in their rights."

The union demands recognition as an autonomous craft, but the AFL boilermakers' union claims jurisdiction over the shipyard welders.

The California Shipbuilding corporation, one of the principal yards affected by the strike, planned to resume full operations, including return to work by 2,500 other craftsmen laid off because of the walkout.

Plane Output Continues.

Meantime, airplanes kept rolling off assembly lines in three southern California factories affected by a strike call of another union of welders.

Union officials claimed there would be a complete production stoppage soon in the affected aircraft plants, but a spokesman for Lockheed and Vega aircraft companies in Burbank asserted:

"As far as we are concerned the strike is whipped, but come what may we are going to continue turning out military planes."

An official of the third struck plant, Consolidated at San Diego, said the strike would not slow its production schedule on 750 million dollars in bomber orders.

Jimme Goss, president of the United Aircraft Welders [independent], said the strike will be "100 per cent effective" within 24 hours. He said the welders were anxious to go back to work and needed "only the word of the President or the OPM" that elections would be held in the struck plants.

Deadlock in Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 5 (AP).—A deadlock developed late today in the plan for striking welders to return to work in Seattle shipyards under an Office of Production Management arrangement. A meeting of the Seattle Council of Welders and Burners recessed until 8 a. m. tomorrow.

Picket lines were reëstablished at shipyards after the meeting recessed. A union official said some of the welders at the meeting doubted the authenticity of a telegram over the signature of Executive Secretary Dave Basor, recommending their return to work.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 5 [Special].—A threat to extend to other cities the strike which has tied up all Railway Express agency shipments in and out of Detroit for more than a month was made today by Daniel J. Tobin, president of the AFL Teamsters' union.

Tobin said in Indianapolis, apparently in reply to Mayor Edward J. Jeffries' request for assistance in ending the strike, that he would call out union members in the agency's branches in Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, St. Louis, San Francisco, New York, and other cities unless the agency grants the teamsters' Detroit demands.

CIO Strike in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 5 (AP).—Six hundred CIO workers struck today at the Triplex Screw company, halting production of nuts and bolts used by the White Motor company in making mobile units for the army. William Donovan, district CIO director, declared the strike a "wildcat," and said he had ordered the men back to work.

Halt Naval Expansion.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 5 (AP).—AFL building tradesmen called a strike today at the naval training station and the marines' Camp Elliott, halting work on a $5,500,000 expansion program, to enforce wage demands.

Ask Can Strike's End.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—The Defense Mediation board today asked striking members of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee [CIO] to return to work at the Chicago plant of the American Can company. The board telegraphed the company and union officials that a hearing on the dispute would be set as soon as possible. The SWOC called the strike Sept. 16 in support of a wage increase, reinstatement of 17 dismissed employés, and other demands.

Hearing Called on Phone Collectors' Wage Dispute

Harry E. Scheck of the United States Conciliation service will hold a hearing in the Federal building this morning in an effort to conciliate the dispute between the city's 300 telephone collectors, members of the Commercial Telephone Workers' union, and the Illinois Bell Telephone company, the union announced yesterday. The collectors ask a wage scale of $135 to $240 month, against the present $115 to $200.

Beech and Yankey Acquire Control of Culver Aircraft

Wichita, Kas., Nov. 5 (AP).—Culver Aircraft corporation announced today that Walter H. Beech and Charles G. Yankey had acquired control of the corporation and taken over management of the plant. Beech is president and Yankey is vice president of Beech Aircraft corporation, also of Wichita. Culver has approximately a million dollars in government aircraft orders.

PUTS INDUSTRY'S COST OF EMPLOYE ILLNESS AT 10 BILLIONS A YEAR

Employés taking off because of illness are costing American industry 10 billion dollars a year, Dr. C. O. Sappington, industrial health consultant and executive director of the American Conference on Industrial Health, told the conference yesterday. Dr. Sappington said 90 per cent of this loss results from illness of a nonoccupational origin, the common cold accounting for 35 per cent.

The absentee rate in industry has increased tremendously since the rearmament program started, Dr. Sappington said.

Industrial medical, engineering, insurance, nursing, and labor representatives are at the conference meeting in the Chicago Towers club. The meeting, with the objective of introducing ways of preventing sickness into industrial health programs will conclude today.

Warns Closed Shop Leads to Federal Rule

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Albert W. Hawkes, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, asserted yesterday that private management cannot survive if labor wins the closed shop in all industry.

It is inevitable, Hawkes told the Union League Club of Chicago, that the closed shop will be followed by government operation of industry.

The importance of the closed shop issue, which is at the bottom of present labor disputes, cannot be overemphasized, he said.

Says Unions Will Lose All.

If the national administration does not face the closed shop issue squarely, Hawkes said, it will lead to consequences of the gravest nature.

"I predict," he said, "that if labor persists in its closed shop demands and has the power to enforce them upon the American people, then the accomplishment of that act will be the destruction of management—and withdrawal from labor unions of all the gains and privileges that have been won in the last 75 years."

Intelligent labor leadership, Hawkes said, gives signs of realizing the consequences to labor of the closed shop and the public generally is overwhelmingly opposed to it.

Hits Forced Membership.

"No one within our democracy," he said, "is big enough or powerful enough to continue in any action that is opposed to the interests and welfare of the people as a whole. No one within the ranks of either labor or capital should be forced to join any organization of business or labor in order to stay in business or get a job of earning a living."

The meeting at which Hawkes spoke was the first of a series arranged by the club devoted to "preserving free enterprise." Hawkes was introduced by Ferre C. Watkins, president of the club.

People and Events

Lester W. Bermond has been appointed manager of the Chicago plant for Swift & Co., succeeding Eugene A. Moss, recently elected a vice president. Bermond has been with the company since 1912.

The Central Lions Club of Chicago will hear Thomas S. McEwan, district manager of the Chicago office of the division of contract distribution for the Office of Production Management, at a luncheon meeting in the Hotel Sherman today.

The 12th annual Mid-Continent Trust conference of the American Bankers' association will be held in St. Louis, Mo., today and tomorrow.

Purcell Denies SEC Influences Private Sales

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—Ganson Purcell, Securities and Exchange commission member, disagreed today with statements that issuers of securities were turning to private sales to save time and money spent by adherence to the registration process under the securities act of 1933.

Ganson Purcell.

He discussed the subject before the house interstate commerce committee after Rep. James W. Wadsworth [R., N. Y.], had said the "burden of registering has become so great" that the trend toward private sales was accelerating.

Purcell denied commission rules were responsible for expanded private financing.

Example in 39 Issues.

Wadsworth cited as an example 39 issues, apparently for refunding purposes, of subsidiaries of American Waterworks and Electric company which cost 1 million 265 thousand to sell privately. He said the company treasurer estimated that the cost of public financing thru the SEC would have been 2 million 765 thousand.

Wadsworth said the company had turned to private sales because of "large savings in time and money," and avoidance of the risk of changing market conditions.

He said that 34 of the 39 issues replaced publicly held securities and remarked that "the whole thing was put in the banks and insurance companies and the public was out of it."

Purcell commented:

"The insurance companies and banks ought to be a little ashamed of themselves, in the interest of their policy holders and depositors, that they didn't require comparable information to that of our registration statements."

Awaits Mandatory Rule.

Discussing the question of simplifying the registration process, the commissioner said both the SEC and the industry sought shorter prospectuses, but that this would remain "an ideal" unless the SEC were given permission mandatorily to require a reduction in volume of material included.

Bankers' proposals for liberalization of the security laws would prove a "serious threat" and "menace" to investors. Bernard J. Reis, New York, representing the American Investors' union, asserted. Expressing opposition to the suggestion that securities could be offered for sale during the 20 day waiting period while a registration statement is on file with the SEC, Reis said:

"They [the bankers] want an opportunity to sell before the effective date; they want to close a deal before a buyer has a general prospectus. Opening up the period before the effective date to sales offers is a menace and threat to investors."

THREE HIGH COST COPPER FIRMS TO GET U. S. SUBSIDY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—The treasury announced today it has signed contracts to buy the entire output of three Michigan copper mining companies at prices 3 to 4 cents above the maximum for other mines.

A treasury statement said the purchases were made with the approval of the Office of Price Administration, which has set a 12 cent maximum price on other copper. It was explained these contracts were intended to increase the nation's copper output by making it possible for the three Michigan mines to operate at a profit. Their production costs are more than those of most other mines.

The treasury agreed to pay between 15 and 16 cents a pound for all the copper to be produced in the last six months of 1941 by the Copper Range company, Quincy Mining company, and Isle Royale Copper company. No estimate was given on the amount of copper to be produced.

BOARD'S REPORT ON RAIL DISPUTE BOOSTS STOCKS

Carrier Bonds Whirl Upward Rapidly.

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—Making bullish capital out of the report of President Roosevelt's fact finding board on rail wage increase demands, the stock market today registered a moderate advance in expanded dealings. In the bond market rail loans whirled upward at a fast pace.

Broad improvement in stock prices was general at the start, but gains reached their peak after the rails took over market leadership in the last hour.

While many of the pivotal issues closed fractions to a point or more ahead, final prices were well down from the tops in many instances and some early gains were converted into losses, reflecting active profit selling in the final few minutes of trading.

Average Moves Ahead.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose .3 of a point to 41.1. Transactions amounting to 919,300 shares were the largest since Sept. 25.

Wall street expectation of some favorable points in the rail board's report and improved sentiment on the market's technical position led to a good demand for stocks in the forenoon. Steels, motors, and aircrafts alternated as leaders until interest shifted to the rails.

Stocks carrying plus marks at the close included United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Johns-Manville, Westinghouse, Union Pacific, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, and American Tobacco. Erie preferred A recorded a 1941 high. American Can dipped to a new year's low.

Railway Bonds Spurt.

Gains in lower priced rail bonds ranged from major fractions to more than 2 points in numerous instances. Other groups held a steady undertone, but changes were comparatively small.

Total volume of $13,893,375, par value, was the biggest since last May 6, compared with $6,452,100 on Monday. The Associated Press average of 20 rails ended up .7 of a point, the best gain since April.

Out in front of the advancing group were nearly a dozen issues of Baltimore and Ohio railroad, North Western 5s, Illinois Central 4¾s, Delaware and Hudson 4s, American and Foreign Power 5s, New York Central 5s, Northern Pacific 4s, Southern Pacific 4½s, and Southern railway 6½s.

United States governments were quiet but steady.

CHICAGO TREND UP.

Price advances slightly exceeded declines on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in transactions totaling 39,000 shares. Forty-six issues advanced, 41 declined, and 38 closed unchanged.

Volume leaders were Commonwealth Edison, 4,150 shares, up ⅛ to 22⅞; Central and South West, 3,300 shares, unchanged at ⅛; Chicago corporation, 1,700 shares, off 1/16 to ⅛; Aviation corporation, 1,400 shares, up ⅛ to 3⅞, and Elgin National Watch, 850 shares, off ¾ to 29¼.

Securities Offerings

New York, Nov. 5 [Special].—Public offering of 175,000 shares of Pacific Gas and Electric company 5 per cent first cumulative preferred stock of $25 par value will be made tomorrow by Blyth & Co., Inc. The offering price will be $27 a share, plus accrued dividends. The block is part of an issue of $400,000 shares previously authorized, of which the company has agreed to dispose of not more than 225,000 shares in its own over-the-counter marketing.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 [Special].—Carolina Telephone and Telegraph company of Tarboro, N. Y., has filed with the Securities and Exchange commission a registration statement covering 10,625 shares of common capital stock, $100 par value, and subscription warrants to be issued to holders of outstanding common stock. Holders can subscribe for the new shares at $100 per share.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—The Superior Oil company, Los Angeles, Cal., filed with the Securities and Exchange commission today a registration statement covering 15 million dollars of 3½ per cent debentures due Nov. 1, 1956. The company will redeem, at 103 per cent, $9,800,000 of 3¼ per cent debentures due April 1, 1950. Dillon, Reed & Co., New York, was named principal underwriter.

Eggs Hit 11 Year Price Peak; Buying for England Blamed

Egg prices advanced as much as 2 cents a dozen yesterday as Chicago wholesale dealers bid as high as 37½ cents for supplies without finding sellers. Prices were the highest in 11 years and 10½ to 15 cents a dozen above the levels of November, 1940.

In the big wholesale poultry and egg market on Fulton street the dealers offered substantial premiums over the quoted market in an effort to buy highest quality fresh eggs from country produce merchants.

The egg dealers blamed vast government lend-lease purchases of fresh and dried eggs for shipment to England for the climbing prices.

Receipts Below Needs.

With receipts of eggs from the producing centers equal to less than half the number Chicagoans consume every day, the dealers have been turning to storage reserves to make up the deficit in fresh supplies.

Egg production is less than at any other period of the year. Altho receipts at country collection points are above the level of November, 1940, government buyers are taking a large percentage of these supplies to give England.

The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, government buying agency, reported it had purchased 4,000 cases of eggs in the middle west, paying 37¼ to 38¾ cents a dozen—more than Chicago wholesalers were paying.

Sets New Price Peak.

The Chicago Mercantile exchange said this was the highest price ever paid by the agency and represented a ½ cent advance in its price in the last week.

Meanwhile the government also was dipping into storage reserves thru its purchase of dried eggs, processors acquiring large quantities of the refrigerated product to keep their plants going night and day drying eggs for England.

Buying of storage eggs by the drying plants accelerated activity in the futures market with turnover near the 5 million dozen mark. Futures advanced more than ⅛ cent despite reports of the arrival of 13,530 cases of eggs and 4,521 boxes of butter in New York from Argentina. Butter advanced ¾ cent a pound in the wholesale market and was up more than ⅛ cent in futures trading.

Dairy Exports Soar

The department of agriculture reported yesterday that exports of dairy products in August were at near record levels. Butter shipped from the country totaled 336,605 pounds, more than at any time since 1935. Cheese exports of 6,007,413 pounds were the largest for August on record. With the exception of August, 1940, condensed and evaported milk shipments were the largest since 1919.

While the government was giving most of these exported products to England under the lend-lease plan, dealers were importing increasing amounts of these products for domestic use. August butter imports were 271,896 pounds, about 50 per cent more than last year, and eggs 436,899 dozen, against only 16,001 dozen a year ago.

Most of the imports are from Argentina.

Plan to Keep Illinois River Open All Year

Plans are being prepared to put ice breakers on the Illinois river during January and February to keep barge traffic moving during the entire winter season, barge company officials said yesterday. They stated that with the arms program growing it is especially desirable to have the barge companies relieve other transportation agencies of some of their burdens.

The greatest difficulty with ice on the Illinois river is said to be found on the 65 mile stretch between Peoria and the locks at Starved Rock, just below Ottawa.

Will Use Towboat.

The present plan is to use one of the towboats of the Federal Barge Line, ordinarily laid up during the winter on the upper Mississippi, to cruise up and down thru the affected part of the river. The operation, under the present proposal, would be in the hands of the coast guard.

It also is proposed to increase the period of navigation on the Mississippi by two or three weeks by starting ice breaking operations early in March. Under the plan a powerful towboat would be started at Alton, Ill., and work toward the Twin Cities. River boatmen say that it is sometimes the middle of April before ice conditions on the Mississippi make thru barge operations possible.

Seek Earlier Tow Starts.

The plan is to break up ice jams on the river at a time when the milder spring weather starts. It is said that clearing of channels would enable towboats to start out with their barges at least two or three weeks earlier than is now possible.

The upper Mississippi begins to freeze up solidly shortly after Thanksgiving, and when the big stream really freezes there is little that can be done about it.

NAILS TO SPARE IN CANADA, BUT NONE FOR U. S.

Building contractors in the United States, experiencing difficulty in getting some sizes of nails because of priorities, are unable to buy them in Canada, where there apparently is a plentiful supply, because the Canadian government has forbidden export of nails.

John Mills Sr., head of Mills & Sons, Chicago home builder, learned of the Canadian export restriction when he sought to buy a carload of nails from a Montreal company, which otherwise would have supplied them.

M. B. Palmer, Canadian government trade commissioner in Chicago, confirmed the Canadian restriction. American builders have found sizes 8 and 16 the most difficult nails to obtain.

SALES OF FURNITURE AT FALL SHOWS TOP LAST YEAR'S VOLUME

Sales of furniture and home furnishings at the fall shows in session in the Merchandise Mart and the American Furniture Mart are running considerably ahead of last year, officials said yesterday.

Percy Wilson, managing director of the Merchandise Mart, estimated after a survey of the furniture floors in the building that sales were up more than 10 per cent from a year ago "despite limitation and allotment of orders."

Lawrence Whiting, president of American Furniture Mart, said wholesalers had reported "a brisk demand" from buyers, with sales exceeding last year's mark.

ILLINOIS FIRMS SHARE IN NEW ARMS AWARDS

Among arms contracts announced yesterday by the war department were a $349,800 award to the Link Belt company, Chicago, for gun mounts, and a $495,107 contract to the Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria, Ill., for cranes. Other awards included:

Johnson & Johnson, New Mrunswick, N. J., masks [for manufacture at Chicago], $84,110, and adhesive plaster [for manufacture at Chicago and New Brunswick], $79,973; Van Dorn Iron Works, Cleveland, O., shields, $420,525; Firestone Tire and Rubber company, Akron O., gas masks, $255,076; Hickok Electrical Instrument company, Cleveland, thermometer indicators, $335,351; Sparks-Withington company, Jackson, Mich., mooring kits and signal assemblies, $262,368; Atlantic Refining company, Philadelphia, fuel oil, $307,800; National Automotive Fiber, Detroit, Mich., cotton filled comforters, $299,500; Riverside and Dan River Cotton Mills, Inc., New York City, 1,500,000 yards of cotton drill to be manufactured at Danville, Va., $386,250.

Lease agreements announced by the war department included one with the Jacobs Aircraft Engine company, Pottstown, Pa., for $13,077,727 for construction and equipment of a plant at Pottstown and for purchase of machinery, and a $3,714,277 agreement with Aviation Manufacturing corporation, Lycoming division, Williamsport, Pa., for construction of a plant and acquisition of equipment and machinery to manufacture aircraft engines.

Chicago Area Power Output Breaks Record for Week

Electric power output of the Commonwealth Edison group of companies in the Chicago area last week was 161,016,000 kilowatt hours, the highest on record, the company reported yesterday. The output was 13.3 per cent larger than in the corresponding 1940 week. It was the first week following discontinuance of daylight saving time for Chicago.

REALTORS TOLD OPM WILL BAN HOME BUILDING

Nelson Says Order Is Due Soon.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 5.—A general order from the Office of Production Management at Washington banning all residential construction except for "defense housing" under the $6,000 ceiling is expected shortly, Herbert U. Nelson of Chicago, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, announced at the NAREB convention here.

Herbert U. Nelson.

Later a prominent Chicago builder and realtor confirmed the Nelson statement. Asking that his name be not used, he said that at a meeting last week in Washington of members of the Home Builders Institute of America, a subsidiary of NAREB, John L. Haynes, of the civilian supply division of OPM, said that an order would be issued within two weeks barring all types of home construction costing over $6,000.

Proposes a War Chest.

Thus far builders have been permitted to put up homes of any cost if they have the materials on hand. The new order, Haynes indicated, would stop all home construction except that which can qualify as defense housing, regardless of whether the builder had materials, critical or otherwise, on hand.

A "war chest" of $25,000 to combat this latest federal ban on residential building was proposed by Nelson. He said it would be used to establish an office of NAREB in Washington to assemble facts showing the widespread harmful effects on the building industry and on the nation's economy which would follow such a drastic priorities order.

James C. Downs Jr., president of Downs-Mohl, Inc., a Chicago real estate management firm, predicted that building would not stop despite the unorganized voice of the real estate industry, because the 9 million organized workers in the building industry are articulate and will force the issue to prevent layoffs.

Says Realty Boom Is On.

Downs said the real estate market is developing into the most active one since the boom of the late '20s The public's apprehension of inflation, he said, has encouraged the purchase of real estate as a hedge.

The spiral of inflation will become more evident next spring, Harold G. Moulton, president of Brookings institution, private research service, predicted in a discussion of financial trends. He said that new pressure for further increases in farm prices will appear when farmers have to pay higher prices for manufactured goods.

TAFT ASSAILS RULING

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] charged in the senate today that an "arbitrary ruling" of the Supply Priorities and Allocations Board, preventing the construction of residential housing units costing more than $6,000, would throw thousands of men out of work unnecessarily.

Taft said that the placing of a cost limit on housing appeared to have no direct relation to the use of critical materials.

"It would seem much more reasonable to provide that no more than a certain amount of iron, steel, or copper shall be used for any family unit than the minimum required for small homes," he said.

Auto Sales Gain Traced to 'Imminent Shortages'

The "imminent prospect" of an automobile shortage has stimulated sales, W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager of the Buick division of General Motors corporation, told 200 dealers at a conference in the Blackstone hotel yesterday. Last week's retail sales equaled the combined volume of the two preceding weeks, he said. Harlow H. Curtice, president of Buick, outlined the company's manufacturing program.

2,000 CONCERNS REPORT 65% OF OUTPUT IS ARMS

Conversion of companies using metals in their operations from civilian to rearmament production is farther along than is generally believed, according to results of a poll of 2,000 companies released yesterday. Companies taking part in the poll reported an average of 65.12 per cent of their current operations was for armaments.

The poll, which was conducted by Iron Age, also provided new information as to the effects of priorities on the metal industries. Of 1,897 companies reporting complete answers, 1,178 said that their rates of operations have not been affected by priorities and 500 reported losses in operations resulting from priorities.

There were 636 companies which reported they were short of steel, altho not all of this number had to cut operations because of the shortage. Another 374 companies reported they were short of nonferrous metals such as copper, aluminum, and zinc to an extent which in most cases has curtailed operations, while 146 companies said their production has been handicapped by shortages of machine tools and small tools of various types.

PROFIT OF UNITED AIRCRAFT, NORTH AMERICAN CO. UP

Plane Builder's Quarter Net Over 5 Millions.

United Aircraft corporation and the North American company yesterday reported substantially higher earnings for the 1941 third quarter than in the corresponding period last year.

The large aircraft corporation reported a consolidated net profit for the quarter of $5,188,382, or $1.95 a capital share, compared with $2,971,662, or $1.12 a share, in the 1940 quarter. The provision for federal taxes was $19,711,304, compared with $7,993,821 in the September quarter last year.

For the first nine months of 1941, United Aircraft earned $10,771,733, or $4.05 a share, compared with $10,461,127, or $3.93 a share, in the corresponding period last year.

Sets Up Postwar Reserve.

The company set up a reserve of 4 million dollars from the nine months earnings to provide for transformation from rearmament production to peacetime economy. Of this sum, 2½ million dollars was charged against September quarter profits.

United Aircraft's sales and operating revenues for the September quarter amounted to $81,604,988, against $39,805,913 in the September quarter of 1940.

The North American company's September quarter profit was $5,009,124, or 47 cents a share, compared with $3,972,343, or 35 cents a share, in the 1940 period. SOY BEANS SOAR LIMIT AS RAINS COVER 2 STATES

Widespread rains and snow which will further delay harvesting of soy beans sent bean futures soaring yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Prices advanced the permissible limit for one day's trading of 8 cents a bushel with the close at the top. The December future finished at $1.67⅝.

Strength in beans combined with a statement by department of agriculture officials that Russia was inquiring for American cereals boosted prices of other grains. Wheat advanced 2⅝ to 3⅛ cents, with December at $1.17 and corn and oats gained 1½ cents. Rye was up 2⅞ to 3¼ cents. All grains and soy beans sold highest in about a month.

Harvesting of soy beans in Illinois and Iowa is about 15 per cent completed, according to official reports, and field work is said to average five weeks later than last year. Rain or snow blanketed a large part of the two states yesterday and reports indicate that it will take a week of dry weather in parts of the affected area before combines can resume operations. The upturn in the market was helped along by a report that refiners had purchased over 2 million pounds of soy bean oil at Decatur, Ill., and that the price of oil and bean meal had advanced.

A report from Waterloo, Ia., to James E. Bennett & Co. said that new soy beans are testing 20 to 22 per cent moisture, compared with 10 to 11 per cent several weeks ago. This, it was said, would result in the beans grading so low that they could not be delivered on board of trade futures contracts.

COMMON ELIMINATED.

What is the status of the reorganization of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad? Have any plans been made with regard to the common stock? As a holder of the common is there any way I might obtain representation in the proceedings?—M. V. C.

Answer: The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad is being operated by a trustee appointed under the bankruptcy act. A plan for reorganization prepared by the Interstate Commerce commission is now pending in the United States District court of Connecticut. The present common and preferred stocks would be wiped out if the plan is adopted.

A protective committee to represent holders of the common stock has been approved by the ICC. This committee contends the common stock has value and should be recognized in the reorganization. If you wish to authorize the committee to represent you, communicate with L. Stanley Champion, chairman, 116 Nassau street, New York City.

RUMORED SALE.

I have heard that the Wickwire Spencer Steel company is planning to sell its assets to Republic Steel. Is this correct?—T. L.

Answer: The Wickwire Spencer Steel company recently notified holders of voting trust certificates for its common stock that Republic Steel corporation had offered $7,349,062 in cash for Wickwire's assets. Republic's proposal involved liquidating the capital stock and dissolving Wickwire. Directors of the latter company told the certificate holders they would consider Republic's offer and confer with that corporation. In April this year Republic made a similar offer that Wickwire's directors rejected.

AKTIENGESELLSCHAFT.

Would you please explain the meaning of the letters "A. G." after the names of German corporations, such as "J. P. Bemberg A. G.?"—V. G. J.

Answer: The letters "A. G." are an abbreviation of "Aktiengesellschaft," or joint stock company.

BUDD CONNECTION.

Is there any connection between the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company and the Budd Wheel company?—P. L. B.

Answer: There is no corporate connection between the two companies. Certain individuals are officers of both companies, however.

FINANCE GROUP FLAYS FEDERAL CURB ON CREDIT

Citing reports from finance companies that sales of goods usually sold on the instalment plan have declined 40 to 50 per cent since government credit restrictions went into effect Sept. 1, directors of the American Finance conference yesterday urged the federal reserve board to refrain from imposing further restrictions on time sales.

The plea, in the form of a resolution, was passed at the eighth annual meeting of the association in the Palmer House. Conference officials said that reports indicated the reserve board contemplated additional restraints on instalment sales in an effort to curb inflation.

600 Representatives Attend.

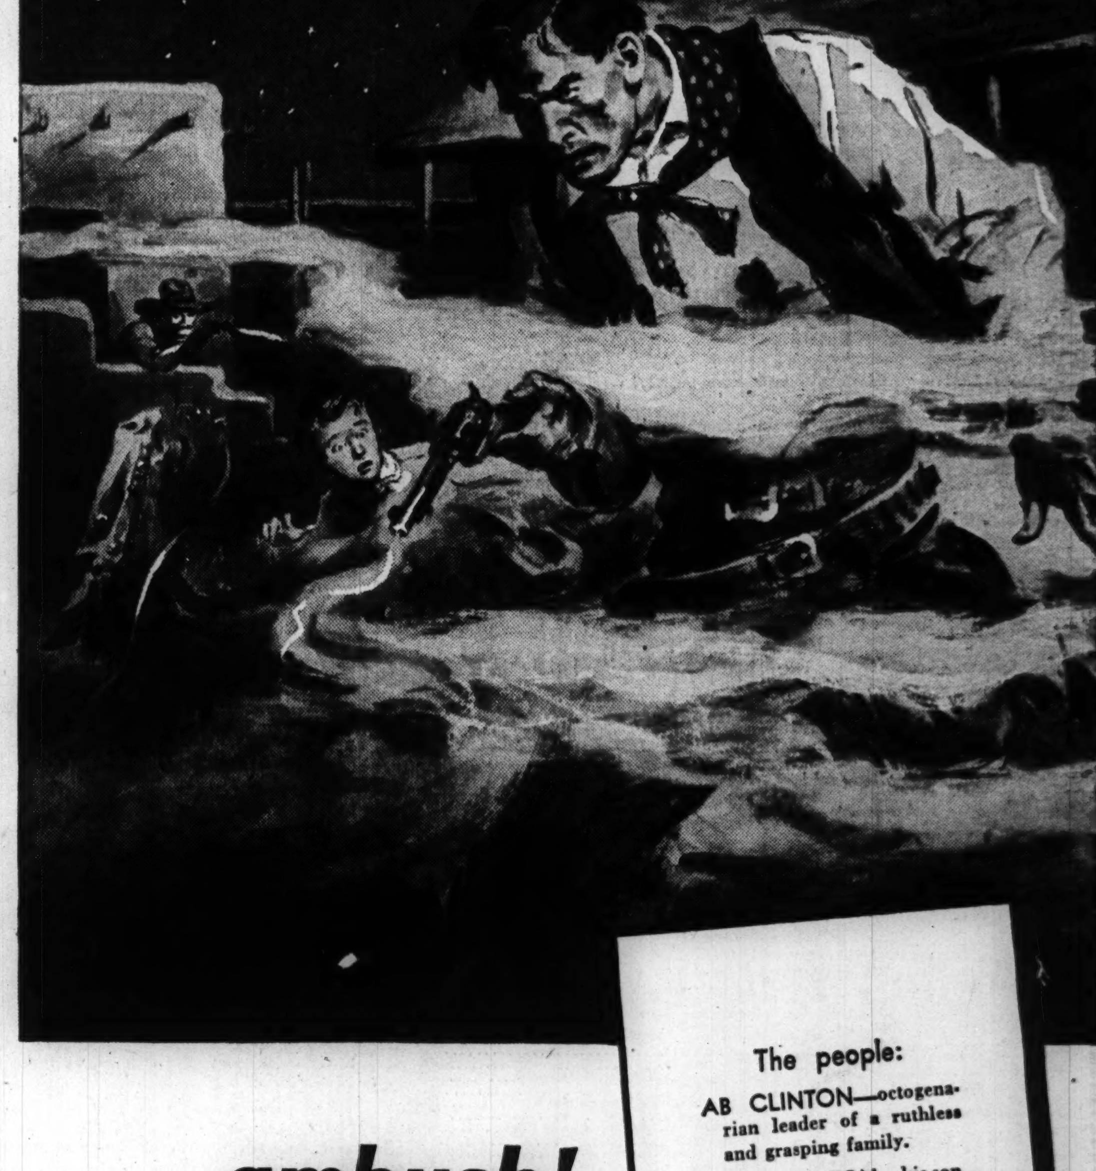
The conference, an association of 391 automobile finance companies, is holding a two day convention with more than 600 in attendance.

Directors of the group said the federal curbs are "oppressive" to people of small means. The resolution held that the restrictions "tend to favor well-to-do cash buyers and to prevent persons in the lower income groups largely employed in defense industries from acquiring automobiles needed for transportation to and from their jobs."

[Under current reserve board rules on instalment sales of automobiles the purchaser must pay 33⅓ per cent down and the balance in 18 months.]

Defer Sales, He Urges.

L. Clare Cargile, president of the National Automobile Dealers' association, told the conference that it might be wise for most automobile dealers to defer sales of new cars until after the turn of the year because of large income tax liabilities incurred as a result of this year's vastly increased sales.



. . . ambush!

As a small boy, Jack Waugh rode into Santa Rita with his father. In the shadows of Longhorn Corral, he saw his father ambushed, robbed and murdered. The memory of that terrible night stayed with him. Twenty years later, Jack returned to Santa Rita to avenge his father's death and to bring to justice the murderous crew now rich, smug and powerful. Justice Deferred is the story of his adventures, a story of riding, fighting, shooting danger, daring escapades, love. EXTRA DIVIDENDS VOTED BY FIRMS IN MANY FIELDS

Continental Assurance to Pay Additional 50c.

Extra dividends or increased payments were announced yesterday by corporations in many fields of business.

The Continental Assurance company and its affiliate, Continental Casualty company, both of Chicago, declared extra dividends in addition to the regular quarterly payments. Continental Assurance authorized a 50 cent extra dividend, the first extra to be distributed by the company. The casualty company announced an extra of 30 cents. Both companies reported substantial gains in new business.

The Storkline Furniture corporation, Chicago, authorized an extra dividend of 12½ cents.

The Locomotive Firebox company, Chicago, announced a 50 cent payment, the first since December, 1940.

Payment Increased.

Timken Roller Bearing company, Canton, O., declared a dividend of $1.50, compared with 75 cents paid in August. An extra payment of 50 cents was authorized by the International Shoe company, St. Louis.

The W. A. Sheaffer Pen company declared an extra dividend of 50 cents.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company continued its dividends of $1 on the common and preferred shares. A. W. Robertson, chairman, reported that of 534,426 common shares offered Oct. 15 to stockholders, 506,223 shares had been subscribed and the remainder purchased by underwriters. He estimated company receipts from the transaction at $36,658,833.

Robertson said the company plans to sell 20 million dollars in debentures soon for funds to help liquidate 21 millions of loans.

Corporation Pays $20.85.

Coca-Cola International corporation declared a year-end dividend of $20.85, bringing 1941 payments to $37.90, against $38.40 last year. The Murray Corporation of America announced a 50 cent dividend, compared with 30 cents paid in November, 1940.

Holophane company, New York, maker of prismatic glass, authorized a 50 cent dividend, compared with 40 cents paid in October.

Bath Iron Works, producing destroyers for the United States navy, authorized a 50 cent dividend, compared with 25 cents paid in each of the three preceding quarters.

TAX COLLECTIONS SHOW SALES GAIN FOR SEPTEMBER

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 5 (AP).—State sales tax collections indicated that retail buying during September was 35 per cent higher than during the same month last year, Finance Director George B. McKibbin said today.

He attributed the increased sales to heavy buying in advance of the federal tax that became effective on many commodities Oct. 1 and to armament spending.

The two per cent sales tax collections in October, which reflected sales made in September, totaled $7,629,882, compared with $7,849,172 collected in October, 1940, when the sales tax was levied at the rate of three per cent.

WARD AND SEARS REPORT SALES AT NEW HIGH LEVELS

Set Records for Nine Months, October.

Montgomery Ward & Co. and Sears, Roebuck & Co. reported yesterday that their sales both for October and for the first nine months of their current fiscal years set new company records. Sears officials said the October total of $96,255,634 was the largest for any month in the company's history, exceeding the previous record set last December by $380,000.

Montgomery Ward sales in October totaled $68,138,051, showing a 19.6 per cent increase over the $56,937,141 total reported for the same month in 1940. Nine months' sales aggregated $483,811,149, or 25 per cent more than the $387,050,748 for the same period last year.

Year to Year Gain a Record.

The Sears gain over October, 1940, sales of $76,919,573, at 25.1 per cent, was described by Thomas J. Carney, president, as the largest percentage gain over the preceding year for any October on record.

The company reported a 31.7 per cent gain in sales for the nine months to $698,053,110, compared with sales of $530,139,367 in the same period of 1940.

W. T. Grant company, variety store chain, reported October sales volume at $11,862,516 compared with $10,168,896 in the corresponding 1940 period, an increase of 16.6 per cent. Sales for the first 10 months of 1941 were up 15.1 per cent, aggregating $92,535,152 against $80,392,358 last year.

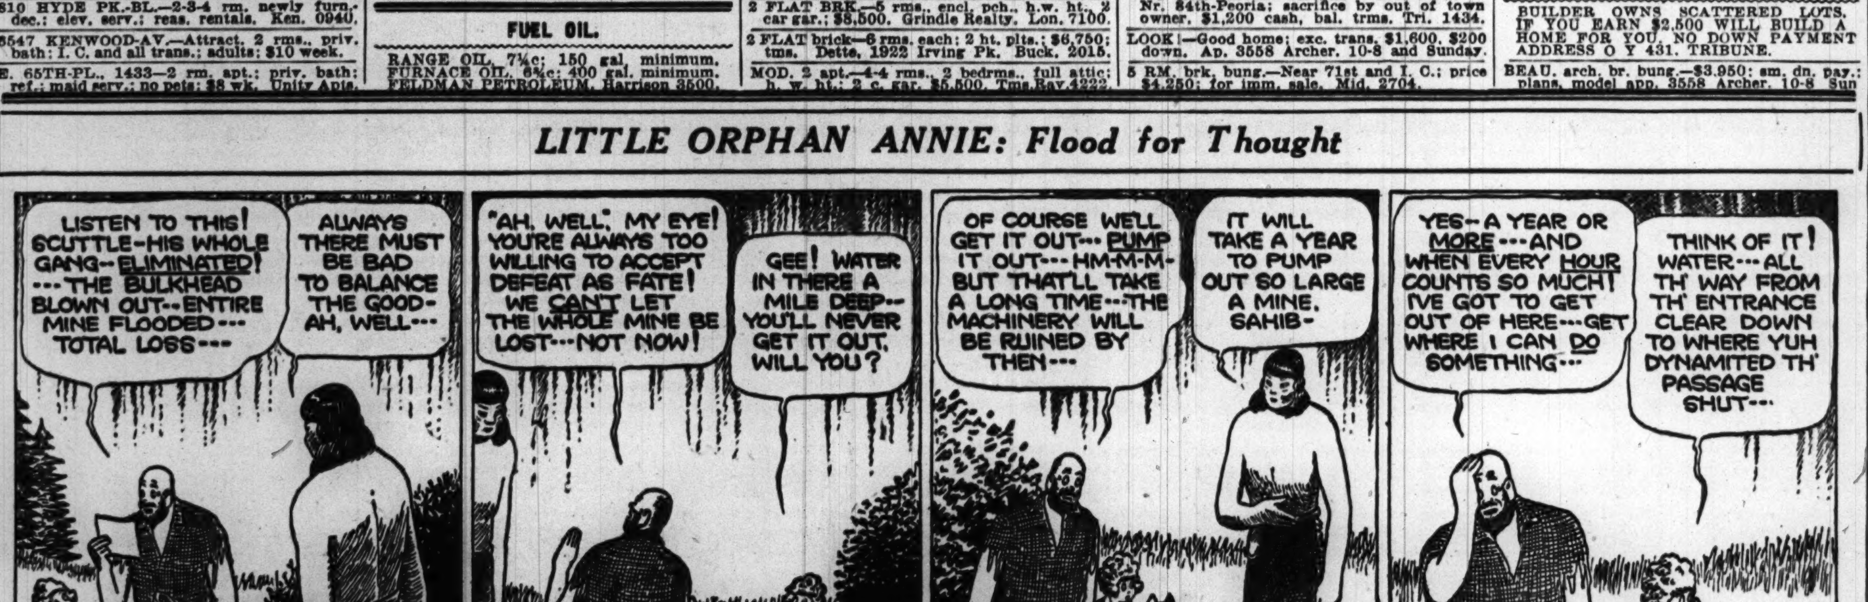
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Flood for Thought



LISTEN TO THIS! SCUTTLE—HIS WHOLE GANG—ELIMINATED! —THE BULKHEAD BLOWN OUT—ENTIRE MINE FLOODED—TOTAL LOSS—
ALWAYS THERE MUST BE BAD TO BALANCE THE GOOD—AH, WELL—
"AH, WELL," MY EYE! YOU'RE ALWAYS TOO WILLING TO ACCEPT DEFEAT AS FATE! WE CAN'T LET THE WHOLE MINE BE LOST—NOT NOW!
GEE! WATER IN THERE A MILE DEEP—YOU'LL NEVER GET IT OUT, WILL YOU?
OF COURSE WE'LL GET IT OUT—PUMP IT OUT—HM-M-M—BUT THAT'LL TAKE A LONG TIME—THE MACHINERY WILL BE RUINED BY THEN—
IT WILL TAKE A YEAR TO PUMP OUT SO LARGE A MINE, SAHIB—
YES—A YEAR OR MORE—AND WHEN EVERY HOUR COUNTS SO MUCH! I'VE GOT TO GET OUT OF HERE—GET WHERE I CAN DO SOMETHING—
THINK OF IT! WATER—ALL TH' WAY FROM TH' ENTRANCE CLEAR DOWN TO WHERE YUH DYNAMITED TH' PASSAGE SHUT—

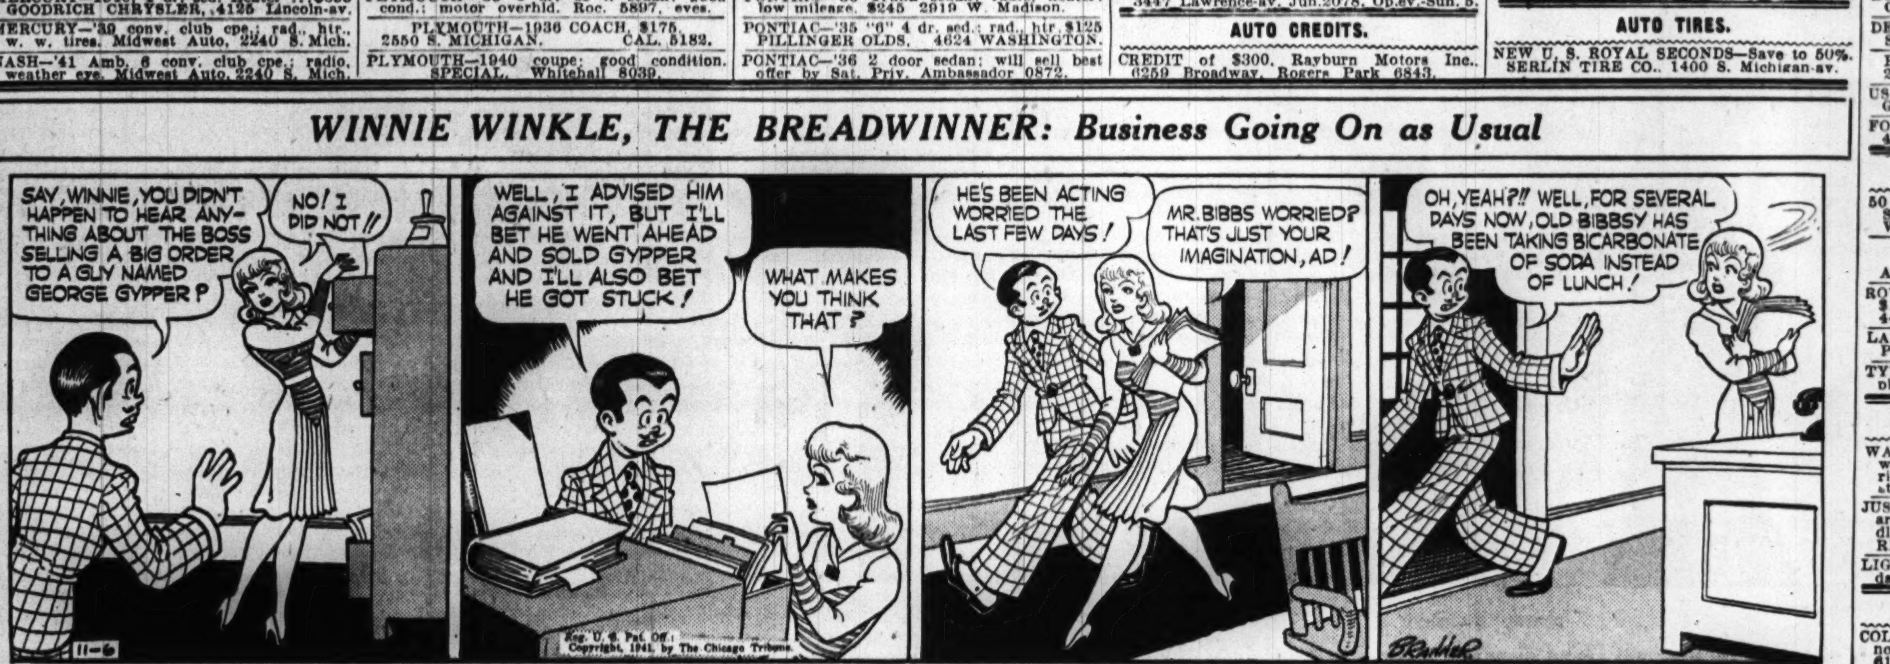
WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Business Going On as Usual



SAY, WINNIE, YOU DIDN'T HAPPEN TO HEAR ANYTHING ABOUT THE BOSS SELLING A BIG ORDER TO A GUY NAMED GEORGE GYPPER?
NO! I DID NOT!!
WELL, I ADVISED HIM AGAINST IT, BUT I'LL BET HE WENT AHEAD AND SOLD GYPPER AND I'LL ALSO BET HE GOT STUCK!
WHAT MAKES YOU THINK THAT?
HE'S BEEN ACTING WORRIED THE LAST FEW DAYS!
MR. BIBBS WORRIED? THAT'S JUST YOUR IMAGINATION, AD!
OH, YEAH?!! WELL, FOR SEVERAL DAYS NOW, OLD BIBBSY HAS BEEN TAKING BICARBONATE OF SODA INSTEAD OF LUNCH!
